HIS NEXT MESSAGE A RECORD-BREAKER.

The President Will Make it Shortest Sent to a Regular Session.

One of Its Interesting Features Will be a Recommendation to Congress to Restrict Immigration of Hosts of Cheap Labor—Clarion Note on Panama Canal Theme. Needs of the Territories Will be Considered.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The President's message this year will be the shortest ever sent to a regular session of Congress. One of the interesting subjects of which the message will treat will be that of restricting immigration. It is known only now that he will recommend that Congress give this subject serious consideration, to the end of formulating legislation that will not prevent desirable emigrants from finding homes in this country, but which, at the same time, will keep out hosts of cheap labor which are threatening the industrial interests of American workmen.

The President will ring a clarion note on the Panama Canal project. He will make no apology for the exercise of a bold and progressive policy on the part of this government in seeking to acquire canal rights, and will take the high ground that in this instance, as in others, the United States occupies a position of "trustee of all the world," and that it is doing and will continue to do whatever is best to fulfill that trusteeship, confident of the ratification of a new treaty between the United States and Panama. The President will take the position that what has happened had to come, and having been effected cannot be undone.

The triumph and victory of the United States in the Alaskan boundary issue will also be narrated by the President. It has been definitely decided that there will be no currency or financial legislation enacted in the coming session of Congress. It is understood that the President will not discuss at this time the curtailment of the representation of Southern States which have disfranchised negroes.

He will discuss the condition of the Indian wards of the nation and the special attention of Congress will be called to the fact that more than a million citizens of the United States are living within the confines of Indian Territory without public-school facilities, and that the children there are growing up in ignorance, superinducing crime.

The establishment of a public-school system for Indian Territory will be recommended to be maintained for the present by Congressional appointment.

While it is understood that the President will not deal with the question of Statehood for the remaining Territories, it is believed by some persons who have talked with him in the interests of Alaska that he may make certain recommendations regarding changes in the system of government now in vogue there.

The question of reducing the tariff schedules for the Philippines is one on which party leaders differ widely. It has been proposed by the bill now in congress to abolish all Philippine duties except on sugar and tobacco, which would be reduced 50 per cent of the present tariff rate. Gov. Taft and Secretary Root have urged that legislation of this nature is necessary to develop Philippine industries. The President is represented as being undecided whether it would be well to raise further tariff agitation at this time, so close upon the heels of Cuban reciprocity legislation.

BILLS AIMED AT TRUSTS.

TWO REGULATE PRICES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Another batch of bills aimed at trusts and monopolies has been introduced in the House. One of the most important, perhaps, is that by Congressman Bede of Minnesota, a Republican, to prohibit the charging by monopolies and combinations of unreasonable prices for merchandise and products which enter into interstate commerce. Such products or merchandise, it is provided, shall not be shipped from the State where manufactured into any other State or Territory to be sold, unless it shall appear that it has been sold by the producer in the State for such a price as will reimburse the manufacturer, producer, seller and shipper for the reasonable cost of producing the same, together with an average net profit not exceeding 3 per cent, annually upon the actual cash capital invested in business. The Interstate Commerce Commission is directed to make investigation and inquire into the cost of producing and marketing such merchandise or product, and shall fix the minimum price at which the merchandise shall be sold.

Another bill along the same lines has been introduced by Mr. Richardson of Tennessee, a Democrat, to place all articles or commodities manufactured or produced in the United States by trusts on the free list.

A bill to define the duties of the Attorney-General concerning combinations or monopolies has been introduced in the House also by Mr. Bede of Minnesota.

MEASUREMENTS OF CHINESE.

BBERTILLON SYSTEM IN FORCE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Immigration authorities today completed instructions to inspectors for utilizing the Bertillon system of identification at various ports of entry. Commissioner General Sargent recently purchased complete sets of Bertillon instruments and sent one to each of the ports of entry where Chinese are received.

The law requires that a photograph shall be taken of every Chinaman entering or leaving this country. Two views are taken, one showing the full face and the other the right profile. The Chinaman is also required to ink his right thumb and right middle finger and make impressions of each on a card containing his photograph. It is believed that these impressions will provide sure means of identification.

The correct height is to be obtained by placing the subject in the position of a soldier without weapons, and at "attention." The shoulders are pressed against a measuring board, the arms hanging at the sides, with the palms of the hands outward, the feet approximating a right angle and the heels touching and against the wall. The stretch of arms is also taken against a measuring board.

CONSCIENCE-FUND FLURRIES.

DUE TO RELIGIOUS REVIVALS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One of the officials of the Treasury Department in commenting on the receipt of three $50 gold bonds, marked "Conscience Fund," said: "It is rather curious how contributions to the conscience fund of the government are regulated. Periods of prosperity and adversity seem to have little effect on them. Whenever a revival period in religion is observed in any part of the country, we are sure to receive money from persons who at various times in the past have defrauded the government. The contributions to the conscience fund have been very light during the past six months, from which we might judge that the morals of the country are at a low ebb."

STILL GOING FOR WOOD.

ALL CHARGES GET HEARING.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The Senate Committee on Military Affairs resumed its investigation of the charges against Gen. Wood today. The principal witness was Maj. James E. Runcie, now an attorney at Havana, who, during the American occupation of Cuba, contributed an article to a magazine, which reflected on the administration of Maj.-Gen. Brooke as Governor-General and which Maj. Rathbone charged was inspired by Gen. Wood to promote his own advancement to the Governor-Generalship.

Other witnesses called by the committee to testify today were Maj. G. E. Ladd, U.S.A., who audited Gen. Wood's Santiago accounts; Wallis Clearman, a former employé of a New York jewelry house, who made the sale to the Jai Alai Company of the silver set which was given to Gen. Wood, and an employé of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, who explained the character of the game and the manner in which speculation is indulged in by the speculators. OIL TRUST REFUSES TO HEED QUERIES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Stadard Oil Company has refused absolutely to answer the list of perfunctory questions propounded to it by Commissioner James R. Garfield of the Bureau of Corporations in the Department of Commerce and Labor, and as a result an issue has been raised between the department and the company, which, if it goes into the courts, will determine for all time what power the department has to regulate trusts. The attitude of the company is said to have been taken deliberately for the purpose of testing the power of the department.

As part of the organization of the Department of Commerce, the commissioner has sent out a list of questions to all the so-called trusts in the country, covering their capitalization and other financial items. All trusts have replied to the commissioner save the Standard Oil Company, which has refused to answer any questions.

OPEN LANDS IN FIJI.

Gov. Jackson Persuades the Natives to Lease Their Broad Acres to White Settlers—About Four Million Acres.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SUVA (Fiji) via Honolulu Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] About four million acres of land in Fiji is to be thrown open to settlement for the use of the people of European birth or descent. Sir Henry Jackson, Governor of the colony, has persuaded the native Fijians through their chiefs, to turn over to the government all their lands not needed for their own use and occupation, that the government may lease it for long terms to white settlers, the rentals to go to natives who own the land.

It has been the policy of the British government since the Fiji Islands became a British crown colony not to allow alienation of the lands owned by natives, owing to the general improvidence of the natives and their lack of business experience and prudence.

TROOPS TO ATTACK MORRIGEAU'S COWBOYS.

MAJ. TORREY LEADS A BATTALION FROM FORT MISSOULA.

Cattlemen Refuse to Pay Grazing Tax and Engage a Band of Nez Perces to Assist Them Against the Troops. The Latter Near the Camp of the Stockmen—Battle Expected Today.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BUTTE (Mont.) Nov. 27.—A Missoula, Mont., dispatch says that Maj. Torrey with a battalion from Fort Missoula, including Capt. Maxey and Assistant Surgeon Herrick of the Twenty-fourth Infantry, U.S.A., are now in the heart of the Flathead Indian reservation and a brush with Morrigeau's cowboys is expected before nightfall. The troops rode at double quick all night, as the situation on the reservation is believed to be critical.

Joe Morrigeau's men number nearly fifty. They are all Indian cowboys and crack shots, well mounted and well armed. As they have defied the Indian police for weeks and repeatedly insulted Maj. Smead, the reservation agent, it is considered unlikely that they will surrender without a fight.

Maj. Torrey, before leaving here yesterday, said, that he would avoid trouble if possible, but that he will bring in Morrigeau and his men, dead or alive.

The trouble arose from the refusal of Morrigeau to pay the grazing tax on the head of stock which he has had grazing on the reservation.

INDIANS MIXING IT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MISSOULA, Nov. 27.—A special to the Missoulan from Plains, Mont., says that the troops arrived at 3:30 o'clock this morning, and an hour later were loaded into wagons and started on the forty-mile drive to the Little Bitter Root. Three hours later, government officers came in by another trail and reported that Morrigeau was still on the reservation, and defiant. They state that the Indian police positively refuse to attempt to eject the cattlemen, owing to their fear of the Nez Perces.

The Nez Perces are a band of about one hundred, under Chief Carries-Water, and have been located in isolated sections of the Flathead reservation for the past year. They refuse to recognise the Federal officers or the Indian police, and have stayed off the Flatheads for months. Morrigeau has engaged the band to assist him, and unless Maj. Torrey and his soldiers get hold of the cattle before the Nez Perces are brought up trouble is bound to occur.

The troops sent out from Fort Missoula are all veterans and picked fighters, and are expected to easily outclass twice their number of Nez Perces.

A courier arrived at Plains at 7 o'clock this afternoon to report that the troops were within two hours' march of the Morrigeau camp, and had halted for the night.

MINISTER ALLEGED NIHILIST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The village of Ingleside, L. I., has been split into two factions over charges that have been brought against Rev. J. J. Rathke, pastor of the German Lutheran Church there, in an effort to force him to resign his pastorate. A committee of four trustees charges the clergyman with being a Nihilist and having asserted at one time: "I am glad that President McKinley was shot and hope that President Roosevelt will meet the same fate."

Rev. Mr. Rathke denies the charges and declares that the trustee who is most active in pressing them does not attend church.

MGR. QUIGLEY DEAD.

Was Private Secretary to Bishop Who Sought to Obtain Pope's Recognition of Confederacy.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHARLESTON (S. C.) Nov. 27.—Mgr. Quigley, Vicar General of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Charleston, died today aged 68 years. He accompanied Bishop Lynch of South Carolina as private secretary on his mission to Rome as representative of the Confederate States in 1864. Mgr. Quigley's private papers contain valuable unpublished documents showing the scope of the negotiations of conferences between Bishop Lynch and the Papal Nuncio at Paris relative to the proposed, but never consummated, recognition of the Confederate States by Pope Pius IX.

Capture of Chicago Car Barn Thugs.

Hunt Becomes so Hot that Two Bandits Give Up—Third is Found Later.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following a desperate battle with the Chicago police in the sand dunes and brush around Clark and Liverpool, Ind., Harvey Vandine, Peter Niedermeier and Emil Roeski, three as daring and bloodthirsty young bandits as ever terrorized the western plains, were captured today and brought to Chicago to await trial for half a dozen murders which they boast of having committed in the last few months in this city.

With a clew furnished late last night, detectives left here early this morning and located the desperadoes in a dugout near Clark, Ind. When the officers bore down on the snow-thatched place at dawn and commanded the inmates to surrender, a pitched battle ensued, in which Officers Driscoll and Zimmer were shot, the former probably fatally.

While the police were caring for their wounded companions, the bandits escaped to the woods. They brought up finally at the Pennsylvania tracks near East Tolleston, Ind. Pursued, and knowing they would be shot to death if opportunity presented, the trio held up an engine, shot and killed the brakeman, L. J. Soven, and compelled the engineer to pull up the track at a stiff gait. When the fugitives left the engine, they again broke for the woods. This time gravel-pit workers and special officers followed, and finally overtook the men.

Niedermeier, on the right, was given a full charge of buckshot from a shotgun. His face bleeding and his body staggering under his wounds, he appealed to his companion, Vandine, to surrender with him, so that they might be taken home to see their mothers before they should pay for their crimes with their lives. Vandine assented, and the two threw down their weapons and gave themselves up. Bound hand and foot, they were brought to Chicago tonight.

Roski, who had been separated from his pals, was captured a few miles farther down the country. He was found resting from his tiresome flight, and made no resistance.

The men, according to the confession of one of their pals, committed the sensational street-car barn murder and robbery here a few months ago, as well as other mysterious crimes.

PURSUIT AND FIGHT.

THEN FULL CONFESSIONS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Chained wrist to wrist, their hair matted with dried blood, the clothing covered with dust and dirt, two beardless boys, Peter Neidermeier and Harvey Vandine, sat tonight in the presence of Mayor Harrison and Chief of Police O'Neil, calmly confessing their share in a three months' record of crime, which has included eight murders, the wounding of five other men, and a long series of robberies. The two young men bandits, neither of whom is over 21 years of age, together with their companion, Emil Roeski, who is no older, were captured near Liverpool, Ind., today, after a fight in which they battled against policemen, railroad detectives, railroad laborers and farmers. One man was killed, another fatally wounded, and all three of the young bandits were wounded, but not seriously.

The dead:

T. J. SOVEA, brakeman on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Wounded:

JOSEPH DRISCOLL, detective, on Chicago police force, shot through abdomen and can live but a short time.

MATTHEW ZIMMER, detective on police force, shot in head and arm.

NEIDERMEIER, wounded in the hand by bird shot.

ROESKI, shot in the right hip.

The three men were wanted by the police for complicity in the murders at the car barns of the Chicago City Railway Company, August 20, when two men were killed, a third badly wounded and $2250 stolen from the company.

Gustav Marx, who last Saturday night murdered Officer John Quinn when the policeman endeavored to place him under arrest, confessed that he, in company with these three men, had committed the crimes at the car barns. The hunt for Vandine, Niedermeier and Roeski has been hot ever since. Although they knew that the entire police force was looking for them, these three men remained in the city until Wednesday morning. Wednesday they left Chicago, going to a dugout made by railroad laborers near the tracks of the Michigan Central road near Millers, Ind. Last night they spent in another dugout near Miller's station, and there they were surprised by the Chicago policemen this morning. As soon as they were in sight of the place, the policemen advanced in a circle upon the dugout, where the three robbers were supposed to be concealed. Driscoll picked up a chunk of wood and hurled it at the dugout. Instantly there was a flash, a report, and Driscoll fell, shot through the abdomen.

The policemen opened fire on the dugout, from which shots were now coming thick and fast. While the fire was at its hottest, Vandine and Roeski rushed out, followed a few minutes later by Nielermeier. The latter ran to the tracks of the Michigan Central Railroad, and throwing himself flat on the roadbed steadied his arm on the rail as he kept up a rapid fire with three revolvers. Roeski ran for the brush, but Vandine retreated slowly, although the air around him was filled with bullets and the snow at his feet was kicked up by them. Catching sight of Detective Zimmer, who was behind a tree, he fired. Zimmer went down with a bullet in the head. As he fell, Vandine fired again, and the second bullet went through Zimmer's arm.

Roeski had by this time disappeared, and Vandine and Niedermeyer, placing their revolvers in their pockets, made a run for freedom. The detectives fired constantly, but the bandits escaped. After running about a mile across the country they came to the tracks of the Pennsylvania road. A switch engine with a train of cars was close at hand, and hurrying to it the men ordered Brakeman Sovea to uncouple the train from the locomotive. He refused and attempted to take Nielermeier's revolver from him. The latter instantly sent a bullet through the brakeman's brain, laying him dead in the snow. Springing past Sovea's body the bandits mounted the locomotive with revolvers in hand and ordered the engineer to move out in a hurry, which he did, going in the direction of La Porte, Ind. After two miles had been covered the men ordered the engineer to slow up, and leaping to the ground disappeared in the woods.

FARMERS JOIN IN HUNT.

The news of the fight at the dugout had spread with great rapidity through the country and by the time the two panting men rushed up to the locomotive a hundred farmers and railroad laborers were after them. These were left behind with the Chicago detectives, although one farmer, armed with a shotgun, got in his work as the train started away. Catching sight of Vandine as he poked his face through the cab window, he turned loose with both barrels. A number of shot struck Vandine in the head and face through the cab window, and one hit him in the throat, causing him trouble. When they left the train both men were exhausted and unable to travel. The country at that place is rough, sandy and cut up by gravel pits.

The farmers, railroad laborers and officers of the Pennsylvania Railroad were coming up fast, and soon were close on the fugitives' heels, tracking them in the newly-fallen snow. The men were seen as they dodged about in the sand, and the farmers, most of whom were armed with double-barreled shotguns, opened fire on them. Niedermeier received a charge full in the head, and the blood streamed down his face and into his eyes, blinding him so that he could hardly rise. A shot grazed Vandine's head, carrying off some of his hair and his wounded leg was weakened. The posse was closing in on all sides, and the murderers surrendered. The men were at once handcuffed, placed upon a train and hurried to Chicago. They were taken from the train, and in a patrol wagon were hurried to the City Hall. They were taken into the office of Chief of Police O'Neill, and there, in the presence of Mayor Harrison and a throng of officers, they discussed the events of the day as calmly as though it had been nothing unusual for them.

CAPTURE OF ROESKI.

Following fresh footprints in the snow from the scene of the capture of Niedermeier and Vandine, five residents of East Tolleston, Ind., captured Emil Roeski, sitting on a bench in the Wabash station at Etna, Ind., a town four miles northeast of Liverpool, Ind. He was unarmed.

OTTO BAUDER, murdered during a saloon hold-up July 9.

FRANCIS W. STEWART, shot down without warning.

T. J. SOVEA, brakeman, killed today.

Wounded:

HENRY BIEHL, clerk, injured in robbery of car barns August 30.

MATTHEW ZIMMER, detective, wounded in fight today.

These crimes netted the highwaymen $3546. Lately they had planned to hold up railroad trains in Chicago, and had made a trip to Cripple Creek, Colo., to obtain dynamite for use in the holdups.

RELEASED ON PAROLE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rev. William E. Hinshaw was released on parole today from Northern prison, where he has been serving a life sentence for the murder of his wife. This is probably the closing chapter in one of the most sensational domestic tragedies that ever occurred in Indiana.

In 1895, Hinshaw was pastor of a Methodist Church at Belleville. The night of January 15 people were startled by the cry of "Murder!" and when they reached the parsonage they found Hinshaw in the yard, bleeding from a bullet wound in the side and a number of knife cuts. His wife, Thursa, was lying in the kitchen doorway with a bullet in her brain. The pastor said that robbers shot her. Next day the minister's revolver and razor were found in the yard. These facts excited suspicion.

The grand jury took the matter up, and Hinshaw was indicted. Protests from church people followed, but the conviction of his guilt grew daily, and many of his best friends deserted him. Though the law gave Hinshaw the privilege of testifying in his own behalf, he did not go on the stand, and this was construed into a confession of guilt. After the sentence his friends began to work for his release.

Governors Matthews and Mount were appealed to for pardon, and both refused to grant it. Many still believe in Hinshaw's innocence.

No Violence Attempted—Incident Occurs at Funeral of James King Gracie.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—President Roosevelt arrived here this morning to attend the funeral of James King Gracie, whose late wife was a sister of the President's mother. The President was accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt, Dr. J. B. Stokes, his personal physician, and Capt. Cowles of the navy. Commissioner Greene had a force of police to meet the President, and a mounted detail escorted his carriage from the Twenty-third-street ferry to the home of his sister, Mrs. Douglas Robinson, on Madison avenue.

After breakfasting at the Robinson home, the President went to the late residence of Mr. Gracie, in East Forty-eighth street, remaining there until time to go to the Church of the Holy Communion for the funeral service. At the head of the cortege were carriages containing the pallbearers. Then came a carriage containing the President and Mrs. Roosevelt. With them in the carriage was a Central Office detective sergeant, and a Secret Service man rode on the box with the driver. The hearse followed with carriages containing the other mourners. The police arrangements for the protection of the President and the restraint of the large crowd were very efficient, more than three hundred patrolmen being on duty about the block on which the church is located.

The funeral service was conducted by Bishop Potter, Rev. Dr. Mottett, Rev. B. F. Taylor, Rev. Howard K. Barlow and Rev. Henry H. Washburn of Oyster Bay. Among the floral offerings was a cluster of oranges and orchids sent by the President.

The President with Mrs. Roosevelt alighted at the main entrance, and went quickly into the house. There was little excitement, the occasion barring any demonstration. The crowd by the time the cortege reached the church was so dense that ingress or egress on the avenue was practically impossible.

Just prior to the arrival of the cortege a police inspector noticed a man standing on the structure leaning over the rail railing directly over the entrance to the church. The man was ordered away after he had returned an insolent answer to the inspector's question, and departed. While the man was presumably a curiosity seeker who had merely wished to get a vantage point to see the President, the crowd, impressed by the elaborate police protection, looked upon the incident as a possible plot against the President.

CRANK IS ARRESTED.

Just as the services were concluded a man who attempted to force his way to the President and hand him a letter was arrested. He gave his name as Arthur P. Deming, 65 years old, of Jersey City. He said he was born in the United States, and was a manufacturer of medicine to cure every disease. When the President left the seat to leave the church he departed by a side entrance, leading to Twentieth street. Deming had in some way been allowed to gain access to a small ante-room, and in that manner was directly in the President's pathway. Deming said later:

"I handed the President the letter and said, 'Please read this on your way out.'"

When Deming held out the letter the President took it and handed it to a Secret Service man. Deming was then pushed back and placed under arrest. He said that he was A. B. Deming of 150 Broadway, and that he had a cure for cancer which he wished Emperor William to try. He wanted President Roosevelt to write a letter to the Emperor recommending the cure. The President was unruffled by the incident. With Mrs. Roosevelt, he entered his carriage immediately and was driven to the Twenty-third-street ferry to take the train for Washington. Deming was taken to the Tombs Police Court. Before being arraigned he said:

"I don't know why the President did not keep my letter instead of handing it over to a policeman. It is a charcoal cancer cure that cannot fail. I wanted President Roosevelt to write to Emperor William recommending it to him."

ONCE ADDRESSED THE HOUSE.

It is said that Deming is the man who on May 19, 1900, appeared at the House of Representatives in Washington and startled the House by suddenly shouting from the gallery: "Halt, order by the grace of the Lord, listen," and then, having received the desired attention, proceeded to make a speech to that branch of the United State Congress. Three or four policemen finally hustled him away and escorted him outside the building. It is also said that last April he appeared at the White Star Line pier as J. P. Morgan, Andrew Carnegie and others were sailing on the Cedric, and preached a sermon to them.

Deming was later committed to Bellevue Hospital for examination as to his sanity. He told the magistrate a rambling story in which he said that he was in the clothing business in Oakland, Cal., for twelve years, but that for the last twenty-one years he had been in New York and vicinity. He said he had met every President from Grant to McKinley.

The officials at the detective bureau said the man appeared to be perfectly harmless and rational on every subject except that of his remedy. Nothing was found on him to injure anyone.

Deming told the officers that he depended on God to guide him in his business affairs.

At No. 150 Broadway it was said that Deming had a desk there and that he had always appeared to be perfectly rational upon all subjects except his panacea.

NEGLECT OF DUTY CHARGED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—After completing an investigation into the manner in which Deming gained entrance into the church and reached the side of the President Police Commissioner Greene announced tonight that he was not satisfied with the explanation made by the police who were in charge at the church and that he would place Capt. Cottrell on trial on charges of failing to make proper arrangements. Three detectives and two policemen who were on guard at the church will also be placed on trial.

KNOWN IN SAN FRANCISCO.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Arthur P. Deming, who was arrested in New York today, while trying to hand a letter to the President, is well known in this city and is regarded here as harmless. Several years ago he was a familiar figure on the streets, where he sold powdered charcoal as a remedy for indigestion. Occasionally in a crowd he would attract attention by shouting, "Prepare to meet thy God," and once was taken into custody for disturbing a meeting in this manner.

THE ORIENT.

LOOKING TO RUSSIA.

Leading Japanese Papers Urging the Government to Press for an Answer Regarding Korea—The Czar's Sphere of Influence.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TOKIO, Nov. 27.—[By Atlantic Cable.] There has been no alteration in the relations of Japan and Russia concerning the Far Eastern situation. Leading organs urge the government to press Russia for an answer to its demands regarding Korea.

There are indications that should the answer of the Russian government be much longer delayed, it will be difficult to repress the impatience of the army and navy. In circles supposed to be well-informed, it is believed the Russian answer will reach Tokio before December 3, the date of the assembling of the Diet.

causes much nervousness and some anxiety. The Russian view is that no reason exists why the United States should not become involved in a quarrel at the instigation of Russia's enemies, when her interests, comparatively insignificant, are not yet invaded. It is pointed out that last winter and spring the United States was aroused by the persistent declaration in the British and Japanese press that Japan would never permit China to sign a commercial treaty, yet it was signed on the date fixed.

The sudden flash of anger in China over the Russian reoccupation of Mukden, because it is the old burial place of the ancestors of the present dynasty, is not considered grave, as China's impotency is recognized. Nevertheless, all steps will be taken to avoid a rupture, as China's friendship is needed for the present. Despite the conviction here that the crisis has passed for the winter, Russia is taking nothing for granted. Three-quarters of her fleet are massed in or contiguous to the Pacific. Nothing practically is left on the Atlantic side.

Travelers who have just returned from Port Arthur report that the trains from the eastward are still filled with troops and war munitions. It is estimated that Russia now has more than 150,000 troops east of Baikal prepared for eventualities.

A telegram from Port Arthur says Yun Shi Kai, the Governor of Chi-li province, is expected in the province of Mukden at the end of November to negotiate with the Russians.

RUSSIA'S DOMINANT SPIRIT.

THINGS GOING HER WAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 27.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The prolongation of the Russo-Japanese negotiations at Tokio, which have been delayed by Viceroy Alexieff's return to St. Petersburg, is due to the inability to reach an understanding regarding Korea. Tentative terms on the subject of Manchuria have been settled. Japan recognizes Russia's dominant interest, and agrees not to place obstacles in the way of the solution of the problem. While still maintaining the ultimate recognition of her treaty rights, open ports and the integrity of Chinese sovereignty, Japan is content to leave these questions in abeyance, so as not to embarrass Russia. In return, Japan insists on the recognition of her influence in Korea and the opening of Yongampho or other ports to foreign trade. Russia is willing to concede something, but she opposes the opening of Yongampho on the ground of its proximity to the mouth of the Yalu River, and that it will threaten her interests and complicate her difficulties in Manchuria.

Russia is doing everything possible to bring the negotiations to a conclusion. Viceroy Alexieff has the Czar's orders to this effect. Russia believes it wise to press matters while Japan is in a pacific mood, which is attributed to foreign counsel. The chief fear expressed here is that the morale of the United States' "continuous pressure in connection with the open-door policy will lead Japan to rashness."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SALT LAKE, Nov. 27.—After a conference between Gov. Wells and Messrs. Evans and Kelliher, National Organizers of the United Mine Workers of America, the Governor and Col. E. F. Holmes, president of the Commercial Club, began efforts to bring about a conference between the officials of the Utah Fuel Company and their striking miners in Carbon county. Kelliher and Evans come as the personal representatives of John Mitchell and in their talk with the Governor brought out a new phase of the strike situation.

They maintain that recognition of the union is a subordinate issue and that 20 per cent. increase in wages is the principal issue at stake. They also declared that the Utah miners are striking because of grievances of their own and they will go back to work when these are rectified, regardless of what the Colorado miners may do.

General Belief that Strike in Northern Colorado Fields Will Soon be Settled—Fourteen Union Miners Arrested—President Miller Released from Custody.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) Nov. 27.—Although there are no new developments, the feeling is general that the strike in the northern coal fields will be settled in a few days. The men are said to be disgruntled over their action in rejecting the proposition of the operators, and are clamoring for another vote. President William Howells of district No. 15 has telephoned Manager G. N. Sparing of the Great Western Coal Company that he will no longer oppose a settlement of the difficulties in the north, and it is believed that a vote which will settle the strike there will be taken in a few days.

MANY ARRESTS MADE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TELLURIDE (Colo.) Nov. 27.—Fourteen union miners, including President Guy E. Miller and Secretary Oscar M. Carpenter, charged with conspiracy, have been arrested by Sheriff Rutan since the troops arrived in this district. President Miller was seized while talking to the other men imprisoned in the jail. No warrant had been sworn out for him. Former Atty.-Gen. Eugene Engley appeared as counsel for the union men, who were arraigned today before Justice of the Peace Robinson for preliminary examination.

"In arresting President Miller," said Mr. Engley, "I think that the Sheriff overstepped the bounds of his authority. He had no warrant and President Miller's action in talking through the bars to men imprisoned in the jail constituted no offense. As to the other arrests, warrants had been sworn out, and the Sheriff was merely performing his duty. The cases against these men amount to nothing, and I am convinced that they will be released."

Sheriff Rutan today released President Miller from custody. The Sheriff said Miller was locked up on account of his persistent efforts to see the union men in jail. Miller expressed the opinion that the purpose of arresting him was to intimidate him. Justice Robinson today postponed the preliminary examination of the other union men against whom warrants were issued.

MITCHELL TO COLORADO.

NATIONAL ORGANIZERS TO MEET.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TRINIDAD (Colo.) Nov. 27.—John F. Ream, member of the National Board of the United Mine Workers of America, this afternoon received the following telegram from John Mitchell:

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Nov. 27.—To John F. Ream, Trinidad, Colo: Unless prevented by ill health will leave Chicago Sunday night or Monday morning, arriving in Trinidad Wednesday, December 2. Should I be prevented by sickness will send either Vice-President Lewis or Secretary Wilson.

[Signed] JOHN MITCHELL.

Immediately on receipt of this telegram Ream commenced making arrangements for a gathering of all national organizers, and President Howells of district No. 15 was instructed to have all district organizers present for a conference with John Mitchell in this city Wednesday afternoon and night. Ream refused to discuss the probable outcome of Mitchell's visit here.

ALLEGED INCRIMINATING PAPERS.

MAY IMPLICATE HAYWOOD.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DENVER (Colo.) Nov. 27.—Gen. Bell said today that documents that are alleged to implicate W. D. Haywood, secretary of The Western Federation of Miners, in a conspiracy against several mines in the Cripple Creek and Telluride districts, were found in possession of one of the union miners arrested by the civil officers at Telluride, and copies of them were mailed yesterday by the Sheriff to the State authorities here.

Secretary Haywood this afternoon offered to give to the authorities copies of all the letters addressed by him to Telluride union officials or other members of the union.

"... will let the public judge if there is anything incriminating in any of them," he said.

"Liberty Dawners" Win.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The strike of the Liberty Dawn Association of Cabmen for a decrease in the number of working hours ended tonight in a victory for the strikers. The stablekeepers conceded ten hours off duty at the end of each day's work, a wage scale of $3 per day, a night off every two weeks, and every other Sunday off.

HARRIMAN PLEASED WITH IMPROVEMENTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO (Nev.) Nov. 27.—President Harriman's special train reached Reno at 4 o'clock this afternoon from the East. The trip from Ogden was one of inspection of the numerous stretches of reconstruction work which has been in progress for the past year and a half. Between Ogden and Reno thirteen complete circles have been eliminated, and the grade has been brought to a uniformity whereby only two helping crews are required for the entire distance. From an observation car in the rear, where Harriman and his associates were seated yesterday afternoon and today, Chief Engineer Hood of the Southern Pacific pointed out the more extensive improvements, explaining their significance. One stretch of track, ten miles in length, extending from Brown, Nev., westward, received its initiation in the passage over it of Harriman's train. A stop of nearly an hour was made at East Reno for the inspection of the extensive terminal improvements being made there.

From Reno the members of the party who have accompanied Harriman on his western trip returned home. President Harriman will go to Southern California.

Before starting west, Harriman expressed extreme satisfaction with the completion of the extensive improvements between Ogden and Reno. He said: "There will be additional small stretches of track that will be straightened and curves reduced from time to time, but the greater part of the work is complete.

"The tunneling of the Sierras is a project that has been seriously considered, but when the work will begin, if at all, is indefinite. Several routes have been suggested, but none has been decided on. The tunnels along the proposed line are numerous, one of them being five miles in length. Forty miles of snowsheds now in use would be practically abandoned."

FAST FREIGHT ROUTE.

BEING PLANNED BY HILL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Evidence is accumulating that President J. J. Hill is planning a fast freight route between St. Paul and Denver, and promises to become a factor in the freight situation west of the Missouri River. The fact that the Burlington will build a connecting line from Ashland, Neb., to Sioux City is officially confirmed. An extension will run almost due south from Sioux City and will complete as direct a route into Denver as any now existing.

President Hill, it is said, has vetoed the project to build a line along the Missouri River between Sioux City and Omaha, using the old surveys of the Omaha Northern.

The company wanted the franchises for fifty years, but the trustees declined to grant the same for such a length of time.

YANKEE AND BRITON IN NAVAL CONTEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The Herald's London correspondent cables:

"Shortly after reading the leader in the Paris Herald, suggesting combined maneuvers between the British and American fleets in West Indian waters, I chanced to meet Archibald S. Hurd, author of 'Naval Efficiency and War Readiness of the Fleet,' and a well-known contributor on naval subjects to leading English reviews. Mr. Hurd thought the proposal an excellent one.

"'If the suggested maneuvers could be arranged between British and American naval authorities,' he said, 'it is certain they would arouse the widest possible interest on this side of the Atlantic, and their progress would be watched with an amount of excitement which would even exceed that which was evinced in Sir Thomas Lipton's first attempt to 'lift the cup.'

"'Nor do I doubt the spirit in which the crews of British ships would enter the contest, for our officers and men, for our officers and men are keen sportsmen. When I speak of the men, I should say the officers and men, for the officers who join in the maneuvers will exhaust themselves in competition, whether in coaling of ship or of weighing of an anchor.'

"'What do you think would be their attitude toward a sham fight against a force of Americans?'

"'British sailors have a very sincere admiration for the navy of the United States, and I believe such joint maneuvers would be productive only of good. We on this side realize that the American fleet is certain to be a great naval force in the world in the near future, second only to that of Great Britain.'".

TRUST REGULATION TROUBLES IN GERMANY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON (D. C.) Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Consul Hugo Mensch at Plauen, Germany, writes as follows:

"The pregnant question confronting the German people is that concerning the regulation of pools and trusts. The official commission appointed some time since for the purpose of gathering evidence and recommending measures looking to such control, has been in session for a long time, and may at no distant date report results and plans.

"Syndicates and trade combinations already formed in the German empire are almost innumerable. Those of leading importance are coal cartel, iron cartel and sugar cartel. The coal trust has just been more compactly organized and its operations are not seriously complained of except by 'middlemen,' who are being rapidly eliminated.

"Of iron trusts, there are several, most of which have had a stormy time in holding their members whose prosperity is seriously threatened through their inability to further compete in the markets of the United States. Strenuous efforts are now being made by the sugar mills and refineries to arrive at some new plan of friendly cooperation."

PRISON DOORS OPEN FOR CAPT. CARTER.

FORMER ARMY DANDY ONCE MORE A FREE MAN.

Will Go to Chicago to Defend His Claim to Bonds for Which the Government is Suing — Says Spending Money Was Given to Him.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LEAVENWORTH (Kan.) Nov. 27.—At midnight tonight Oberlin M. Carter, ex-Captain of Engineers, United States Army, finished serving his term of five years in prison, serving three years and seven months in the Federal Prison at Fort Leavenworth. He will not leave the prison until tomorrow morning at 5 o'clock, and then take a Union Pacific train for Kansas City, where, it is said, he will leave for Chicago at 7:30 o'clock over the Santa Fé, wishing to reach that city and spend Sunday with his mother.

Although Carter refused, so long as he was in prison, to give out interviews, it was said yesterday that he had no immediate plans for the future beyond devoting his time to defending his claim to the bonds which the government has sued to recover from him. This suit, it is said, will come up in Chicago during the January term of the United States Court.

During the afternoon Carter sat down at a typewriter and for two hours was busily engaged in copying a statement prepared for him by his attorney, H. G. Stone of Chicago, and signed by the attorney. When he finished, he gave copies to the press representatives present. It contains about 1000 words and is mostly a review of his case.

In the first paragraph it is stated that, "It is not a rule to discuss pending laws with the newspapers, but the government has argued its case against Capt. Carter in the newspapers for so many years that even those who are inclined to be fair are almost convinced that Carter's case is hopeless, especially as they have no idea of what his side of the case really is."

Further on, in accounting for the manner in which Carter obtained his money, the statement is made that "his father-in-law, the late Robert W. Westcott, a millionaire of New York, (whom Carter first met in Savannah) gave to Carter between 1881 and 1897, when Carter was accused of wrongdoing, a considerable amount of spending money with which Carter lived much beyond his salary as Captain of Engineers. The receipts which Westcott took from Carter for those bonds are now in evidence and abundant written evidence is now in, going to prove that everything spent or had in excess of his salary came from Westcott as gifts to Carter."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OAKLAND, Nov. 27.—In a duel this evening at 6:25 o'clock between Police Officer James H. ... and a pair of suspected porch climbers the former was shot and killed, one of the suspects, who is unknown, met the same fate. Smith was shot twice, once on the left breast near the heart and once on the right side. He was taken to the hospital where he died in agony at 8:30 o'clock.

The suspects ran immediately after the shooting began and escaped in the darkness, but for one of them the run was of short duration, his lifeless body was found about two blocks distant from the scene of the shooting, he having fallen in the tracks in a vacant lot, where the discovery was accidentally made by a couple of boys. The other desperado has not been apprehended.

The scene of the tragedy was at the corner of Fourteenth and Jackson streets in a section in which there are many fine residences, and which has recently suffered from robberies by porch climbers. The officers on the several beats were under orders to arrest all suspicious-looking characters. At the corner indicated Smith met two young men walking with canes in a manner which he considered dangerously leaning. He placed both of them under arrest, whereupon one of the desperadoes opened fire, supposedly mistaking the officer with the first blow. Both fled and continued the fire, Smith bravely returned. It is believed nine shots were fired, a desperado being hit twice, on the way and back. It is not known whether the suspect who escaped was wounded or not. The dead desperado is 32 years of age.

Smith was unmarried, 34 years old and has served bravely as an officer for the past three years. He was a brother of Police Judge Smith of this city.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Nov. 27.—Alfred J. Frith, who murdered Frederick Bailey, naval storekeeper at Esquimalt June 27, by shooting him after decoying him into the naval storehouse, was hanged today. He met death with the same nerve which has characterized his attitude since the murder.

Cool and without bravado, he walked calmly up the stairs unassisted to the scaffold, stepped onto the trap, stretched his neck out and waited for the noose. When the trap was sprung he died instantly, his neck being broken by the fall.

RUN OUT OF ALASKA.

COMPLAINT MADE BY BURNS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That he was run out of Alaska by the agents of the Treadwell Mining Company, because he chose to urge prosecution of one of the company's officers on a charge of murder is the accusation made by F. Burns, a cigar manufacturer. For several years, Burns, made cigars in Douglas Island, but the animosity of the agents of the Treadwell company, he says, forced him to leave the Territory.

In May, 1902, Burns, says he was summoned to serve on the Coroner's jury to investigate the killing of J. C. Jones by J. McDonald, superintendent of the Treadwell mine. But one witness was called before the jury who testified that the killing was in self-defense, and no other person witnessed the killing, so McDonald was acquitted. Burns alleges that other persons witnessed the murder, but they were not subpoenaed.

In October, 1902, Burns was summoned to serve on the Federal grand jury at Skagway. When Burns reached Treadwell people had spirited him away, he laid the matter before the Federal authorities for investigation.

MISFORTUNE IN BUNCHES.

DR. WALL'S HARD LUCK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) Nov. 27.—While Dr. J. R. Wall's handsome residence in Prescott was in flames the doctor was en route to Juniper, where he and his family have been camping several months for the benefit of his health. He had been visiting Prescott, leaving about two hours before the fire was discovered. A messenger sent in an automobile to notify him of his loss overtook him about half way to his permanent camp, where he had made camp for the night. While cutting wood for a fire the ax slipped and cut a severe gash in his foot, severing an artery, and he was half dead from loss of blood when found. Unable to summon assistance, he had managed to bandage the wound with a silk handkerchief to stop the flow of blood. His injuries were so severe that he was unable to be brought to town.

WRECK STORY CONFIRMED.

STEAMER DISCOVERY IS LOST.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SEATTLE (Wash.) Nov. 27.—Confirmation of the reported wreck of the steamship Discovery was brought by J. B. Ent and Fred Hickley on the steamship Excelsior, which arrived last night from Copper River. Ent, Hinckley and six others who had been mining in the interior, found at the mouth of the Seal River life preservers bearing the name Discovery; also oars, pieces of hull and a piece of a mast.

The Discovery left Yakitat for the south November 2. The wreckage was seen November 9, as the men were coming from Yakitat to Kayak. It is believed that the Discovery was wrecked shortly after leaving Yakitat and that the fragments were carried northward to the mouth of the Seal River by the well-known currents that run that way along that part of the coast.

RANCH FOREMAN HAS AN AWFUL EXPERIENCE.

ROBBED, SHOT IN TEMPLE AND EXPOSED TO ELEMENTS.

Is Demented and Unable to Give Clear Account of Attack Upon Him. Hit in Temple by Bullet—Is Now Threatened by Pneumonia.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With a bullet wound in his head, a deep cut on his arm, with neither shoes, coat nor hat, and with his clothing wet through from a dense fog, Adolph Zehander, foreman of the Thornton Miner ranch on the West Side, Thursday afternoon wandered into the camp of rabbit hunters a few miles from the ranch. That robbery and attempt at murder had been committed was plainly evident, but no particulars were obtainable, as the victim is demented and unable to talk coherently. In occasional lucid intervals he related that he was set upon by two men who wanted money and his shoes. More than this he has yet been unable to say.

GOE. W. BOWMAN DEAD.

WAS PROMINENT CALIFORNIAN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN JOSE, Nov. 27.—George M. Bowman, president of the First National Bank, president of the Golden Gate Packing Company and one of the wealthiest and most prominent and enterprising citizens of this city, died suddenly at 3 o'clock this morning.

Yesterday he complained of feeling out of sorts and did not partake of the Thanksgiving dinner. He rested fairly well last night and no doctor was called. This morning he again complained of feeling ill, and a doctor was sent for, but before he arrived Bowman was dead. The cause was apoplexy.

Deceased was 59 years of age and a native of Iowa. He came to California in 1865, was with Wells, Fargo & Co. for a while, then entered into the fruit-canning business, being one of the pioneers of that industry in this valley. Several years ago he became a banker. He was a prominent Mason, a man of high character and closely identified with the movement for civic development. He leaves a family.

FOR HIGHWAY ROBBERY.

PROMINENT MAN ACCUSED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN RAFAEL, Nov. 27.—John Smith, son of L. Smith, one of the most prominent residents of Marin county, has been arrested for highway robbery. Smith is accused of holding up and assaulting Timothy Callahan of Tomales on the night of Monday, on B street in this city. He used a club to extort a large sum of money. Great interest has been excited by the case, as both men are well known.

COLLATERAL INHERITANCE LAW.

AMENDMENT IS SUSTAINED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—The act passed by the State Legislature in 1899, amending the collateral inheritance law, was sustained today by the Supreme Court in its decision affirming the lower court's decree in the matter of Cornelia E. Campbell's estate. The estate was distributed to the decedent's brothers and sisters, and objection was made to the payment of taxes on their inheritances. The constitutionality of the act of 1899 was challenged by their attorneys on several grounds. The court says:

"The most urgent contention of the appellants is that the act is unconstitutional because it imposes a tax upon the brothers and sisters of the deceased persons, while at the same time exempting from taxation the wife of a son, the widow of a son and the husband of a daughter. The distinction as to inheritances between those of the direct line and collateral relations is a natural distinction, and is sufficient to justify the Legislature in imposing a different rule on this subject with respect to each."

CHARGED WITH MURDER.

GARNETT HELD FOR TRIAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Alexander Garnett, who on Wednesday night fatally shot Maj. J. W. McClung, was today booked for murder by the police. He will be brought into court tomorrow, but it is thought that his case will be postponed until after the Coroner's inquest, the date of which has not been determined. Garnett is reticent regarding the affair, persisting in his statement that the shooting was accidental.

Mrs. Lillie H. Coit, in whose apartments at the Palace Hotel the tragedy occurred, is seriously ill. She has been a sufferer from heart weakness for some time, and the excitement attending the shooting has rendered her condition critical.

Mrs. McClung is also suffering greatly from the shock. Her daughter, the wife of Lieut. Frederick Horne, U.S.N., is convalescing from a severe illness, and has not yet been told of the affair. Lieut. Horne arrived here from San Diego today.

CLEVER BLACKMAIL SCHEME.

ARREST AND CONFESSION.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN JOSE, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A well-dressed young man who gives his name as J. S. Potter and his residence as San Francisco, is now in the County Jail, having been arrested this afternoon and charged with attempted blackmail. Potter's scheme was particularly audacious. This morning he visited J. F. Sourriseau, a manufacturing jeweler, and ordered a ring made. He discussed with Sourriseau the quality of gold whereupon the latter produced a $20 piece from which a segment had been removed, and said he would make it from that.

Soon after leaving the store Potter sent a letter to the jeweler, intimating he was a United States detective, and that he would arrest Sourriseau for mutilating coin unless he would call at his hotel and settle the matter. When the jeweler met Potter at the hotel, Potter demanded $50. Sourriseau at once placed the matter in Sheriff Langford's hands, and Potter was arrested. The prisoner wept bitterly in jail, and confessed his guilt. A lock pick and skeleton keys were found in his pocket.

SPRINGS A SENSATION.

WITNESS REFUSES TO TESTIFY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SALINAS, Nov. 27.—During the trial this afternoon before the Superior Court of Charles W. Graves, charged with having looted cars of the Southern Pacific Company near here on August 14, this year, a surprise was sprung by William H. Daugherty under a sentence of one year at San Quentin for receiving stolen goods in connection with the Graves case and who had been brought down from prison to testify. Daugherty, after his conviction, voluntarily offered to testify against his alleged confederates. When placed on the stand today Daugherty said:

"I positively refuse to give any testimony in this case. I won't answer any questions."

He was ordered from the stand and at the conclusion of the day's session was arrested upon a second charge of having knowingly received twenty sacks of stolen barley. After a preliminary examination he will be taken to San Quentin to remain till the time set for his trial.

SEAMAN HEIRS WIN.

WILL IS DECLARED INVALID.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WOODLAND, Nov. 27.—Judge Gaddis today rendered a decision calling invalid the will of the late Henry Seaman of Winters. This decision was based on the ground that the will was not signed in the proper place, that instead of signing at the end the testator placed his signature on the back of the will. The signatures of the witnesses were placed immediately under.

The effect of the decision is a gain of $20,000 to the heirs of Mrs. Ellen Seaman, deceased, the widow who survived her husband only a few months. They had no children. Under the will she would have received only half of the estate whereas the law of the State gives her, in the event of of will, three-fourths. The estate is appraised at about $80,000.

IMPOUNDING DAMS WRECKED.

WORK MUST BE DONE OVER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEVADA CITY, Nov. 27.—State Débris Commissioner Wagoner has returned from a visit to Yuba River. He reports that but little is left to indicate that impounding dams were once there and that the work will have to be almost entirely done over. Of Barrier No. 2 about 260 feet are still standing, but about fifty feet of it is damaged, while hardly a trace of No. 1 remains. It is hardly probable that anything further will be done this season, but early next spring the work will again be under way. During the late heavy storms the Yuba River was very high and the lowlands for miles were covered with several feet of water. A drilling machine which was being used in prospecting dredge land in the vicinity of Yuba was caught in the freshet and covered with débris to the smoke-stack.

A subpoena was issued today for Maj.-Gen. Brooke, former Governor-General of Cuba, who was succeeded by Gen. Wood. The summons was issued following testimony given by Maj. Runcie concerning the magazine article which appeared over his signature.

From the character of the witnesses called, it appears that the investigation is to be complete in every particular, and that none of the charges is to be overlooked as unworthy of consideration.

RUNCIE'S DISCLOSURES.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Maj. Runcie was on the stand several times during the day, telling the committee of a dinner at Santiago, Cuba, attended by himself, Gen. Wood and Ray Stannard Baker, a newspaper man, at which it is alleged was planned the magazine article attacking Maj.-Gen. Brooke that has figured so conspicuously in the Wood case.

In his testimony, Maj. Runcie explained that he had acted as the confidential adviser of Gen. Wood for nearly two years, and that they had lived together at Santiago. Runcie declared that Gen. Wood asked him to the success of Gen. Wood in dealing with affairs at Santiago and draw a comparison with the situation at Havana, unfavorable to the administration of Gen. Brooke, and that he did so. The article was given to Baker, and published in February, 1900, over the name of Maj. Runcie. The latter asserted that Gen. Wood knew what the article contained, and that they had corresponded about it as a result of the furore created by its publication.

The committee informed Maj. Runcie that he would be called again some time next week. He is expected to return within three days and hold himself subject to the call of the committee.

FIFTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

EXTRA SESSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—SENATE—After a session of twenty-five minutes' duration, the Senate adjourned today until next Tuesday. The business of the Senate was confined almost exclusively to the introduction of relief bills.

HOUSE—When the House convened today, a message from the President, transmitting correspondence relative to Panama additional to that forwarded to the House in response to a resolution was received.

Mr. Payne moved that when the House adjourned today, it be until Tuesday.

Mr. Williams, the minority leader, said that if the House was to stay in session it should proceed to the transaction of business.

Mr. Dearmond, Democrat, of Missouri, criticised the Republican majority, asking why they did not finish their work and go home, or if they were going to stay in session, why limit themselves to two performances a week.

After some further debate, Mr. Payne's motion was carried by 81 to 63, division having been called for by Mr. Williams.

Mr. Meyers of Iowa called up his resolution providing for the acceptance of the invitation to the members of the House to be present at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition celebration in New Orleans, but objections were made to its consideration.

Mr. Bartholdt of Missouri was granted unanimous consent to make an address on the Louisiana Purchase Exposition to be held in St. Louis next year. He reviewed what had been accomplished and what was being provided for the public.

"The universal exposition of 1904," he said, "will be the sensational climax of the twentieth century, the grandest victory of peace and civilization and the greatest triumph human genius has yet achieved. To millions of its visitors it will be an academy of learning and inspiration and an inexhaustible source of genuine delight, and the memories of the Ivory City will live and bear fruit in all the ages yet to come."

Adjourned until Tuesday.

Man Shot and Woman Jailed at Santa Barbara.

Charles Wilson Wounded, but Assailant is Unseen.

Mrs. Jennie Downey is Suspected, But She Consistently Denies Knowledge of Crime.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Shortly after 5 o'clock this evening Charles Wilson, a prominent livery stable man of this city, was shot and seriously wounded in the Olympic Stables. There were no witnesses to the shooting, but Wilson claims that his assailant was Mrs. Jennie Downey, a woman with whom he has had much trouble during the last six months, and who has been the central figure in several sensational actions in the local courts.

At 5 o'clock Wilson went into the hay lofe of his stable to feed the stock. Soon afterward West Thompson, an employe there, heard four shots in rapid succession and then saw Wilson appear at one of the ground-floor windows. He cried for help, saying that he had been shot by Mrs. Downey and had made his escape by sliding down a rope from the loft to the ground. Thompson and another man carried Wilson to an emstall where he was placed while a surgeon and police officers were summoned. Soon after the shooting he was removed to the Cottage Hospital.

Within a few minutes Chief of Police Ross instituted a thorough search throughout the large loft for Mrs. Downey, who had not been seen to leave the premises. He was unsuccessful in his quest, and proceeded to the railroad station to prevent any escape on the north-bound train, due about that time. About 7 o'clock James Herd, a local expressman, telephoned to the Police Station that Mrs. Downey was at his house, where she had called to see Miss Cunningham, a lodger. Ross and a few officers hurried to the house and found Mrs. Downey. She expressed great surprise when arrested, saying:

"I love Charley Wilson, and if I had shot him I would have turned the gun on myself. I haven't been near the stable today, and haven't seen him."

Mrs. Downey submitted quietly to a thorough search by the officers, which failed to reveal any weapon or any article of a suspicious nature. She continued to deny any knowledge of the affair and stood the most rigid cross-questioning without flinching. She was told by the officers that Wilson was dead, in the hope of eliciting a confession, and although much moved she refused to incriminate herself.

A surgical examination of Wilson's wounds by Dr. Sidebotham resulted in the announcement that the injury was not so serious as was at first supposed, the bullet having entered the back and glanced along a rib under the heart, coming out through the stomach. His recovery is practically assured.

The police cannot account for the fact that although the stable was filled with people immediately after the shooting, no one saw Wilson's assailant leave. They surmise that in the confusion anyone could descend from the loft by an outside stairway and gain the street.

The shooting has caused much excitement here, as Wilson and Mrs. Downey have had many differences lately, and the latter has brought several sensational charges against Wilson.

BALFOUR'S WAR POLICY.

Premier Blames the Liberals for Deliberately Starving the Army—Great Military Problem.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Nov. 27.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Premier Balfour tonight delivered a speech which was devoted entirely to the reforms instituted by the War Office. Mr. Balfour defended the Secretary of War, who, he said, had to face a more complex problem than the War Minister of any other nation on account of the vast scope of British territory. He blamed the Liberal predecessors of the present government for their deliberate policy of starving the army, which policy had resulted in the difficulties experienced in the South African war. In regard to the future, Premier Balfour asserted that he did not believe a large army was required for home defense. The great military problem was the defense of the large Indian frontier, against the great, and he was glad to think, friendly empire of Russia. For that reason he emphatically replied to those who wanted Lord Kitchener in London at the head of the army. The Himalayas was where the general ought to be.

In conclusion, the Premier maintained that conscription never had been and never could be used to defend outlying possessions.

SELLING VOTES NO CRIME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BOSTON, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The full bench of the Massachusetts Supreme Court today made the astonishing declaration that it is not a crime in this State for a voter to sell his vote. The explanation is found in the fact that the last Legislature, in adopting the new election law, repealed a number of special laws, among them one making vote-selling a crime.

The case under discussion was the suit of Andrew P. Doyle against Frank R. Kirby. Doyle charged Kirby with slander, in declaring that he had sold his vote. The court finds there was no slander, because, since selling a vote is not an offense, there is no offense in accusing a man of doing so.

POLICE CHARGE STUDENTS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ROME, Nov. 27.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Students of the University endeavored to organize a demonstration today at the Quirinal in favor of the King, but with an anti-Austrian character. The police broke up the gathering and then the students rushed toward the Austrian Embassy and the Austrian Consulate, where they were received by troops, who charged them with drawn bayonets. Struggles between the students and troops ensued and several arrests were made, while the crowd continued to cry "down with Francis Joseph. Let us break up the triple alliance," and to sing the "Garibaldian Hymn."

There was great enthusiasm in the law courts today, when a student who was arrested yesterday for having struck a policeman, was acquitted.

There were demonstrations today in the principal towns of Italy, especially in Florence and Turin, where the University has been closed. During the demonstration in Florence three Austrian flags were burned in the public square, amid a scene of great enthusiasm and the frantic crowd of the demonstrators.

OPEN LETTER OF CLEVELAND.

Positive Refusal to be the Democratic Candidate.

Brooklyn Eagle Now Carries Its Support to Parker.

Indiana Firm for President. "Uncle Joe" Not Seeking Vice-Presidency.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Grover Cleveland has sent the following letter to the editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle:

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 25.

My Dear Mr. McElway:

I have wanted for a long time to say something which I think should be said to you before others.

You can never know how grateful I am for the manifestation of kindly feeling toward me on the part of my countrymen which your initiative has brought out. Your advocacy in the Eagle of my nomination for the Presidency came to me as a great surprise; and it has been seconded in such manner by Democratic sentiment that conflicting thoughts of gratitude and duty have caused me to hesitate as to the time and manner of a declaration on my part concerning the subject—if such a declaration should seem necessary or proper.

In the midst of it all, and in full view of every consideration presented, I have not for a moment been able, nor am I now able to open my mind to the thought that in any circumstances or upon any consideration I should ever again become the nominee of my party for the Presidency.

My determination not to do so is unalterable and conclusive.

This you, at least, ought to know from me, and I should be glad if the Eagle were made the medium of its conveyance to the public.

Very sincerely yours,

[Signed] GROVER CLEVELAND.

PARKER NOW PREFERRED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BROOKLYN (N. Y.) Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Eagle, in an editorial tonight, says:

"While our proposition of Grover Cleveland as the best candidate of the Democracy for 1904 must now, by his request and adverse decision, be withdrawn, the subsidiary purpose of our suggestion of him has been accomplished. That subsidiary purpose was the elevation of the standard of choice to the grade of capacity for the Presidency, which the mere consideration of Mr. Cleveland affected, with the consequent concentration of the party upon a man who would be equal to that standard, on the one hand, and who would be, on the other hand, commended to the party at large throughout the Union as unifying the Democratic force.

"There is another man, who, while Mr. Cleveland was the first choice of this paper, has always been the second choice of the Eagle for the nomination. He now becomes the first preference of the Eagle for the nomination. The other man is Alton Brooks Parker, Chief Judge of the Court of Appeals of New York, the highest judicial body in this State."

INDIANA'S ALL RIGHT.

REDHOT FOR ROOSEVELT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The idea that there is a revolt in Indiana against the President as the favorite candidate of the Republicans of that State is not credited by Indiana men here.

"I said, six or seven months ago," remarked Senator Fairbanks today, "that President Roosevelt would have no opposition in Indiana for the nomination, and that holds good today. There is in Indiana no opposition to President Roosevelt of any sort or kind."

The Indiana Republican State convention adopted the following as part of the platform of the party, and it always has been regarded as equivalent to an indorsement of the President for the nomination.

"We cordially indorse the able and patriotic administration of President Roosevelt. Succeeding to the Presidency under tragic circumstances and pursuing the policy of his illustrious predecessor, he at once won the confidence and approval of the American people. We are proud of his courage, his purity and his devotion to the interests of the entire country, and pledge him the earnest support of the Republicans of Indiana in all his efforts to continue and advance the prosperity of the people at home and the glory of the republic abroad."

"UNCLE JOE" SATISFIED.

NOT AFTER VICE-PRESIDENCY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Illinois Vice-Presidential boomers got a rise out of Speaker Cannon right away. They had been pestering him for several days with the suggestion that he become a candidate, and he "passed up" the proposition with a few terse comments, clearly intelligible to his hearers, if not suitable for publication.

The Speaker's secretary, in response to inquiries of newspaper correspondents, made the following statement today, which may be taken to represent the Speaker's views:

"It goes without saying that any citizen of the United States might well feel gratified to be thought worthy to go upon the Presidential ticket as candidate for the Vice-Presidency. There are many good and great men in the party, who from every standpoint, would be good candidates. So far as Mr. Cannon is concerned, substantially his life work has been in connection with the House of Representatives. As Speaker of the House, the full meed of his ambition, so far as public place is concerned, is satisfied.

"Even if he would be an available candidate, his nomination is not to be thought of for a moment. He is now organizing the House for the work of the Fifty-eighth Congress, and not looking to the other end of the capitol with any desire to take the chair now so admirably filled by the able and accomplished Senator from Maine."

HANNA CALLS MEETING.

TO CHOOSE CONVENTION CITY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Hanna, as chairman of the Republican National Committee, the other day sent out notices for a meeting of the Republican National Committee in this city, Friday, December 11. The meeting is called for the purpose of selecting a place and date for holding the national convention for the nomination of President and Vice-President.

There is already keen competition among the various cities that wish to entertain the national conventions next year, but Chicago and St. Louis appear to be in the lead, and the consensus of opinion seems to be that the conventions will go to these cities. On account of the exposition in St. Louis next year, that city is prepared to make special inducements to secure the conventions.

While St. Louis is anxious to secure the two conventions as side shows for the big exposition that will be in full swing when the parties are nominating their respective candidates for President, there seems to be a disposition among many national committeemen to give that city a wide berth. St. Louis is a hot place in summer, and the crowd that will be there to attend the big fair is apt to tax accommodations to the limit.

NEW YORK A DANGER SPOT.

STATE SENATOR WORTH'S VIEWS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In response to the question as to whether he thought Senator Platt had actually retired from politics, State Senator Worth said tonight:

"For some reason or other New York State has come to be a danger spot for the Republicans. If the State is to be depended on to elect the party's candidate for President, there must be a change in the present organization. The Republican party in the State has been getting weaker and weaker every year. This is chiefly true of Greater New York, which, since consolidation, has come to be more strongly Democratic than ever.

"What are the causes for this change? Is it lack of interest on the part of the men who are intrusted with the machinery of the Republican party. If this is so, and I think it is, it is time for a change. Men are often kept at the head of an organization, notwithstanding they have become unpopular and unfit to perform the delicate duties connected with the running of a political machine. Sometimes these leaders lack interest, and this disastrously affects the party. If that is the case, you must strike at the head of the organization and chop that down in order to reach the trouble.

"Platt and Odell may be the ones to settle these points and agree on reorganization, if the success of the party in the State is to continue. If they do not, one or the other has got to go down."

SPAIN'S BACK UP.

Exequaturs of All Consuls from Venezuela Withdrawn—Trouble Grows Out of Spanish Minister's Support of Mexico's Claims.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Spain has taken the first step toward a breach of relations with Venezuela. The State Department has been notified that the former government has withdrawn the exequaturs of all Venezuelan consuls in Spain. It is surmised that this action is taken because of the ill-treatment accorded the Spanish Minister to Venezuela as a result of the Mexico Venezuelan arbitration and the disrespect shown the Spanish Consul at La Guayra.

It is said that the two arbitrators, one from Mexico and the other from Venezuela, reached an agreement awarding a judgment of about $400,000 in favor of Mexico, but that the Venezuelan arbitrator was obliged by President Castro to withdraw from the agreement. Thereupon the Spanish Minister to Caracas, who was the umpire, concurred in the Mexican contentions, with the result that he was immediately made the target for such abuse as to force him to leave Venezuela hastily. Just preceding this incident, the Spanish Consul at La Guayra was discourteously treated by the Venezuelan authorities at that port, and the two incidents combined are believed to have overtaxed the patience of the Spanish government.

BRYAN BEQUEST NOT ADMITTED TO PROBATE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Nov. 27.—The formal decree of the Probate Court in relation to the Philo S. Bennett will, of which W. J. Bryan is an executor, was announced today by Probate Judge Cleaveland. After the decision of Judge Cleaveland regarding the will, which was made some weeks ago after a hearing of the parties interested, the judge left to the attorneys to agree if possible on the form of the formal decree based on that decision. Opposing counsel, however, found themselves unable to reach an agreement.

After reciting the known facts in the case, Judge Cleaveland decrees that neither the sealed letter by which it appeared that Bennett expressed a desire to give $50,000 to Bryan and family and the typewritten document in the possession of Byran for the envelope containing the letter, should be admitted to probate as part of the will. Otherwise the will was allowed and ordered to be recorded.

WHAT WILL WORLD DO FOR COTTON?

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Mail and Express says:

"What is the world to do for cotton when the time comes, as surely it must come, some time, when the United States will consume all the cotton it produces? This question is agitating European countries which just now are so completely dependent on the American supply of cotton that all other sources are to be regarded as inconsiderable, and in particular Great Britain, which is in the midst of a cotton famine that promises direful results to its working people.

"The English are raising the cry of 'Empire-grown cotton for imperial needs.' But how great a dream is the idea that Great Britain can ever dispense with American cotton is shown by the country's own statistics. In 1902, the United Kingdom imported 1,800,706,000 pounds of cotton, and of this 1,300,800,200 pounds came from the United States. Even these figures do not convey the full extent of British dependence upon the United States, for practically all cotton imported from elsewhere is of a special kind, used for mixing or 'mercerizing,' and at present, England could not procure anywhere else the kind of cotton she now imports from the United States, and which is primarily and absolutely necessary for the standard goods she manufactures."

PETRIFIED HUMAN BODIES.

Remarkable Discovery in Graveyard at Hannibal, N. Y.—Eyes Wide Open and Appearance Lifelike.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

HANNIBAL (N. Y.) Nov. 27.—Two bodies which have recently been disinterred for removal from the cemetery here have been found to be petrified. The last body exhumed was that of Mrs. Rose Van Horn, who died in 1894. When the sexton opened the grave he found that the coffin had fallen to pieces, but the woman's body was perfectly preserved, and the wide-open eyes added to its life-like appearance. The doctor who issued the permit to open the grave declared it a remarkable case of petrification.

"The preservation was just as nearly perfect as it was possible for it to be," he said. "Every vein policeable in life could be seen. The finger nails were perfect. The most peculiar feature was the eye. They looked precisely like those of a living person. The body was of about the hardness of chalk, but a few years more would have made it as hard as flint. I presume the petrification is due to some peculiar quality of the soil."

The residents believe that all the bodies interred in the cemetery have undergone a like process.

O'DAY SAFE IN JAIL.

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Nov. 27.—A special from Casper, Wyo., says that Tom O'Day, the bandit, is safe in jail there and that the reports regarding plots to rescue or to lynch him are discredited. Deputies from Natrona, Fremont and Converse counties have recovered half the stolen horses that were in the hands of O'Day's gang. O'Day's hearing has been set for Saturday.

NEW GERMAN CONSULATES.

To be Established at Seattle, St. Paul, New Orleans, Atlanta and La Paz, Bolivia.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Foreign Office budget provides for the establishment of German consulates at Seattle, St. Paul, New Orleans and Atlanta, Ga. The increasing importance of the consulates in South American countries is recognized in the appropriations for a minister and resident at La Paz, Bolivia, and a secretary of legation at Santiago de Chile.

The budget of the Ministry the Interior asks for $1,250,000 to provide state-owned homes for civil employes, or $250,000 more than 1902.

BABY COFFEE TOPERS.

Were Given Coffee at 2 Years of Age.

"My mother always gave her children coffee to drink from the time they were old enough to hold a cup, consequently I used it from the time I was 2 years old to my eighteenth year," says a young lady of Potomac, Ill.

"Although I never suspected it, coffee was all this time undermining my health and suddenly without any warning I was taken with nervous prostration. At times I could scarcely breathe and my face twitched continually.

"I was almost helpless and my stomach was out of order all the time. For three years I was treated, with only temporary relief, having to stay in bed nearly all the time. Then my uncle and old physician, came to visit us and as soon as he had studied my case a little bit he said:

'Let me get you a square meal. I think I can make better coffee than any one in this house.'

"So I waited patiently for I did love good coffee and I thought I had never tasted such delicious coffee as that was and I wondered why others could not make it just the same. So once I told me he would teach them just how it was made.

"In this way I drank Postum Coffee for nearly a month before I knew it. I found my stomach getting so much better and all my troubles disappearing and in a few weeks I was up and around the house again and stronger and better than I had been for a long time. I am still growing stronger every day and I am doing my best to get my friends to do away with coffee and use Postum in its place.

"Coffee almost ruined me and I know it and I know the only way that I got rid of it and got well was by drinking Postum in its place. I have found out that you must be careful to follow directions on the Postum package to make good Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

ALMOST DROWNED IN TORRENT OF MILK.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BRIDGETON (N. J.) Nov. 27.—One man was killed and two others have been so injured that there is very slight chance of their recovery, by the blowing up of the separator bowl in an ice and milk plant here. The dead man was Nelson Woodruff, who expired after the amputation of a leg. John Waddington had an arm broken, his body and limbs lacerated, and suffered internal injuries. Charles Morton's skull was fractured and he received innumerable lacerations.

The bowl, which was made of steel and copper, flew to pieces just as an exploding flywheel does, and the pieces were hurled in all directions. Some of them, flying into other departments of the plant, caused considerable damage to the ice-making machinery. The walls of the building in which the bowl was situated were riddled as if by shots from cannon. Pieces of metal were picked up 200 feet from the plant. Not only were the men injured by the flying metal, but they were almost drowned by the suddenly-released volume of milk.

RECOGNITION REFUSED.

Minister Powell Will Not Acknowledge Provisional Government—Gen. Wos Y Gil Goes to Porto Rico.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SANTO DOMINGO, November 27.—[By West Indian Cable.] United States Minister Powell today refused to acknowledge the provisional government and also denied its demand for the withdrawal of former Finance Minister Galvan, who, with Judge George W. Gray of Delaware, has been appointed to arbitrate the Santo Domingo Improvement Company matter. Minister Powell told the provisional government that the question of arbitrating the claims of the improvement company was now closed and could not be reopened; that the Board of Arbitration was now fully constituted, according to conditions of the protocol; that the board would convene and its members proceed to the consideration of the issues presented by both parties, and that its decision will be final. He added that the United States government cannot and will not interfere in any manner with the composition of the arbitration board named by the government of President Wos y Gil.

The German government has placed the cruiser Falke at the disposal of Gen. Wos y Gil, who, accompanied by former Ministers Brache and Espaillat, left this afternoon on the Falke for Porto Rico.

The French and Belgian Ministers have energetically protested against the decree of the provisional government, recognising only the floating debt and leaving other foreign claims pending. The troops are gradually leaving and quiet prevails.

A MINER RESCUED

How Help Came in a Time of Emergency.

A Dubuque Man Was in a Situation of Great Pain and Peril and Was Almost Hopeless.

"In the lead mines I was at work on my knees with my elbows pressed against rock walls, in dampness and extremes of cold," said Mr. J. G. Meukel of 2975 Jackson avenue, Dubuque, Iowa, in describing his experience to a reporter, "and it is not surprising that I contracted rheumatism. For three years I had attacks affecting the joints of my ankles, knees and elbows. My ankles and knees became so swollen I could scarcely walk on uneven ground and a little pressure from a stone under my feet would cause so much pain that I would nearly sink down. I was often obliged to lie in bed for several days at a time. My friends who were similarly troubled were getting no relief from doctors and I did not feel encouraged to throw money away for nothing. By chance I read the story of Robert Yates of the Klauer Manufacturing Co. of Dubuque, who had a very bad case of rheumatism. I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, the remedy he had used. In three or four weeks after beginning to use the pills, I was much better and in three months I was well. The swelling of the joints and the tenderness disappeared. I could work steadily for eight years I have had no return of the trouble. My whole family believe in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Both my sons use them. We consider them a household remedy that we can rely on."

This is convincing testimony, and verified, from a plain, earnest man who knows that he has escaped the clutches of a terrible disease and who is profoundly grateful and anxious to help others.

Mr. Meukel is a thrifty miner, a well-known citizen of Dubuque, and no one could imagine that he had reached his seventieth year as he is seen going to his daily work with energy and great hearing. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did more for him than simply give relief. They eradicated the disease by getting at the seat of the difficulty in the blood. These pills are equally effective in the treatment of other obstinate troubles such as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, nervous headache, after-effects of la grippe, anaemia and all forms of weakness either in male or female. They are sold by all druggists, or may be obtained direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for 50 cents a box or six boxes for two dollars and a half.

SECESSION FEELING STRONG.

CAUCA AND ANTIOQUIA NEXT

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PANAMA, Nov. 27.—[By Central American Cable.] An American traveling man who has just arrived here from Buena Ventura on the steamer Mani, after a stay of twenty days in the department of Cauca, reports that the feeling of unrest in Cauca and Antioquia continues, and the secession movement there has the support of many prominent men, including a number of high officials.

An outbreak was recently started in Cali, the business center of the Cauca department, but the authorities quickly suppressed it and arrested the ringleaders, who suffered no harm, probably because of the sympathies of the officials with the movement.

The secession movement, this American says, is serious, but it is impossible to foretell what will be the end, or when any step will be undertaken. He also says there is no evidence of any warlike or aggressive movement against Panama; there is plenty of threatening talk, but no action.

The Americans at Cali have not been molested, and the authorities at Buena Ventura, the traveler says, are very inclined to be annoying when so left there, but nothing serious had happened. The discontent in Cauca and Antioquia arises from the same causes that led to the movement for independence on the isthmus.

THANKSGIVING DAY SPORT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PANAMA, Nov. 27.—The men from the warships in Panama Bay held rowing and small-boat sailing races yesterday in celebration of Thanksgiving Day. The climbing of greased masts and other sports were also indulged in. Members of the crew of the British cruiser Amphion won the sailing race, and also the cutter race, which they rowed in a cutter loaned by one of the American ships.

NO FEARS OF INVASION.

STAFF IGNORES PANAMA.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—M. Bunau-Varilla, the Minister from Panama, called at the State Department today and officially notified Acting Secretary Loomis of the action taken yesterday by the Panama junta in deciding to ratify the Panama Canal treaty as soon as it reached them. He expressed himself as having no fears of an invasion of Panama by an army from Colombia, and explained the utter impossibility of an expedition overland.

Lieut.-Gen. Young, Chief of Staff, was again today asked, in view of the repeated statements of Gen. Reyes and others that if the mission of Reyes to Washington was a failure, Colombia would march on Panama with an army of 100,000 men, whether the United States was contemplating the sending of troops to the isthmus. He emphatically declared that no problem for the defense of Panama against an attacking army had been considered by the general staff, and that the subject had been given no consideration whatever.

LET DEMOCRATS RAVE.

IT'S GOOD FOR REPUBLICANS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The effort that has been made by Senator Culberson to draw a parallel between the attitude of the United States toward the recognition of the Republic of Panama and the efforts of the government in 1860 to prevent recognition of the Southern Confederacy, is being commented on by Republicans as likely to prove an advantage to them in the coming campaign.

"If my Democratic friends do what they seem to be threatening, which is to oppose what has been done by our government in reference to a treaty for the purpose of securing an isthmian canal, they will place themselves in an attitude of opposition to the construction of any canal," said Senator Cullom, chairman of the Senate committee on Foreign Relations.

"They will," he continued, "place themselves in the position of endeavoring to break down the policy of the Republican party, and their conduct will result in having the American people come to the conclusion that they simply, as usual, are proposing the Republican party for partisan reasons, and will also, as usual, by such course, contribute to their greater defeat at the polls next election.

We show a very large line at prices ranging from 5 c to $8.00. Many of them have coin purses on the inside to match the material.

Lovely Auto Bags

In auto bags we show many exclusive shapes and styles; red seems to be the prevailing fashion at this time, but we have other colors for people of more subdued tastes. You will notice that the finish of these bags is the very best, as every one was made especially to our order. Prices range from $5.00 to $18.00.

Secession Feeling Strong in Antioquia and Cauca—No Fears of Invasion.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PANAMA, Nov. 27.—[By Central American Cable.] The slight opposition to the ratification of the canal treaty between the republic of Panama and the United States which prevailed on the isthmus a day or two ago appears to have been overcome, if not altogether dissipated. This opposition existed among a few government officials who now have been won over and thoroughly convinced by the reasonable arguments of their confrerees.

The plan outlined in these dispatches yesterday by which the treaty was to be signed and dispatched to Washington on the day of its arrival here has been abandoned because it is feared such rapidity of action might give the impression that the treaty had been hastily and inadequately considered, and thus lay the members of the junta open to criticism. It is absolutely certain, however, that the treaty will be ratified without the slightest opposition.

In governmental circles here, it is said that the junta, as soon as the treaty has been ratified, will address a note to Secretary Hay asking that part of the concessionary price be paid in cash to the Panama government, and that $6,000,000 shall be transferred in such a manner that it can be invested, the interest being payable to the government.

It can be said authoritatively that the junta is still firmly opposed to unloading the responsibility for any portion of Colombia's foreign indebtedness.

"Of course, when we were fighting for the preservation of the Union, we were opposed to recognition of the Southern Confederacy by any other government. Now, we are struggling to secure the right to construct an isthmian canal at the proper place, and we have recognized the republic of Panama, when she came to us asking for recognition when there was no opposition to the government they had established at Panama, after the Colombian troops had gone to Panama and then left the isthmus without making any attempt at interference with the permanency of that republic.

"All of our Presidents have said that when the government is called on to recognize a republic, it was within their own judgment as to the time and the conditions for so doing. There are many authorities bearing out the soundness of that position. Of course, the policy usually has been, when a republic or a nation has been established, the authorities have looked about to see whether the new government was of a permanent nature, or the mere pretext of one. In the case of the recognition of Panama, there was nothing unusual."

MARINES IN READINESS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] In response to telegraphic orders received from Washington, two companies of United States marines have been organized and equipped at the navy ward for "service beyond the seas."

The supply ship Culgoa will leave the navy yard Sunday morning for Colon. It is expected that two special companies just organized will go to Panama by this vessel should the developments of the next few days indicate that their presence might be required at the scene of isthmian troubles.

Many of the men detailed in these two companies have already spent some time on the isthmus, and are not anxious to go there again, because of unavoidable climatic conditions.

THE TRENT AFFAIR.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The captain of the royal mail steamer Trent, which has arrived at Colon from Cartagena, reports, according to a Colon dispatch to the American, that while he was lying in the harbor of Cartagena, the United States Consul at that place, Luther F. Ellsworth, was invited to come aboard as his (the captain's) guest. Ellsworth responded to the invitation, but when half way up the gang plank was stopped by Colombian soldiers and turned back. The Colombian authorities would not permit the Trent to take any passengers, mail or cargo from Colombian ports for Colon.

Consul Ellsworth told the people on the Trent that he had been repeatedly insulted by the Colombian officials since the recognition of the independence of Panama by the United States.

DOUBLE CONSCIOUSNESS.

Remarkable Case in Denver—Man Writes Religious Book, Later Forgets it and Calls it Idiotic.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

DENVER, Nov. 27.—What is pronounced by physicians a case of double consciousness has been put to public notice through a suit filed by David Charters against the City of Denver for $15,000 damages for injuries to his head sustained by falling on a defective sidewalk.

After the accident, which occurred on December 30, 1901, Charters proclaimed himself "Daniel the Prophet," and wrote a book entitled "Daniel's Vision and Mission; Is Heaven Real? Is Hell Real?" He preached on the streets and established a prosperous mission. He also traveled about the country as an evangelist.

Charters, a few weeks ago, fully recovered from his injury, and he then declared that the interval since the accident happened was a blank to him. He had no knowledge of having written a book. After reading the book he pronounced its contents idiotic.

The Color of Eyes.

Blue eyes are said to be the weakest, brown eyes the strongest.

Gray eyes, turning green in anger or excitement, are indicative of an irritable disposition.

The prevailing colors of eyes among patients in lunatic asylums are black and brown.

People of melancholic temperament rarely have clear blue eyes.

Better than knowing the character by the color of the eyes, is to know how to care for your eyes. Dr. Seymour, at 420 West Sixth street, will be pleased to advise you, without charge for consultation, if your eyes are troubling you or you are in need of glasses.

RHEUMATISM CURED

The Real Cause of this Joint-Twisting, Muscle-Binding, Nerve-Inflaming Disease and How It Is Prevented and Cured

The foot in the picture is no exaggeration.
To the pain-distorted vision of the owner it appears many times as large.
The trouble is rheumatism and gout.
The cure, Warner's Safe Cure.
Uric acid is a natural product of our bodies, the result of tissue changes and a meat diet.

Like the sewage of cities it is contaminating.

It is the work of the kidneys to eliminate this poison from the system as rapidly as formed.

When, however, the kidneys have become weakened or diseased there is an accumulation of uric acid that poisons the blood.

In coursing through the body the uric acid settles in the joints and causes articular—joint—rheumatism; it attacks the lower part of the back and produces lumbago; it affects the delicate membrane covering the sciatic nerve and the result is sciatica—they are all rheumatism.

Uric acid is the father of all rheumatism, no matter where located or by what name it may be called.

Safe Cure cures rheumatism because it restores the kidneys to healthy action and enables them to pass out of the system the excess of uric acid that is the cause of the disease.

MR. JOHN S. WILSON, 43 Schuyler St., Albany, N. Y.—Laid up for Weeks by Inflammatory Rheumatism is Permanently Cured by Safe Cure.

"About six years ago I was a martyr to frequent attacks of inflammatory rheumatism in my feet and hip joints. Often had to give up work for five or six weeks at a time. I tried prescriptions by the dozen, one after another, and some would-be cure cures from different friends. None seemed to do me any good. At last fortune caused me to visit an old friend of mine who I knew at one time suffered as I did. He told me what Warner's Safe Cure had done for him. He had about half a bottle left over and I took it home and began to take it as directed. By the time I had finished I found a little relief. I got a bottle and continued taking the remedy until I had used up three bottles. I was so encouraged that I kept on taking it for two months after, when I was entirely cured and have had absolutely no rheumatism since. I always keep a bottle in the house and recommend it to all I hear complaining as I did."—JOHN S. WILSON.

YOU CAN TELL IF YOU HAVE KIDNEY DISEASE.

Rheumatism, pain in the head and back, painful passing of urine, cloudy urine, a reddish-brown sediment in the urine after it stands 24 hours, swellings in the body, drowsiness, loss of appetite, indigestion, a listless feeling, skin diseases, jaundice, torpid liver; if a woman, bearing down sensation, painful periods, fainting, so-called "female weakness;" these all tell you that your kidneys have been out of order for months and utterly unable to do their work properly. The danger point is near. Begin taking Safe Cure at once and take it regularly. It will surely cure you and without any bad after-effects.

Physicians of all schools unite in praising Safe Cure for the wonderful cures it has made. It is prescribed in all parts of the world and used exclusively in hospitals for kidney, liver and bladder disorders. Safe Cure is purely vegetable, contains no harmful drugs, is free from sediment and pleasant to take. It is a most valuable and effective tonic and a stimulant to digestion. It awakens the torpid liver; repairs the tissues; soothes inflammation and irritation; stimulates and heals the weakened and enfeebled organs; builds up the body, gives it health and strength and restores energy. Sold by all druggists or direct, 50 CENTS AND $1 A BOTTLE.

Analysis Free If you have any doubt as to the development of the disease in your system, send a sample of your urine to the medical department, Warner's Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N. Y., and our doctors will analyze it and send you a report with advice and medical booklet free.

Beware of so-called Kidney Cures which are full of sediment and of bad odor—they are positively harmful and do not cure.

BUSINESS.

Bankers report that demand for money good, and are not loaning near as much as is called for, inasmuch as the general policy of banks throughout the country is to increase their reserve. For legitimate purposes money is in active demand and no difficulty attends getting it. Trade is reported good in every quarter. The local bank clearings yesterday amounted to more than $1,250,000 and showed a most substantial increase over the corresponding period of last year.

Commission houses and shorts bought wheat at Chicago, adding fractions to May figures. Corn and oats closed higher, in sympathy. Little activity was manifested in stocks at New York. Forecast of a favorable bank statement strengthened the tone.

LITTLE MERCHANTS OF THE STREET.

There is a class of merchants and traders with which the community transacts a large and important business every day of the year—the newsboys, the sturdy, self-reliant, devil-may-care, unhelped and unhampered little merchants of the street. Strange as it may seem, the public is possessed of but a small insight into the real characters of these valuable persons, which perhaps explains why so little is being done for them in a well-meaning and well-intentioned world. That they should attract a far greater degree of attention is beyond doubt, for they are the most interesting people alive, humanly, and from a purely sociological viewpoint. They are children, with the innocence and ignorance of children, and yet with the seriousness and the good and the bad acquirements of maturity. As a problem, what then could be more interesting than this?

They are indeed a problem, these arabs of the city's highways, and a crying problem, too. Yet there seems to be so small an effort made at its solution. The drunkard is being helped, the convicts in the jails are being ministered to, the gambler is being driven from his nefarious lairs, and still no effective barrier is being raised to prevent the newsboys from becoming all these things. "As the twig is bent so grows the tree," runs the old adage. What sort of men are these boys expected to become, therefore, with no kindly, gentle, yet restraining hand upon them? Would it not be the easier endeavor to save them now than to wait until vice and crime have been fastened upon them?

There are many associations of men and women in this town organized to help and save humanity and they are doing untold good. But if some of these, or an association still to be formed, shall take up the problem of the little merchants of the street, in an earnest and a practical way, more real blessings will reward a work of that kind than would follow upon any possible similar philanthropy. And they are worth it all, those wonderful little people, with their brave hearts, their immortal souls, and the destiny that awaits them in the years to come.

GORMAN IS WILLIN'.

That Arthur Pue Gorman, United States Senator from Maryland, is willing to make sacrifices for his country to the extent of becoming the Democratic candidate for President in 1904, is becoming about as apparent as anything can be in the changing and mirage-breeding atmosphere of partisan politics. As events are shaping, he is becoming more and more "the logical candidate" of the illogical and demoralized Democracy.

Mr. Gorman's boom is growing—unmistakably and tangibly growing. But its growth is due more, perhaps, to the operation of a steady but inexorable process of elimination, than to its own inherent vitality. The esteemed Democracy must have a candidate of some sort for the Presidency—that "goes without saying," as ye able editor is wont to affirm. One by one the erstwhile idols of the unterrified host are dropping by the wayside, as impossibilities, or has-beens. There is a strong probability that if this process of elimination goes on long enough and fast enough, it will leave Mr. Gorman as the only available candidate for the supreme honor, long before the assembling of the Democratic National Convention in 1904.

It is universally conceded that William Jennings Bryan is no longer a remote possibility. Even Mr. Bryan recognizes this fact—which means that there is no longer room for any one to doubt it. There is no more left of his "boom" than remains of a cipher with its ellipse eliminated. David Bennett Hill is no longer talked of except in suppressed whispers. The name of Hearst—when any one is so far unbalanced mentally as to mention it in this connection—causes only amusement. Grover Cleveland, it is declared by many intelligent Democrats, could not even carry Buzzard's Bay. Carter Harrison, Henri Watterson, Dr. Mary Walker and Citizen Crain are practically out of the race. Therefore, if this sort of thing keeps up, who will remain, it is pertinent to ask, but Arthur Pue Gorman?

It is estimated that Mr. Gorman will go into the next Democratic National Convention with the solid support of the delegates from the Old South—some 316 in number, or about one-third of the entire representation of delegates in the convention. This will give the Marylander a strong lead, and it may stampede the convention in his favor. Anyhow, it is said to be probable that it will be the field against Gorman, with the chances very strong that Gorman will win.

Discussing this question, the Baltimore American (Rep.) declares that the Republican party, in the campaign of 1904, "will have to face a new Democracy. The trend is toward Gorman," adds the American, "but whether or not he will be nominated is as yet an unsolved problem." It says, further:

"The one fact which stands out clearly and indisputably in all the current gossip about the Maryland Senator is that the long-rumored reorganization of the Democracy has, to all intents and purposes, been effected. There are some men in official places who are yet to be unseated, but the change in the party sentiment—upon which any reorganization must depend—has been made complete. Tammany's power to throw David B. Hill, who has long flirted with Democratic first honors, was demonstrated at Kansas City three years ago, when he was denied that State's complimentary vote for Vice-President; so that Hill, who stands for the ante-Bryan régime, is out of the running. Cleveland, who represents a Democracy which even antedates that of Hill, has been crowded into oblivion by the events of the last two weeks, as has Olney, his double in principle. Johnson, in the Ohio campaign, fought the last battle for Bryanism that the Middle West will ever know, and the venerable Cockrell of Missouri will never be sidetracked by the Stone-Wetmore crowd, who are striving to make an opening for Gov. Dockery, whose sun has set under Joe Folk's exposure of wholesale grafting by Missouri Democrats.

"This clearing of the decks leaves Gorman as the only Democrat of national prominence who can pretend to leadership. And just now Mr. Gorman is an interesting character, for the Democracy he will lead can be nothing less than the direct antithesis of the Democracy of Bryan, while at the same time it must be a most decided modification of the Democracy of Cleveland. It is going to be a new brand of the old, stanle political faith. Just what it will be like in its details cannot now be reported, but it is safe to say that it will be so different from the old as to bring Republicanism face to face with a new and untried antagonist."

All this possesses a sort of languid interest for Republicans, as a matter of course, though few of them are sitting up nights to worry over it; for they know that, whether the Democracy which they will face in the next campaign be a "new Democracy," or the same old brand, they can and will lay it out cold in defeat, with their peerless standard-bearer, Theodore Roosevelt, heading the charge upon its antique block-houses and its weakly defended trenches.

Mr. Bryan, who tried to transmute 50 cents worth of silver into a coin the value of a gold dollar, will doubtless be greatly interested in the information given out by Sir William Ramsey to the effect that the transmutation of metals is entirely possible, owing to the discovery that a gaseous separation from radium is really helium. No doubt the Nebraska statesman will take new courage and now consent to run again on a helium basis with a ratio to his liking. If helium is to be the next great issue before the country, 'Rah for Bryan!

The October returns show a gain in railroad receipts, despite the gloomy prophecies of the commercial Cassandras of this great and glorious country. If the public can be guarded against thinking that there are to be hard times we may continue the burst of prosperity, no doubt, for quite a spell yet. The proper caper is to go right ahead sawing wood and saying mighty little about the industrial slump that will not come about so long as public confidence is working in proper shape.

Until some Senator or another has assaulted a colleague in some violent manner it is scarcely correct to say that the upper house is in genuine working order. Thus far in the session the proceedings have been as dry and uninteresting as a Populist speech in the heat of a campaign. The Senate is scarcely living up to the traditions of the last session, which was so alive with belts, blows and choking episodes. Has the American Senator lost his grip?

We have been told what the recent Chicago strike cost the railroads and the striking employés, but no tongue can hope to tell how much it cost that great public which wants to ride when it feels like it. By the way, that public is becoming mighty tired of being placed between two opposing interests and having the living daylights knocked out of it every now and then.

Why San Francisco is Daily Losing Business.

Building Publication Sounds a Timely Warning.

Arbitration to be Abandoned as Means of Settling All Labor Troubles.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—A point which I have made in several of my previous letters, is that the arrogance of labor unions is driving business from San Francisco, and that this was especially true of the building trades.

A significant paragraph in the Buyer and Seller, a monthly publication issued by a real state firm of this city, fully bears out the fact, and it also carries with it the warning to unions that unless there comes a marked change for the better, times will be bad for the working classes. The article makes the following comparison between San Francisco and Los Angeles:

"There is one feature of the real estate market that is unsatisfactory. It is that of building. Where construction is hampered investment is checked. This has its influence in San Francisco. In Los Angeles, on the other hand, building is going on more rapidly, and with it real estate transactions are more numerous than ever in that southern city. The difference lies in the difference between a closed and an open town. San Francisco is in the first and Los Angeles in the second category.

"In the one labor is unionized, while in the other organized labor does not dominate. The population of San Francisco is about 400,000, while that of Los Angeles is about 125,000, yet for the first nine months of the present year the construction in San Francisco amounted to $4,944,431, while in Los Angeles it was $5,697,350.

"It is evident from these figures that something is radically wrong, when building is falling back, and workmen are thereby being deprived of employment. . . . A comparison between Los Angeles, a city free from unions, and the combination of contractors, and this city, which appears to be in the clutches of both, is worth considering. San Francisco is said to be the most completely unionized city in the United States.

"Labor leaders and contractors should bear in mind that in their fight for the plunder the property owner has some voice and may leave them nothing to contend for if their demands are not modified."

There is nothing new in the statement cited, but it is significant of the awakening of the business men who are first to feel the effect of the "closed" town. There have been many hints of this condition published in the real estate columns of the daily newspapers, but this is the first instance of an open statement that the labor movement is electrical to the growth of the city. Men have talked of this fact, but they have been certain when they did so that they were in no danger of being overheard by anyone who would carry the remark to the labor unions. The rapid growth of Los Angeles is attracting the attention of the real estate men of San Francisco and they are just now awakening to the real cause of the difference between the two cities.

P. H. McCarthy, president of the Building Trades Council of San Francisco, went to Los Angeles to bring about a revolution, but he returned like a whipped cur, cursing the business men, and especially The Times, for the fact that nothing could be done with that city. His language was much more forcible than elegant, but it was explicit, and to the point.

NO MORE ARBITRATION.

Union labor in San Francisco has announced itself as being opposed to arbitration of labor disputes between employer and employé. The result of the arbitration of the troubles of the Carmen's Union is an unsatisfactory that not only the carmen but the Labor Council has sent forth the fiat that hereafter labor troubles will be fought out on the lines of strikes and boycotts. Coupled with this is the covert threat that hereafter the carmen, when they strike, will have the full support of the Labor Council.

The Labor Clarion, the official organ of the Labor Council, in its issue of a week ago, devoted more than a page to the arbitration board which settled the controversy of the carmen, and in this article appears the following paragraph:

"Viewed in all its aspects, 'arbitration' in this instance was a decided failure, and it is an open question whether or not the hope Mr. Strauss expresses that permanent peace between the company and its employés has been secured, will be realised. Of course, the carmen will abide by the decision, which is in effect from May 1, 1903, to May 1, 1904; but considering the enormous expense of these proceedings, and their unsatisfactory outcome, it is extremely doubtful that the carmen will again willingly resort to this method of settling their difficulties. . . . It can hardly be claimed that the 'good faith' arbitration suggested by the carmen at the beginning of this controversy was adhered to, and the award of Mr. Strauss, together with the incidents of the board's proceedings heretofore mentioned, are not likely to afford much encouragement to those who believe that arbitration is a panacea for industrial disputes."

In short, according to the union labor creed, arbitration is all right when it concedes to the labor end of the controversy all that is demanded, but when the arbiters give justice to both sides it is a failure.

The article in the Labor Clarion is of the usual rabid type that marks all the articles in that sheet which is supposed to reflect the mind (God save the mark) of the labor leaders. It is filled with covert threats of what is to be done in the future, and the inference is plain that when further trouble comes, and that it is coming the paper admits, there will be a battle royal between Labor and Capital.

CAPITAL HAS NO RIGHTS.

The whole tone of labor publications in San Francisco, since the recent election, has changed to one of defiance to law and opposition to capital. According to the anarchists who lead the ignorant dupes in the unions, there is nothing for Labor to do now but ask for what it wants and if it is not granted, to take it. It is broadly hinted that no matter how outrageous the demands of the unions, the employers will be compelled to grant them because the police force of the city will be back of the unions to see that the non-union workers are prohibited from working.

It is openly claimed by prominent members of the unions that when the time comes for the next big strike the people will be shown that the labor unions of San Francisco will be able to control the city to such an extent that non-union men will not be permitted to remain in the city.

Socialistic speakers are stirring up the unions with their pernicious doctrines until nine-tenths of the members fully believe that Capital is a detriment and menace to society, and the poor dupes are going about repeating the mouthings of the agitators, fully believing that the time is at hand when all a laboring man will have to do for a living is to go and take whatever he may happen to want.

"Do not the bakers make the bread? Have they not the right to take what is the product of their own labor and skill?" This is the doctrine of one of the recent speakers at a meeting. "If the bakers cannot eat all the bread they want it is time they were finding out the reason why. And what is true of the bakers is true of all other trades."

Then the listeners shook their heads sagely, as they remarked in unison:

"You bet that's right."

A NEW DEFENSE.

The Labor Clarion has come to the defense of the carmen in a manner that is peculiarly characteristic of that class. Since the organization of the carmen into a union complaints have been numerous from all classes of citizens regarding the conduct of the conductors and motormens. Where politeness was formerly the rule, it is now the exception, and it is a lucky man or woman who rides on the street cars of San Francisco without an insult from some member of the union.

These complaints became so numerous, and from such unimpeachable sources, that the Labor Council felt called upon to investigate. The investigation was made, but the results have not been made public. That the committee found things in bad shape goes without saying, and this is proven by an editorial in the Labor Clarion, which virtually admits everything that has been charged against the carmen. But the Labor Clarion has a unique excuse, or explanation, for the condition which it admits is prevalent. The paper says:

"Investigation of many of these charges of discourtesy was made, and this resulted in the discovery of facts that seem to fully warrant the assertion that there exists in the street-car service a body of men whose purpose seems to be the stirring up of strife among the men and the creation of public sentiment against the union. It is said to be a fact that certain men, known to be none too friendly toward the union, have been reported many times for boorishness toward passengers, and, apparently, no effort whatever has been made to discipline them. On the other hand, men who have been active in the affairs of the union have been summarily dismissed from the service on the slightest pretext, and with little or no investigation of the charges made against them."

The inference here is plain that the Labor Council wishes the public to believe that the management of the United Railroads hires men to insult its patrons in order to create a sentiment against the union. The panacea proposed for the evils is as peculiar as the conclusion. It is claimed that so long as the company has unrestricted right to hire and discharge its men, just so long will the condition obtain, and the way to remedy it is to give to the Carmens' Union the right to say who shall be employed and who shall be discharged.

Inside Story of Ship Trust.

A little thing is often the hinge for the swinging of great events. John W. Young was in France as the envoy of the "shipbuilding trust," treating for French gold. He was already in most pleasant relations with £30,000,000 when here in New York City a half-idiot, half-maniac, Hooper Young, committed murder, says Collier's Weekly.

The atrocious character of the crime gave it wide publicity. In digging for details, the newspapers turned up the fact that the father of Hooper Young was John W. Young. Then the element of Mormonism found development, and that and the blood relationship of John W. Young and Hooper Young were added to the story.

All this made its way to Paris, and the eyes of those financiers with whom John W. Young was in traffic were quick to take it in. The news gave these men of money a distinct shock. Their eagerness to sign for £30,000,000 abated. Folks argue as readily from son to father as from father to son. That New York murder daunted the French fancy. The more your Frenchman looked upon it, the less he liked it; the more he heard of Hooper Young the less confidence he felt in John W. Young.

What is more timid than gold? Those £30,000,000, which had been all but secured, were lost—lost, every franc. It was the beginning of the end. The reverse in France became the very mother of disasters. It was the first link in an endless chain of setbacks. The "ship trust" dates its griefs from Hooper Young and the murder done by his hand.—[New York Commercial.

LOCAL RAILROAD RECORD.

BIGGEST ARMY OF COLONISTS

Sixteen Hundred Will H the City Today.

Poons Try Trick of Raising The Time Checks—Espee's Big Money.

Local railroad authorities agree that the colonists will fairly swarm into Los Angeles today. It is conservatively estimated that the number will approximate 1600 persons. These figures are considered conservative because the passenger department of the Santa Fe does not hesitate to state that it also expects 800 people in sleeping cars, to say nothing of those who will arrive in chair cars and day coaches. Even a greater number is expected by the Southern Pacific.

"Saturday will be the biggest day we have had advices on, so far this year," said Chief Clerk Heid in the office of the general passenger agent of the Santa Fe yesterday. "I will not surprise me a bit if 1600 people come in tomorrow. Of course, some of them will go immediately into the many prosperous towns surrounding Los Angeles, but the great majority will stay here for a time at least. Monday will also be a big day, but according to advices at hand now, by no means so large as tomorrow."

Mr. Heid is of the opinion that colonists have been arriving in Los Angeles at the rate of between 600 and 700 a day since the middle of the month.

The cheap colonist rates will not be effective after Monday, which will be the last day of sale at all points throughout the East. Passengers therefore, will be arriving in large numbers on colonist excursions for three or four days next week; in fact the end of the week will probably come before the last party gets here from the Atlantic seaboard. Cold weather in certain parts of the East is greatly increasing the colonist business at the last minute.

The railroads are anticipating dull trade for two or three weeks prior to the first of the year. The cheap colonist rates have lured away to the land of sunshine and flowers every passenger available at this time, while the fancy tourist business will not begin until after Christmas, for the elite usually plan to spend the holidays around their own hearths.

With the coming of the New Year will begin in earnest the annual influx of visitors who would know the grandeur and see the glories of Southern California reveling in a semi-tropic winter.

A DOLLAR GRAFTER.

A puny peon tried to jab the Los Angeles Railway Company yesterday for a dollar. He was unsuccessful. His graft was a little too transparent to undertook to raise his time check.

When asked about the matter last night Claude Chandler of the company had nothing to say, for they considered the affair too trivial to demand any particular attention. They freely admitted, however, that attempted grafting of this sort is frequent among the hundreds of peons employed, every month, on the company's lines. Though densely ignorant, as many of these workmen are, they are wily in the ways of doing and very frequently outwit their cautious American bosses.

One of the most common means attempted to defraud the company is to raise a time check. This is frequently done by the aid of a more or less educated accomplice, and the scheme is successful in direct proportion to the cunning of the penman. It is safe to say that hundreds of dollars are lost every year by local railways in this way. The peons are a careless lot, working today and gone tomorrow.

Because "all peons look alike" to one unacquainted, they frequently draw money on one another's time checks. If one of these sleepy-looking fellows should present himself with a time check and say that his name was José Gonsales, who could dispute him? He might be Jesus Costa or Manuel Hirare, for all anybody could find out. In this way sometimes one man will draw the pay at different times of two or three men. Eventually, however, he is recognized at this sort of graft.

How does he secure the time checks? Well, he finds them, or steals them, or wins them on the gaming table.

"Yes," said one authority last night, "frequently these fellows come to the office for their pay, only to find that somebody else has drawn it in their name. Then there is weeping or wailing or gnashing of teeth, as the case may be.

"But considering the peon workmen as a class and the great number employed in Los Angeles every month, it is remarkable how few difficulties arise in the payment of their wages."

H. K. Worden of the freight department of the Salt Lake road wore a smile as large as the traffic would bear all day yesterday because an eight-and-a-half-pound boy was delivered at his house Thursday night.

J. F. Edwards, for the past seven years Pacific Coast agent of the Frisco system, with headquarters in Los Angeles, has resigned, and in the future will look after private business interests here. He is vice-president of the Linen, Laundry and Supply Company here and interested in several other local concerns. Mr. Edwards states that on January 1 the separate offices of the Frisco system, heretofore maintained on this Coast will be merged with the Rock Island offices, headquarters as the former is now a part of the latter.

BETTERMENT OF SYSTEMS.

HARRIMAN EXPENDS MILLIONS.

The latest reports issued from the Southern Pacific Company indicate that President Harriman meant what he said when he promised the merchants of the Pacific Coast to make the Union and Southern Pacific lines second to none in the world.

Summaries of expenditures indicate that during the past three years $65,603,328 have gone into the Harriman lines. And where and how has this money been expended? Published tables show the following figures under the heading of improvements: Betterments, $35,974,558; changes of lines, $14,533,337; equipment, $26,097,143, making a total of $86,603,038.

The chief railway construction work involved has been what is generally known as the Salt Lake cut-off. Besides this, there is the cut-off on the Coast Line at Chatsworth Park, the removal of steel bridges and steel rails and the purchase of a vast quantity of rolling stock, construction of new rail-

RETTERMENT OF SYSTEMS.

HARRIMAN EXPENDS MILLIONS.

The latest reports issued from the Southern Pacific Company indicate that President Harriman meant what he said when he promised the merging of the Pacific Coast to make the Union and Southern Pacific lines second to none in the world.

Summaries of expenditures indicate that during the past three years $36,000,000 have gone into the Harriman lines. And where and how has this money been expended? Published tables show the following figures under the heading of improvements: Betterments, $25,974,558; changes of lines, $4,338,277; equipment, $36,097,143, making a total of $66,603,935.

The chief railway construction work performed has been what is generally known as the Salt Lake cut-off. Between Ogden, there is the cut-off on the Lucin line at Chatsworth Park, the reduction of steel bridges and steel rails and the purchase of a vast quantity of rolling stock, construction of new railroad sheds, roundhouses and depots. The Ogden and Salt Lake cut-off, which will be completed and over which cars will be running by the first of the year, has cost to date $4,400,143. Over sixty million tons of steel has been put into the lines of the Southern Pacific system, making a continuous string of first-class steel bridges, capable of carrying with the greatest of security, the heaviest rolling stock all the way along the lines from Ashland, Or., to Houston, Tex., and from San Francisco to Ogden.

In the matter of equipment the improvements are of the most satisfactory nature. The new passenger coaches number 245, including 135 modern chair cars, each of the seating capacity of between sixty-four and seventy passengers. New freight cars, numbering 15,614, have been purchased and delivered, an increase of fully 50 per cent. of the freight-car rolling stock. These cars, if strung together, would make one train 128 miles in length, and the 337 new locomotives upon one track would form a line four miles long.

Other features of the general policy for the betterment of the systems are provisions for safeguarding passengers and making travel less tiresome and distasteful. Hundreds of miles of track have been oiled at an original cost of $35 per mile; the block system has been extended, so that leading out of San Francisco there are 279 miles of protected roadbed.

Other betterments within three years include the new steel and brick machine shop at Portland, the new rolling mill, hammer shop and paint shop and other buildings at Sacramento; the machine shop at Ogden, the new yard at Los Angeles, with a brick roundhouse that will accommodate forty-four locomotives. These improvements at Los Angeles are being made for the future of this fast-growing section of the country. The machine shop measures 160x500 feet; the boiler shop, 160x250 feet; car repair shop, 170x200. There are also paint shops, office buildings, material shops, sand houses and other appurtenances, demanded by the growing traffic of that region.

To this expenditure of millions already reported will be added appropriations already made for the work now under way, and not least in appreciation by San Franciscans will be the construction of the new depot at Alameda mole. There is no question but that this is going to be built and built soon. It will cost fully $160,000, according to the projected plans, and will consist of an elaborate frame and steel structure with a steel dome.

"SILK RIBBON DAY."

Auspicious Event for Newsboys Yesterday With Speeches by Mayor and Mr. Hogeland of Curfew Fame.

About seventy-five newsboys were inducted into the delights and mysteries of "Silk Ribbon Day" yesterday morning by Alexander Hogeland, president of the National Curfew Association. This auspicious occasion means to the "newsy," "Be clean, don't smoke, don't shoot craps; attend strictly to business."

The boys under the leadership of Mr. Hogeland met at The Times office at 9 o'clock and marched to the Mayor's office. The band was introduced to Mayor Snyder, who made a brief speech in which he told the boys to be good, and gave them much wholesome advice.

Mr. Hogeland responded on behalf of the "newsies" and in his talk referred to the cases of many prosperous men who began life as paper merchants. He mentioned particularly John G. Brady, Governor of Alaska, who used to be a barefoot newsboy in New York. Mr. Hogeland then pinned a red silk badge on Mayor Snyder and the boys were provied with beauties of various colors donated by local merchants. Three cheers were given for the Mayor, and the boys dispersed.

TO PICK ONE WINNER.

Who Lost on Gardner Think Again.

Is Liked Much Better Than "Young Corbett."

Long on Decision by Umpire—'Frisco Throws Away Opportunity.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Now that the fiasco between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Gardner is a thing of the past, the sporting population has turned its attention to the coming "mill" between Joe Gans, the California favorite, and "Young Corbett" for the lightweight championship.

This afternoon, the picking of the possible winner was the subject introduced for discussion in Harry Corbett's sporting resort. There were more Californians than foreigners present, and the result was the unanimous conclusion that Eddie has stamina, agility and a punch to win for a decision against the next best man in the world.

Corbett has decided to start training at Sheehan's tavern on Ocean View, Mayor Harrison and Corbett will sit down together and talked over the division they are to make of the generous purses tendered to them by the Hayes Valley Club. That each man expects to win was shown in the betting, as he has the victor's end as much as possible. They finally consented, however, to do the fair thing by the loser, and determined to cut the purse up 70 to 30 per cent., respectively.

In addition to receiving a bonus of 30 per cent., Corbett will have his traveling expenses and those of his manager paid from and to the East.

PRESIDIO POLO CLUB HAS EXCELLENT GAME.

GOOD FINE SPORT WITH NOT A POINT GAINED.

Rules of Interference Work and Heavy but Clouds of Dust toy Mar Pleasure—Preparing for Great Polo Meet.

PRESIDIO, Nov. 27.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This afternoon the Riverside Polo Club played an excellent game, three periods at Chemawa between teams were: Whites—Read, Flowers and Lee. Blues—Admayne, Coulson, McVitty and Hall, with Norton as referee. The first period was decidedly interesting, one sided, the Whites scoring two goals and the Reds one. No goals could have been asked for, as afforded in the second period, neither side gained a point. There were fine exhibitions of interference work and the only thing lacking to make the game perfect was the cloud of dust. At times horses and players were almost concealed in the dust which were stirred up by the lively skirmishing. In the third and last period the Reds made two goals, leaving the Whites one goal, leaving the score 3 to 2 in favor of the Whites. Crowds of spectators, including many tourists, enjoyed the sport. After the game tea was served at the club house with Mrs. H. C. Coulson presiding.

The local club is making great preparations for the meeting of the California Polo and Pony Racing Association, which will be held here early in December. This will bring famous players from England, the Sandwich Islands, San Francisco, Santa Barbara and elsewhere.

OAKLAND FINISHES.

MEN RIDES THE MIGHTY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—Close races marked some of the races at Oakland today. The most exciting was the fifth, where The Mighty, Ed. R. and Ananias were noses and noses at the wire. It was the superior weight of Jack Martin that won for the latter.

The five-and-a-half-furlongs event between Shotgun and Kenilworth was marred by a bad start, Shotgun getting away flying, while Kenilworth was off very poorly, his chances being ruined. Shotgun, the favorite, was in the worst going, but finally overhauled Sad Sam and won a head.

Seventh race, purse; Miss Betty, Martin,) 7 to 1, won; Carolan, (D. Hall,) 3 to 5, second; Bischoff, (Hildebrand,) 15 to 1, third; time 1:09½. Miss May Bowdish, Mrs. R. Gottlieben, Ethel Abbott, Mrs. Moalta, Prim Miss and Bonnie Bell finished as named.

Eighth race, selling: Rollick, 104 (Reed,) 15 to 1, won; Aunt Polly, (Hall,) 12 to 5, second; James H., (Ferrell,) 7 to 1 third; time 1:09½. Idago, Orosius, Maresa, Mrs. G. W. Trabern, Nanon and Rosalind finished as named.

Ninth race, one and a half furlongs purse: Shotgun, (J. Martin,) 11 to 10, won; Sad Sam, 119 (Adkins,) 8 to 1, second; Kenilworth, Reeves third; time 2:39½. Kenilworth, Reeves and Sad Sam finished as named.

Tenth race, selling: The Guardsman, (J. Martin,) 6 to 1, won; Monograph, 109 (D. Hall,) 4 to 1, second; Rightful, 107 (Reed,) 9 to 2, third; time 1:48. Red Cross Nurse, Anirad, Ed. Adonso and Doris finished as named.

Eleventh race, forty yards, selling: Last Hope, (Foley,) 7 to 1, won; Anvil, (Reed,) 3 to 1, second; C. B. Campbell, (J. Booker,) 5 to 1, third; time 1:09. Ledus, Iras, Fille de Nuit and No Friend finished as named.

'FRISCO YIELDS TO OAKLAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—The San Francisco team had a chance to capture today's game in the eighth, when they tied the score, but the last of the inning they threw away their opportunity. Three errors and two small hits gave Oakland two runs and the game. Score:

UMPIRE'S GIFT TO BROWNS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 27.—It took eleven innings of fast ball to decide the contest between the Portland Browns and the Senators this afternoon, and the game went to Portland on a poor decision by Umpire Levy on Doyle's daring steal of third base in the tenth inning, as he declared the runner out, although the latter was not touched by the third baseman. McLaughlin's single would have scored Doyle and won the game. Score:

MONARCHS' GREAT GAME.

The Monarch team broke all existing records last night for this season in a local way at the Monarch alleys by bowling the high score, the high game and the high average of the present tournament of the Southern California Bowling Association. A big crowd of enthusiasts watched the performances and lustily cheered the good work.

The play was in the regularly scheduled match between the Monarch and Pasadena teams, and it was the Monarchs all the way, Pasadena never coming within striking distance of winning even one game of the three. The Monarchs started out with 983 and followed with 1041. These scores took all the heart out of Pasadena, and the suburbanites went to the bad 282 pins in the final game. Mackenzie was the star performer of the night, for he made high rolls of 258 and 243, and finished with an average of 229. Little Sammy was right after him with an average of 207 2-3. Pasadena did good work in the first two games, but could do nothing against the fine bowling of the Monarchs. The scores were as follows:

COLISEUM LOST.

The Colisseums and the Christophers had an exciting match at the Coliseum alleys last night which the latter team won by a score of 2790 to 2681. FIFTH BEATING FOR THE SIWASH PLAYERS.

LOCAL MEN BATTED ST. VRAIN HARD AND OFTEN.

Wheeler, Raymond and Mohler Showed How tne Game Should be Presented. Ross and Cravath Led With the Bat. Double Header Sunday.

Los Angeles, 5; Seattle, 2.

It must have been because the umpires up in Seattle are scared half to death of the players and spectators in that town for nothing has ever happened down here to make any one think they could ever shake the flag pole and make the pennant fall into their hands. Five straight beatings and two of these shut outs should be enough to take the chestiness out of any team and it goes without saying that the Siwashes are tolerably limp these sunny days.

They did succeed in winning a lot of games in their home town, but when they get down here where the umpire has an even break for his life things change. It isn't like getting a hit and the opposition club fielder an error on the same drive—and this may be one of the reasons why the Siwashes can't win against the Looloos.

Fifteen hundred fans saw that they couldn't do much yesterday, for Dolly Gray had the most of them on his list and the fielders ate up everything that happened along. The Siwashes might just as well have tried to get the right number on the telephone the first time as to win yesterday, for they apparently didn't have a chance after the locals got their eyes open and settled down to business. And the funny part of it was that Jimmy St. Vrain was doing the pitching, too, and little Jimmy is supposed to be the large part of the works up in Seattle town. Everyone of the locals took a slap at him yesterday, except Dolly Gray, and this is not strange for Dolly always was afraid of hurting the feelings of the pitchers that he goes up against. The others, however, lost no time in slinging Jimmy and this is why he was beaten.

It was a hot, snappy contest all the way through, as the Siwashes are sore about not being able to win a game and fought as hard as they could. It was no use, for every time but twice the locals speared the ball whenever Jimmy handed it over the right place. Cravath and Ross both smacked out three hits and Wheeler and Raymond two each. Cravath made the first run on his double and Ross's single. Arthur went to second on the throw in, to third on Raymond's infield out and scored on Eager's single. In the fifth Hoy and Wheeler singled and Dummy scored on Smith's sacrifice. Then Dillon tripled to the center fence and when the ball was relayed to the infield Dolan made a bad throw to third base and Dillon kept on running to the plate. The last run came on Cravath's second double and hits by Ross and Raymond.

For the Siwashes in the third Lumley singled and stole second and scored on Smith's hit to left field. In the sixth Mohler singled, advanced on C. Smith's pass and scored on infield outs by Brashear and Zinn.

Today's Game.

As a special attraction for today Hall will pitch for Los Angeles and Jay Hughes for Seattle and the Siwashes will try and win with their best pitcher.

In honor of the closing day of the season, which is tomorrow, there will be two games played as on Thursday, the first to begin at 1 o'clock and the other within fifteen minutes after the end of the first. Manager Morley announces positively that barring sickness or accident Corbett and Newton will pitch the Sunday games.

Porters and Company Divided.

It was the Pullman Car Company, and not the Pullman car porters, who made $13,000,000 last year. It may surprise the public to learn that the company gets larger tips and more of them than the men who make up the beds and put stove polish on the passengers' shoes.—[Cincinnati Enquirer.

POMONA-INDIANS WEEK FROM TODAY.

POMONA and the Sherman Indians will in all probability furnish the next big football attraction of the local season.

The managers of both teams have signed an agreement to play a game in this city, December 5, and the entire matter rests upon the securing of Prager Park for that date. William Traeger, the football impresario, stated last night that he had been given verbal assurance that Prager Park would be available, and that he could have it for next Saturday.

The fine showing of the Pomona team in all its games this year has created a keen desire on the part of the local football public to see it in action and the Sherman Indians are already well established as favorites in the hearts of the gridiron fans.

DESPISED MR. MANN FIXED THE BULLY.

CEMETERY IS STARTED WITH BAD MAN AT HACHITA.

John Martin Shot to Death After Terrorizing Town for Weeks—Annual Conclave of Club Women—Mexican and Mistress Commit Suicide.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) Nov. 24.—In the Southwest the typical "bad man" usually "passes in his checks" at the hands of some erroneously despised individual of mild disposition. The rule held good at Hachita, the new town at the junction of the Lordsburg branch and the main line of the Bisbee road. John Martin, the bully of the community, by means of the ready six-shooter, had dominated and terrorized the place for weeks. If he lost money at cards he took it back at the point of the pistol. He tried his system on Harry Mann, who managed to perforate him with four large-sized pistol bullets, thus preparing him to occupy the first grave in Hachita's new cemetery. Hachita is felicitating itself and honoring Mr. Mann.

CLUB WOMEN MEET.

The annual meeting of the Arizona Federation of Women's Clubs was a notable one, both for the quantity of work done and for the attendant social features. Reports showed that about three hundred and fifty women are banded together in Arizona for club work, exclusive of those organized for special aims, such as church and lodge interests, prohibition or female suffrage, features that have no place in the clubs affiliated with the Federation. The following-named were elected officers for the ensuing two-year term: President, Mrs. B. A. Fowler, president of the Woman's Club of Phoenix; vice-president, Mrs. John A. Black, president of the Woman's Club of Tucson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Shirley Christy of Phoenix; recording secretary, Mrs. J. E. Mosher of Bisbee; treasurer, Mrs. W. C. Claypool of Prescott; auditor, Mrs. E. G. Ord of Bisbee; Executive Committeeman-at-large, Mrs. F. N. Guild of Tucson.

RATHBONE SISTERS.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Plough Deep in Debt.

A petition in bankruptcy was filed yesterday in the United States District Court by Henry C. Plough, who gives his liabilities as $1617 and his assets exempt from execution $1000.

Died Without Doctor.

George Walls died yesterday afternoon at No. 790 East Fifteenth street without having had medical attention—supposedly from tuberculosis. He had been ill for some time, but until yesterday his sickness was not sufficient to cause alarm. Suddenly he was seized with a hemorrhage and before a physician could be summoned he died. The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Robert Sharp & Sons and the Coroner notified. An inquest will be held tomorrow.

Broke Both Arms.

The 8-year-old son of Albert Wilcox, who resides on East Twenty-third street, was the victim of a serious accident yesterday. With another boy he was climbing a telephone pole, his chum being above him. The latter missed his hold and fell, striking young Wilcox and knocking him to the ground. In trying to save himself, Wilcox fell with his hands extended and sustained fractures of both arms. He was carried to his home near by, where the fractures were reduced.

Business Properties.

Hughes Bros. of the Central-avenue Planing Mill have purchased of W. I. Hollingsworth twenty-three acres, unimproved, on the east side of Alameda street, about twelve hundred feet south of Ninth street; consideration named, about $42,500, and are said to be preparing to improve the property. Mrs. M. R. Freeman has sold to Andrew Brown, through Bowen & Chamberlin, 75x130 feet on the southeast corner of Fifth and Wall streets, with a frame business building of small value; consideration named, $21,500.

"Supreme Love."

The subject of Francis Murphy at the Blanchard Hall gospel temperance meeting on Sunday evening will be "Supreme Love." The meeting will be presided over by W. S. Selleck, who has just returned from six months spent in Old Mexico. Vocal solos will be rendered by J. W. Eccleston and Miss Blanche Harlan, and the usual number of impromptu features may be looked for. The prayer meeting in the Blanchard building art room on Thursday evening was the largest yet held. More than one hundred persons were in attendance.

Baths in Name Only.

The initial step in a crusade which the police have begun for the purpose of putting out of business the so-called "baths," which have become numerous in down-town roominghouses and which are simply bagnios slightly disguised, began last night when several officers raided the "Loma Baths" at No. 453 South Spring street. Frequent complaints had been made about this place and upon investigation the officers assert that they found that it was only a house of prostitution conducted by a woman who gave the name of "Mrs. M. Lamb." Florence Metcalf, Frances Burke and Clara Miller, inmates of the place, were also arrested. The Lamb woman was required to put up $100 bail and the others $50 each. They will be charged with vagrancy.

What "Reform" Unearthed.

The present "reform" administration made strange discoveries when it set to work; among others, that "a man was not even permitted to die in peace in the hospital to which he had originally been taken, but was transferred under one pretext or another, when once his case had been pronounced fatal, to some other institution, in order that the statistics of his first place of refuge might show a low death rate; even when he was dead his friends were not allowed to choose the undertaker who should embalm and bury him. There was an association for purposes of mutual profits between a certain number of undertakers and the employés in the city hospitals. Upon the death of an inmate a member of the association was informed, who would immediately call upon the relatives of the deceased. If the undertaker could not make a satisfactory arrangement with the relatives, the death certificate was put into his possession, and in nine cases out of ten, the fact that he had the certificate was accepted as proof that he had been duly authorized by the relatives to take charge of the body and to bury it. If the relatives held out for a rival, the certificate was returned, but only upon payment for alleged services rendered. In the case of veterans in war, for whose burial the city makes an appropriation of $35, the undertaker, after exacting payment of funeral services from relatives of the deceased, was in the habit of collecting the $35." Truly, there was need of reform.—[Everybody's Magazine.

Some men beat everything except the carpets—they let their wives do that. But the one thing that they can't beat is the snap and swing of a Brauer-Krohn overcoat. They can't, because the Brauer & Krohn garment workers can't be beat. It takes tailors of talent to endow an overcoat with soldierly shoulders, tight-clinging collar and a regally roomy back that won't flop around like a Mother Hubbard. It takes conscientious tailoring to make those qualities permanent in an overcoat. It takes just $30 of your money to get such an overcoat made from some of the most handsome Meltons scissors ever snipped. Don't forget to order that holiday suit.

TO EDUCATE THE FILIPINO.

First Teachers to Set Out from Los Angeles.

Two Young Men Assigned to Duty by Insular Department.

Took Civil Service Examinations and Have Received Appointments.

Los Angeles is soon to add two of its brightest young men to the Southern California contingent working in the reconstruction of the Philippines. These two are Adam C. Derkum, prominent in social life and as a member of some of the literary clubs of the city, and a clerk in Station C of the city postoffice; and Lewis Carrigan, a young attorney, who is at present engaged in the law offices of Charles McFarland in the American Bank building.

Yesterday Messrs. Derkum and Carrigan received from the insular Department notification that they had been assigned to teaching for the Philippines, and that they were to report for duty as soon as possible. They will sail from San Francisco December 30, and will remain at least two years in our eastern possessions.

and 20, at which time the government desired to secure at least 150 teachers to go to the islands. They passed with a high percentage, and have simply been waiting their certification and orders to start for their new fields of labor. They will report at Manila, and beyond that have no idea as to what part of the island territory they may be sent to "teach the young idea how to shoot."

Dr. Derkum received his education in Los Angeles, and is a graduate of St. Vincent's College of the class of '97, receiving at that time the degree of Bachelor of Arts. In 1900 Mr. Derkum took a post graduate course, and received the degree of Bachelor of Science.

His connection with societies of the city is extensive. He is one of the charter members of the Newman Club, a member of the Mariposa Club, the Knights of Columbus, the Young Men's Institute; past president of the Young Men's Sodality of St. Vincent's Church, and secretary of the County Federation of Catholic Societies. He is a member of the choir of St. Agnes Church, and is vice-president of the local branch of the Postoffice Clerks' Association. Mr. Derkum will be remembered by the members of the Pacific Coast Lyceum League as vice-president and president of this association several years ago. He is now the president of the Philosophian Literary Society.

Lewis Carrigan is a graduate of the University of Southern California. For ten years he has been engaged in educational work, and held several important principalships in Iowa city schools. While principal of the schools of Newmark, Iowa, he held the honor of being the youngest school principal in that State. He has spent three years here, and recently took up the study of law. For some time he was a teacher in the Williams Business College at Pomona.

TO DISINTER BODY OF CEYLON YOUTH.

MORMONS CLAIM HIM AS ONE OF THEIR OWN.

Want to Hold Funeral Services and Send the Remains Back to Ceylon. That Big Diamond Proves to be Worth Four Dollars.

The body of the Ceylon boy, Retna Sena Nayaka, who died friendless in a Pasadena sanatorium, having been cut off by his noble family for embracing Christianity, may be sent back to the home of his childhood for burial.

Yesterday Rev. T. E. Williams, pastor of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints (Mormon), and Robert T. Cooper, a member of that sect, who had entertained the unfortunate Ceylon youth in his former home in Chicago, concluded their investigations as to his identity, and they are satisfied that he was a member of their church. They have taken up the matter, and it is probable that the parents of Nayaka will be cabled today as to the disposition to be made of the body.

An effort was made to have Public Administrator McGarvin order the embalming of the body, so that it would be in condition to ship if the parents desired to have their son laid to rest in the old home. Although there appears to have been ample funds left by the deceased, Mr. McGarvin refuses to assume this responsibility, and the brethren of the church to which the Ceylon man gave his allegiance feel that they should not have to assume the burden.

The body has been interred in the Mountain View Cemetery, and the statement was made yesterday by Reynolds & Van Nuys, the undertakers in charge, that it would be possible, even by Monday, to disinter the body and prepare it for shipment to Ceylon, if the parents so desired. The developments of today will determine whether any further action will be taken.

It was the desire of the Los Angeles branch of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints to hold a funeral service over the remains, and they will put do so if the body is removed from the grave for embalming.

More papers found yesterday among the effects of young Nayaka show that he traveled with a company of oriental painists. The impression gained from an old notebook that he knew very little of the science may have been wrong.

It has been decided not to hire a permanent guard to watch the enormous diamond ring found in Retna's trunk. It seems no longer to be necessary. The bill of sale of the diamond has been found. It is of the brand technically known as a "twenty year luster," and, with the heavy setting, is valued (or was when new) at $4.65.

ONE DAY'S STEALINGS.

Detectives Notified of Several Jobs by Sneak Thieves in Various Parts of the City.

During the temporary absence of the family of R. B. Condit from their home, No. 1420 West Forty-first street, Thursday afternoon, burglars forced open a window and stole about three dozen silver spoons of various sizes.

A sneak thief entered the house of George W. Rice, No. 311 New High street, and departed with a camera, a silver medal and a breastpin, the whole valued at less than $50. No person saw the thief.

Z. D. Whalen of No. 231 South Hill street is poorer to the amount of several dollars by reason of a visit of a burglar to his room yesterday. The thief searched the place and took a purse containing $21 and a gold watch. The purse was afterward found with a $10 gold piece in it, which the thief had overlooked.

E. W. Chaney of No. 416 East Ninth street tied his horse at Seventh and Spring streets yesterday and a moment later two men untied it and drove off.

While the family of Mrs. B. Scheuble of No. 1016 Blaine street was calling upon a neighbor Thursday evening, a burglar broke open one of the rear windows and ransacked the place. He failed to find where the family bank roll was secreted and secured only 50 cents and a few small articles of jewelry. Then the burglar scaled the back fence and entered Mr. McLaughlin's house, fronting on Overton street, but was frightened away.

An Awful Thought.

COLISEUM PEOPLE BUCK BOXING LAW.

THE anti-boxing ordinance recently passed by the Council is to receive a test at the hands of the club which precipitated it.

The Coliseum Athletic Association has a clubhouse on its hands at the west end of the Third-street tunnel. As a convention hall it is not a very valuable piece of property. As a boxing pavilion, the original intention, it is of even less use at present.

The scheme is to comply with the law in letter. The Coliseum Athletic Association will turn into an "athletic club" with 1200 or 1500 members, will issue tickets of membership, and will then pull off its contests, admitting only "members." Just what restrictions will be placed upon membership the directors are not as yet able to say. Gloves of the legal size will be used; the contests will be conducted along club lines, and the State law will be adhered to absolutely.

Some time this week the directors of the club will ask the City Clerk for a permit for a boxing contest to be held some time next month. This will, of course, be refused. The scheme is then to proceed along the private club lines, duly incorporating. The directors are advised by their attorney that such a course can be taken without violating the letter of the law.

With a membership limited it would be impossible for the venture to prove profitable, unless a great number of contests, say one a week, as was the Chicago rule, were pulled off.

On the face of it the proposition is a fake, and the outcome will probably be a fizzle.

BELL STEALS HIS CHILD.

Little Boy Kidnaped by His Demented Father.

Mother Fears Violence Will Be Done to the Lad.

The six-year-old son of Mrs. Ed Traversy, the divorced wife of Albert Bell, was kidnaped yesterday afternoon, presumably by the child's depraved, and possibly demented, father. Although the alarm was given within an hour after the kidnaping took place, and the police have scoured the city in search of the missing child, no trace of the little fellow or the alleged kidnaper was found up to midnight.

It is feared that motives of revenge, more than filial affection, prompted the abduction, and the mother is almost distracted with the fear that serious harm will befall the child if he remains long in the father's custody. Bell is addicted to the opium habit and there is no telling what he may do to, or with, the little boy before his hiding place is discovered.

Albert Bell, the supposed abductor, is a scapegrace son of Maj. Horace Bell, and the escapades of the young man have formed many chapters in local police history. Although wayward from his youth and a graduate of the Whittier reform school, he managed to ingratiate himself into the favor of a comely and respectable young woman, with a little property in her own right, and much to her subsequent regret, she became his bride. Several children resulted from the union, but on more than one occasion Mrs. Bell had to go to the police to seek protection from her husband's brutality. He was frequently arrested for minor infractions of the law, but the faithful wife stood by him and endured his abuse, until he was finally arraigned in court on a felony charge for having passed bogus checks. He avoided the penitentiary by pleading insanity, and on this plea he was acquitted of the criminal charge and committed to the asylum at Highland.

Soon after Bell's incarceration in the insane asylum, Mrs. Bell applied for and secured a decree of divorce. At the expiration of the legal time she married Ed Traversy, a barkeeper employed in a saloon at Fifth and Spring streets. She, of course, retained the custody of her children.

A few weeks ago Bell was discharged from the hospital as cured. He immediately returned to Los Angeles and began to haunt the home of his former wife, at No. 1044 East Twenty-second street. His little six-year-old son was overjoyed to see his father, whom he recognized, and Bell had no trouble in meeting and conversing with the boy. One or two meetings between the father and son are known to have taken place, and yesterday afternoon, when Mrs. Bell missed the little chap, she jumped at once to the conclusion that he had been coaxed away by her former husband.

She telephoned at once to her husband, asking him to come home. It was not until Traversy reached the house that the police were notified, and by that time Bell had had an hour or more in which to secrete both himself and the boy. It was reported to the police that Bell since his release has been freely using morphine, and it is feared by the mother that he may administer the opiate to his son. Officers searched every place where they thought Bell was likely to be last night, but without result. He is known to have come uptown with the child on a street car, but where he went the officers have been unable to discover.

STABBED HIS ASSAILANT.

John Ely, aged 21, is suffering from a severe knife wound in the back received in a fight which resulted from his efforts to bully a number of smaller boys and break up a ball game which they were playing. Because Frank Huff resented the actions of the older boy, Ely attacked him and was beating him severely when the little fellow, while down, drew his knife and stuck the blade into his assailant's back.

The fight occurred in the flat east of the Boyle Heights hill on First street. Ely tried to stop the game and Huff told him to go about his business. Ely then attacked Huff and was beating him when the stabbing occurred. At first it was supposed that the wound was serious and the wounded youth was taken to the home of Dr. George W. Campbell, where he remained all night. The matter was reported to the detectives, but upon investigation the officers refused to make an arrest without a warrant, because their investigation convinced them that young Huff had acted in self-defense.

YOUNG "VETS" HARK BACK.

Fifth Semi-Annual Reunion of the Southern California Volunteers Association at Armory Hall Last Night.

Old comradeship was renewed by over one hundred members of the California Volunteers' Association of the Seventh Regiment at Armory Hall last night. A bountifully-laden mess table, the bugle calls, the stands of arms and colors, the stories of camp life that are five years old, but still relished, and the programme replete with reminiscences, gave a color to the evening's enjoyment that savored of the old times when the Seventh was quartered at the Presidio and every member was straining his imagination to take in the real thing in soldiering across the ocean.

It was the fifth semi-annual reunion of the organization. It speaks well for the bond of memory that more men turned out than ever before. Everything was spontaneous; the programme was made up half an hour before it was sprung, and the kitchen force at the mess table while the "spieling" was at its height.

In discussing what was for the best good of the order during the short business meeting, Lieut.-Col. Schreiber like the real soldier, predicted war in the not far distant future and encouraged his comrades to be ready when the call to arms should sound. He said some of the boys thought they had enough of war in the camp life in San Francisco, but he believed they would be ready for the genuine article should occasion arise. Gen. Frank Prescott in an address of welcome exhorted the men to be true to the National Guard and work their level best for its interests. He made a plea for those who had severed their connection with the Seventh to reaffiliate for their own betterment and for the good of the regiment.

The remainder of the programme was as follows: "Star Spangled Banner," by the association; address, Col. John R. Berry; balancing feats, E. C. Weed; stump speech, Comrade Bishop; xylophone solo, Leo Adolph; drum solo, Robert Burns; vocal, Ray Conley.

A reception and military ball will be tendered Brig.-Gen. Robert Wankowski on the night of December 14 in honor of his appointment as commander of the First Brigade, N.G.C. The affair will be under the direction of Co. F, Seventh Regiment. All of the uniformed orders of the city are expected to be present in full regalia.

"ROTTEN SCHOOL BOARD," SAYS SUNSET SPEAKER.

PRESIDENT ELLIS THINKS WOMEN SHOULD NOT VOTE.

Schools and Politics Discussed at the Meeting of the Sunset Club Last Night—Sentiment in Favor of Women on Board of Education.

The Sunset Club held one of its periodical meetings last night at Levy's, the intellectual part of the programme having been preceded by the usual feast.

There was much good cheer and fellowship on tap at the dinner and when it came to the formal part of the proceedings, all listened intently to the papers presented—that of President Ellis of the Board of Education coming in for the most criticism, direct and indirect.

The subject before the club was "Our Schools, and How to Keep Them Out of Politics." The principal papers covering the various phases of the subject were read by Supt. of Schools Foshay, Judge N. P. Conrey of the Superior Court, and Dr. H. Bert Ellis, president of the Board of Education.

Dr. Ellis took occasion to touch upon the woman-suffrage question. He said: "The franchise is too broad now and should be cut down instead of widened out." He also thought that the executive ability required in the purchase of sites and in erecting buildings could not be found in women. He advocated reducing the number of members of the board and electing them from the city at large; the election of the superintendent by the board, and the centralization in him of the appointment and dismissal of teachers.

Dr. Walter A. Edwards, president of Throop Polytechnic Institute, in discussing the subject said that he feared the family is failing to do its part toward shaping the character of the young and delegating entirely too much to the school.

Charles Cassatt Davis, ex-president of the Board of Education, advocated a longer term for the members at large, and the payment of a small salary in order that proper men might be secured.

"There is no reason," he said, "why women should not be represented on the Board of Education," and he won applause when he said it. The Sunsetters appeared to be in favor of the women by a large majority.

Dr. W. LeMoyne Wills, an ex-member of the Board of Education, sent some hot shot at Dr. Ellis and the Board of Education. He said:

"I wish to resent the slurs cast at the women by Dr. Ellis. The women give a great deal more time and attention to the schools than the men do; if they didn't, God pity the schools!

"Mrs. Hughes made one of the best school directors this city ever had, and she and I made it hot for some of the boodlers.

"Now, the reason the school board of this town is so rotten is because it is looked upon as a stepping-stone to the Council; or if the people get tired being bored by some fellow and don't know what else to do with him they put him on the Board of Education. That's the way I got there, and I remember that the second time I got there by only two votes."

CAUGHT IN THE NORTH.

Former Street Railway Employee for Whom Officers Have Long Been Searching, Jailed in San Francisco.

James W. Lytton, who is wanted in this city on a charge of felony embezzlement, was arrested yesterday in San Francisco and Sheriff White was notified. A deputy sheriff left last night for that city to bring back the prisoner. The circumstances are such that it is considered doubtful whether the accused will be prosecuted.

Lytton was formerly an employé of the Pacific Electric Railway Company, and in order to be near his work, which was on the Pasadena line, moved with his wife to Pasadena. There the couple quarreled and Lytton returned to Los Angeles and from the home of his wife's mother he secured a number of diamonds and fine articles of clothing, altogether valued at between $500 and $600, and then left the city. He was not heard from for many weeks, and his deserted wife on June 9 swore to a complaint for felony embezzlement against him. A few weeks ago he wrote to her from Seattle asking her to forgive him and take him back, but she refused. Then she heard that he was in San Francisco and notified the Sheriff.

Almost Lived There.

During a recent burglary epidemic a police superintendent one night made a tour of inspection through the burglarized district.

Considerably after midnight he saw a young man emerge noiselessly from a substantial homestead, and went after him.

"Did you just come out of that corner house?" the superintendent asked, overhauling him.

The young man, while of respectable appearance, was plainly ill at ease and confused.

"I did," he said.

"Do you live there?" demanded the superintendent.

"Well, almost," was the embarrassed answer. "But I can't see that it's any of your business—anyway, as long as her father doesn't object."—[Spare Moments.

ANNEXATION OF CAHUENGA.

Valley People Determined to Join Los Angeles.

Boundaries Approved and Canvass Started Last Night.

Three Square Miles and Two Thousand People Included. Meetings Called.

The heart of the Cahuenga Valley—containing about three square miles and 2000 people—has determined to become part of Greater Los Angeles.

Last night two hundred representative citizens from various parts of the territory voted unanimously in favor of joining the city, and businesslike steps were taken to accomplish the end just as soon as possible.

This is one of the most notable annexation movements in the history of Los Angeles, and it is also remarkable in many respects. Definite steps on the proposition were first taken only last Sunday, but its popularity proved of instantaneous growth. So strong and general has been the sentiment that last night, at the second meeting, the vote was unanimous for the move. Minor problems in the matter faded before the unanimous will for annexation, and work was organized and begun with a will. It is a perfectly safe prediction that this rich area will be a part of the city just as soon as the residents are able to accomplish it.

THE BOUNDARIES.

Though the original movement contemplated annexation by Los Angeles of but about 500 acres, because it seemed the only solution of a perplexing water question, the annexation spirit has spread during the past two days over a territory amounting to over three square miles, or approximately 2000 acres. The greater district now proposed for annexation includes several little suburban settlements and a beautiful, fertile tract already well populated and growing fast.

The territory, roughly speaking, lies between Hollywood and the western city limits of Los Angeles. Its annexation would "square up" the city, moving the western boundary line just three miles farther west, so that it would be in line with the limit line clear to the southwestern corner of the city, carrying the western line of Los Angeles beyond Colegrove, with Hollywood bounded on the south and east by the city limits of Los Angeles. An important feature of the movement is that the boundaries of the proposed addition extend northward clear to the edge of Griffith Park, and this would serve to create the first connection of the city with its big outlying park property. It is said development of Griffith Park has been made impossible by the fact that no road could be built to it over city boundaries, and the present movement wipes out this gap of county land, and extends a strip over a mile wide from the city limits to the irregular southern boundary of the park.

The five principal centers of population, although the whole territory is beauteous with orange groves, improved in many parts with good streets and curbs, beside being well settled up and growing very rapidly, are Colegrove, Cahuenga, Melrose, Los Feliz and the Holly tract.

The precise boundaries may be marked out on a city map including the Western Addition, and are as follows: On the north, the southern edge of Griffith Park and the city of Hollywood; on the south, Wilshire boulevard; on the east, the present limits of Los Angeles, formed for most of the distance by Vermont avenue and Hoover street; on the west, a straight line running 250 feet west of and parallel to Seward avenue.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

These boundaries were unanimously approved at the meeting held last night in the Melrose schoolhouse on Vermont avenue, which was attended by prominent residents of the various sections affected to the number of over two hundred.

This remarkable meeting was the outgrowth of a movement begun by the residents of the Melrose corner only last Sunday. The people had been startled to receive notice from the West Side Water Company, which is fighting the city in the courts for its corporate life, that their water would be shut off the first of the year. If the city was awarded possession of the West Side Company's water the people saw no way to get water but by annexation to the city, and so in response to a call issued Sunday they met Tuesday night in the Melrose schoolhouse. They were surprised to find that word of the annexation meeting had spread far and wide, and it was attended by many from points three miles from the city limits. These outsiders also were confronted by the desperate water question, and they made urgent requests that they be allowed to join in the annexation movement. A committee was appointed, representing all sections, and charged with canvassing the question of proper boundaries and reporting to the meeting of last night. The result was that last night the three square miles, was found knocking to be admitted to the city, instead of the original 500 acres at Melrose.

Melrose Schoolhouse was packed to the doors last night. It was a businesslike assemblage, and apparently dominated by the one idea of solving the water question by entering Los Angeles. J. J. Jones presided, and one after another the citizens spoke on the question, all pledging the support of their respective communities. Committees were appointed in each one of the four districts, charged to canvass their sections and hold meetings during the coming week. All sections will combine in another general meeting in the Melrose Schoolhouse next Friday evening, when reports will be made of the result of the district meetings, giving definite figures as to how the voters stand on the question. No district is to be taken into the movement against its will, that the general movement may not be jeopardized. At next Friday's meeting a definite knowledge of the sentiment will be known, and final action taken.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

This morning complaints will be issued against twelve wholesale liquor dealers against whom evidence was obtained by the police a short time ago.

Ed Drowden, an incorrigible who was brought out here from West Virginia to get a new chance in life, has gone to the bad again.

AT THE CITY HALL.

TO ISSUE COMPLAINTS AGAINST LIQUOR MEN.

ARRESTS WILL PROBABLY BE MADE SOME TIME TODAY.

Police Court Will Take up the Grind of License Cases if the City Authorities so Wish—Hope of a Quick Supreme Court Decision Abandoned.

This morning complaints will be issued for the twelve wholesale liquor dealers against whom evidence of selling whisky without a license has been obtained by the police. Prosecuting Attorney Bebee stated yesterday that complaints have never been refused by his office, but that he advised delay in their issuance on account of the crowded state of the Police Court docket, and the expectation that the Supreme Court would render a decision in the Braun case.

It is stated that the Police Court justices have declared their willingness to do whatever the city authorities think best concerning the prosecution of the 150 cases now pending. Undoubtedly the city would be put to a considerable expense if all these cases were tried and appealed to the Supreme Court. For this reason, it is said, the police justices have been reluctant to commence the grind. However, the city is now losing $7000 a month in licenses that remain uncollected, and it is believed that the active prosecution of the pending cases will have a wholesome effect.

Councilman Kern of the Finance Committee has been investigating the collection of licenses, and other members of the legislative body show a disposition to order an investigation unless something is done at once.

Hope of a decision in the contested Braun case has apparently been abandoned for the present, although the exact reason for this state of mind is not known. Presumably attorneys in the case have received an intimation from the Supreme Court that a decision cannot be expected for some time.

Councilman Nofsiger is dissatisfied with the existing status of license collection, and he discussed the matter earnestly with City Attorney Mathews yesterday. As a result of the conference it was determined that the complaints against the wholesale dealers should issue immediately.

Some of the cases now pending will be set for trial within a day or two, it is said, and an effort made to clear the docket of the great grist of cases. Other arrests will be made and a determined effort made by the city authorities to enforce the license ordinance.

DRUGGISTS' LICENSE.

M'ALEER HAS DECIDED VIEWS.

The rumor was current around the City Hall yesterday that the Council would repeal the $60 liquor license on drug stores at the Monday session. As far as could be ascertained there is no foundation whatever for the report. It apparently arose from statements made by Councilman McAleer, who has very decided views regarding the sale of liquor by drug stores.

"The Council cannot take any action at this time," stated the First Warder yesterday. "If we try to change the license ordinance now we are almost certain to weaken our case before the Supreme Court. I have always been in favor of curtailing the right to sell liquor. In the early conferences on the ordinance I argued in favor of placing a license of $100 on each saloon, and forbidding the druggist and the grocer to sell liquor. I believe that would be the better way. I was voted down in conference, but I have not changed my views.

"In the event that the contested license case goes against the city I shall favor revoking the drug store liquor license altogether. If the ordinance is upheld and the drug stores in town are allowed to sell liquor for $60 I shall favor a very reasonable license for the saloons."

There is every prospect that the ordinance increasing the saloon license from $60 to $75 will pass the Council Monday by a decisive vote. Opposition to the ordinance seems practically dead. There is scarcely a doubt that twenty-five patrolmen will be added to the police department by an equally large vote.

Public Works Discussed.

Next Monday the Board of Public Works will recommend to the Council that North Main street between Commercial and Alameda street be paved. This recommendation was made in pursuance of a report from the Board of Health that sanitary reasons demanded the paving of the street.

Action on C. A. Sumner's franchise application on West Tenth street was postponed another week.

New Health Inspector.

The Council's Finance Committee decided yesterday that another health inspector should be appointed. The Board of Health recently reported recommending that the force be increased. Nick Querola, who stands highest on the civil-service list, will probably get the position.

SAYS HE WAS ROBBED.

W. M. Fair Lost His Money After a Sumptuous Thanksgiving Dinner Which Rendered Him Unable to Walk.

W. M. Fair, whose home is at No. 4425 Central avenue, appeared at police headquarters yesterday and stated that he wanted somebody arrested, but he did not know who. He said he had been robbed of $75.50 on Thanksgiving Day by supposed friends, who were engaged in the rather difficult task of taking him home.

According to his story he had been invited to the house of Nick Thomar to partake of a Thanksgiving feast. There was turkey and all the "trimmin's," among them a copious supply of liquids which were stronger than coffee. Fair imbibed freely and then forgot everything except that a number of his friends started to take him home. When he came to his senses he missed his money and jumped to the conclusion that the liquor had been drugged and that he had been robbed by those who had accompanied him. Who they were he could not say, but the detectives are now trying to ascertain for him.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

GOT A CHANCE BUT COULDN'T BE GOOD.

BOY WEPT IN COURT OVER HIS OWN CUSSEDNESS.

Officer of West Virginia Reform School Brought Ed Drowden Out Here to Begin a New Life, But He Grew Worse Than Before.

He had been a bad boy in West Virginia and was sent to the reform school. One of the officers of the school, Mr. Meyers, decided to move to California and, being interested in the boy's case, offered to bring him out here where he could have a new start. He had no father and mother and it didn't seem as though he had ever really had a square deal.

When he arrived here, the air of virtue was not in the climate as far as he was concerned. He soon became worse than ever.

It was almost funny in court yesterday for the boy wept bitterly over his own fall and begged to be sent back to the reform school in West Virginia. He seemed to feel that there is no use of his trying to be good anywhere.

SHORT ROMANCE.

EIGHT DAYS' MARRIAGE.

The eight days' marriage of Maude Bentley ended in a divorce yesterday, her husband being plaintiff.

His name is W. H. Bentley. He told Judge Smith a queer story.

He said that he renewed an old acquaintance with the woman, during the Christian Endeavorers' convention out here in 1901. After three days they were married. In eight days of married life, the lady found that she had been mistaken in believing Bentley to have lots of money and she straightway and without romance left him. He is a carpenter, considerably older than she.

COURT NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

DESERTION. William Hill was divorced from Anastacia Hill in Judge York's court yesterday on the ground of desertion.

PAID HIS FINE. W. H. Morris has paid his fine of $500 for attempted jury bribery. He was the juror in Judge Trask's court who offered to sell his vote in a civil case for $25. He pleaded guilty and the court took his years and his serious ill health into consideration in allowing him to escape State's prison.

WON'T TELL HIS NAME. The queerest chap who has been in the County Jail for a long time was locked up yesterday to serve a sentence from Lancaster. A hobo, he turned out to be a sailor just released from the Marine Hospital; this was learned by accident. The queer thing about him is that he will not tell his name, where he comes from, where he is going or a single fact about his affairs. The records of the jail in his case will have to be an absolute blank.

TOOK JEWELRY. A Whittier candidate in the person of a black girl named Mary Scott came before Judge Wilbur yesterday. She has no father nor mother and has been at work on Toberman street. Some time ago, she stole some valuable jewelry from the house, but was allowed time to give it back instead of being arrested. She did not show sufficient enthusiasm about finding it and has been keeping bad company. Action on the case was deferred in order that her grandparents might be brought into court.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

SCOFIELD'S WIFE PRODUCED THE GOLD.

HUBBY CONVICTED OF ASSAULTING LADY ON STREET.

Acknowledged that He is the Man, but Says He Was Drunk and Accidentally Staggered Against the Lady—Attorney Blair is Getting on.

The pretty young wife of Eugene Scofield, about to become a mother, sat by the side of her husband in the Police Court yesterday when he was convicted of battery. She seemed strangely free from nervousness under the circumstances, but the sequel was discovered in a pocket well filled with gold coin, later on.

Scofield was convicted of battery on complaint of Mrs. Mary Louise Waters, whom, it will be remembered, he grabbed at Eleventh and Main streets on Monday night. Mrs. White testified that Scofield threw his arms around her and held her "tight as he could," while she fought and screamed for release.

Scofield was the only witness in his own behalf. He testified that he had been drinking on Monday and had taken a car to Westlake Park. Then in hope of sobering up he started to walk back to his home, which is at Pico street and Maple avenue.

He explained that the walk wearied him to such an extent that he felt the urgent need of a bracer, and drank a glass of beer and one of whisky before he reached the down-town section; then he topped off with a glass of buttermilk. If that story is true it is small wonder that his stomach rebelled at such a swill-barrel mixture, and went entirely back on him at Eleventh and Main streets.

Arriving at that point, Scofield says he got sick and stepped under a tree to eject the tormenting mixture, but discovering two ladies walking by, he undertook to pass them and staggered against them. He was sufficiently sober to scent trouble with the police, so attempted to run away in order to escape arrest, but was caught before he had gone far.

Mrs. Waters said the man staggered toward her, but the policeman says he was not drunk, and both say that he was a good sprinter that night.

Justice Chambers pronounced him guilty and fined him $75. His wife smilingly produced a purse from which the amount was taken in gold, leaving a goodly nest of the yellow metal where the other came from.

Scofield said on the stand that his right name is Eugene Scofield, but that he had gone under the name of Murphy. He also said that he had no special calling, but had driven a milk-wagon in San Francisco and a stage at San Bernardino. They have lived in Los Angeles but a couple months and he has done nothing while here. The detectives say that questionable correspondence was found on his person when he was arrested, and he will be watched.

Blair Has White Client.

There was a great turn-out of crap-shooters at the Police Court yesterday. Five "culled gemmen" and one white man had been arrested for engaging in a game of craps at a resort down on Los Angeles street, and all their acquaintances were in court to see and hear.

Attorney Blair, the "colored Moses," who recently made his appearance here, and a very bright fellow, handled the cases and had them all postponed for trial on Monday. The defendants are John Brown, charged with conducting a gambling house, and W. M. Carroll, George Wilson, John Warren, W. E. Wilkerson and G. G. Stewart, charged with gambling.

Stewart is a white man and the first one in the city to be defended by a colored lawyer.

Picking's Graft.

W. H. Picking had a little graft all his own. He carried in his pocket a small pad of paper which was a duplicatet of the kind used in a cheap restaurant. He would order his dinner, get his check from the waiter and then make out one to suit himself on the paper he carried in his pocket.

He was convicted before Justice Chambers yesterday and fined $15. At last accounts he had not paid the fine he had $80 on his person when arrested but had given somebody an order for the money.

MRS. SHEWARD STILL MISSING.

Various Theories Broached as to Her Fate, Including Suicide—Husband Almost Crazy With Anxiety.

Although peace officers in almost every town in this part of the State searched all day yesterday for Mrs. J. T. Sheward, who disappeared from her home on West Adams street Wednesday afternoon while demented, not the slightest trace of her has been found.

Mr. Sheward had not slept for more than forty-eight hours last night and had spent the day in the search. He was almost beside himself with worry and fatigue but insisted upon keeping up the hunt. He was unable to add any theories to those already published and could only say that he had no news of his wife and would gladly pay any amount within his means for any information concerning her. Her relatives now fear that she may have taken her own life and that her body will be found in some secluded spot or washed up by the waves of the ocean. Their hope is that she has started to join one of her brothers, one of whom resides in El Paso and the other at Congress, Ariz. Both of them have been notified by wire of her disappearance but replied that they have seen nothing of her. Mrs. Sheward had more than $100 when she left home and the fact that she took this amount leads to the belief that she may have left the city intending to travel to some distant point, but that is only a theory. The condition of her mind was such that she may have gone as far as her money would take her without having any particular destination in view.

HANDSOME GOWNS AND BRILLIANT SCENE.

AL MALAIKAH BALL A NOTEWORTHY SOCIAL FUNCTION.

Arab Patrol Distinguished Itself in Faultless Evolution of the Drill and Grimy Pavilion Was Transformed Into Bower—Music by Full Band.

Al Malaikah's Arab Patrol performed again at Hazard's Pavilion last evening. There were drills of all sorts, marches, countermarches, squads, platoons, fours, threes, two singles, ups, downs, Greek crosses, criss-crosses, and even double crosses—of the harmless variety—all executed with faultless precision. The twenty-four men under command of Perry Widener, in full dress suits, with white vests, presented a drill that called forth spontaneous applause.

There was no question about the success of the ball. It was a brilliant, well-attended function, and the grand march, led by Mrs. Frank Rader and Louis Vetter, trailed in its rythmic retinue 225 couples, all in evening dress. The gowns were stunning.

The bare old pavilion, always ugly, was so nearly transformed into a pretty bower last night that it almost forgot itself. A white canvas floor allowed the dancers to glide smoothly through the mazes of waltzes and two-steps. Effective, though simple, decorations of flags, banners and bunting concealed the rafters and grimy walls. The stage was well lighted, and its scenic accessories were used to lend charm to the building.

At one side, the long annex was partly draped off into a square, dainty room, with walls of white and red. Here small tables were set, with accompaniment of snowy linen and glittering silver, and a red-shaded candelabra glowing softly in the center of each cloth as a final touch. In the intermission refreshments were served here.

Last year the orchestra secured by the Executive Committee for the ball could not be heard above the rustling of innumerable skirts and the sliding of hundreds of pairs of feet. This time those in charge made preparation for this by employing the full force of the Catalina Marine Band. This aggregation is just of the right proportion to furnish music of good carrying quality in Hazard's, and its time-beat could be heard distinctly through the liveliest measures of the "light fantastic."

Society's beaux and belles were out in force last night, and, socially considered, the affair was one of the events of the season.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 27.—Colby N. Thomas and Charles R. Brown of Nogales, Ariz., and John K. Thomas of Imperial, have brought suit against the California Development Company and Imperial Land Company, No. 1, claiming $25,000 damages for alleged violation of contract. The plaintiffs say they sowed wheat and barley on certain acreage and before the crop was matured the defendant companies failed to supply sufficient water for irrigation, and that later in the season great damage was done the crop through the cutting of a storage dam, which resulted in overflowing the ditches and allowing the water to sweep across the land.

"David's Charge to Solomon."—[1 Chron. xxviii, 1-10.

THE CONNECTION.

Our last historical lesson gave an account of the sorrow of David over the death of Absalom. This shows him presenting Solomon to the people as his successor. Meantime what has happened? David returned to Jerusalem and reunited all his subjects, even those who had supported Absalom in his rebellion. He was soon startled by another rebellion, that of his son, Adonijah, the oldest living son. This David acted with something of his old-time energy, speedily suppressed the rebellion and proclaimed and anointed Solomon as King in his stead. Solomon was God's choice as well as David's. This is his last public appearance. From this time he will be merely an adviser. He is decrepit and prematurely old—only 70, yet broken down. Exposure in his early wanderings, sorrow over his sins and over his family troubles, and the strain of public duties are the cause of his decline.

He is ready to give it into the hands of Solomon, for God has chosen the young man; he is wise and trustworthy, very different from all the other sons of David; David's work is done and he is very anxious to see his plans for a temple carried out. All his plans are made, the materials are gathered and workmen are preparing all things for the glorious building; Nathan has made known God's choice of Solomon to build the house, and David has organized a musical and religious service. The account we have is taken from the book of Chronicles, a series of diaries of events viewed from the religious standpoint.

THE LESSON.

I.

"David Assembles the People and Explains." (Verses 1-7.)

(1.) And David assembled all the princes of Israel, the princes of the tribes, and the captains of the companies that served the King by course, and the captains of thousands, and the captains of hundreds, and the rulers over all the substance and possessions of the King and his sons, with the officers, and the mighty men, even all the mighty men of valor, unto Jerusalem. (2.) Then David, the King, stood up upon his feet, and said, hear me, my brethren, and my people; as for me, it was in my heart to build a house of rest for the ark of the covenant of Jehovah, and for the footstool of our God; and I had made ready for the building. (3.) But God said unto me, Thou shalt not build a house for my name, because thou art a man of war, and hast shed blood. (4.) Howbeit Jehovah, the God of Israel, chose me out of all the house of my father to be King over Israel forever, for he hath chosen Judah to be prince; and in the house of Judah, the house of my father, and among the sons of my father He took pleasure in me to make me King over all Israel; (5) and of all my sons (for Jehovah hath given me many sons,) he hath chosen Solomon, my son, to sit upon the throne of the kingdom of Jehovah over Israel. (6.) And He said unto me, Solomon, thy son, he shall build my house and my courts; for I have chosen him to be my son, and I will be his father. (7.) And I will establish his kingdom forever, if he be constant to do my commandments and mine ordinances, as at this day.

(1) The assembly. This is his farewell address to the people and to Solomon after abdicating the throne (the latter. (xxiii. 1.) He was glad to get rid of care, especially since he had such confidence in his son, and could see his dreams for a temple so near to fulfillment. As already stated, he had everything ready, material for the temple, choirs well trained, a site selected on Mt. Moniah, where God had accepted his sacrifice and stayed the plague and where Abraham had offered Isaac upon the altar, a master mind ready to take hold of the enterprise. The one dream of his declining years, David thought of nothing else. In this assembly he wishes to attach the people to Solomon as King and arouse their enthusiasm for the holy enterprise.

The assembly was representative, including all the officials from highest to lowest, civil and military, with the principal and important individuals. It was chosen wisely, for they would carry all the nation with them. They were sympathetic, for many of them had been associated with him in his glorious days, and all would feel the weight of his words as they listened to the voice of the feeble old man as to a voice from the grave. Their interest was more deeply aroused by the humble position he took in standing up to say something of tragic importance. Princes kings and teachers usually sit while speaking. They were still more stirred by his calling them brethren. No other oriental monarch had such limitations put on him, and it was the beginning of popular government in the world. And no other monarch was apt to feel toward his subjects as brothers.

(3) His explanation concerning himself. It all grew out of his desire to build the temple. He takes them into his confidence and tells them that he has long desired to honor and glorify God with a place of rest for the ark of the covenant and for His feet. Heaven is thought of as God's throne, while earth is His footstool. Then he frankly tells why God had refused to let him build it. Usually men won victories through the power of their gods they built temples and other memorials with the entire approval of those gods. Not so with David's God. He wants a man of peace to erect the building which should be a place where God and man could meet in peace and a symbol of God himself when God comes to make of his dwelling place. His real temple is the normal condition of peace and is to become the permanent condition of state. Besides, David was not to build. While war was going on, the builders would not have been safe while carrying on wars the people would not have been able to give undivided thought and energy to the enterprise of building as would have been required.

Though refused, he was given compensation that satisfied him that God had a definite plan in it all, for He chose Judah out of all the tribes, the house of Jesse out of all the families and David out of all of the sons of Jesse; that God would grant his desire to build Him an earthly residence and would guarantee wonderful blessings to his family.

(4.) His explanation concerning Solomon. It was that God had chosen him as King; that his throne should be established forever, meaning a spiritual perpetuation in Jesus. Christ David's greater son;" that Solomon should build a house just as God wanted it; that God had entered into a special and tender relation to him as father to son. There was one reason, namely, that Solomon should keep within the commandments already given and accept God's special judgments on events and duties as they should come up.

II.

"David Exhorts the People." (Verse 8.)

(8.) Now, therefore, in the sight of all Israel, the assembly of Jehovah, and in the audience of our God, observe and seek out all the commandments of Jehovah your God; that ye may possess this good land, and leave it for an inheritance to your children after you forever."

Their present blessings were conditioned on their obedient loyalty and so were the blessings of Solomon's reign. It was to be an energetic obedience. They were to seek out and study into all God's commandments, for fear of missing something or doing wrong. Not only they but their children as well were involved. The injunction stands good for today and an open Bible invites men to search for guidance and for God's will. Both king and people must be faithful.

III.

"David Exhorts Solomon." (Verses 9-10.)

"(9.) And thou, Solomon, my son, know thou the God of thy father, and serve him with a perfect heart and with a willing mind; for Jehovah searcheth all hearts, and understandeth all the imaginations of the thoughts; if thou seek Him He will be found of thee; but if thou forsake Him He will cast thee off forever. (10.) Take heed now; for Jehovah has chosen thee to build a house for the sanctuary; be strong, and do it."

It was necessary to the fulfillment of David's purposes and of God's will that Solomon should conform to these instructions. He must serve God—not recognise Him alone as a great being, but serve Him as the supreme father and master. That service must be intelligent—"Know thou." It must be undivided—"with a perfect heart," a heart that is complete in its attachments and worships God alone. It must be voluntary with "a willing mind." To know God—that is first and that will win the whole heart and free will. Service must be intelligent, undivided, voluntary. The reason given is that God knows a man all through, not only what he says and does, but what he thinks of and even what he imagines without putting it into words. He must not forsake God, for God is just, as well as merciful, and will cast him off. He must build a house and the motive that will be most mighty with him at that time is that God has chosen him to do it. Other things are said that we have not space to discuss. It was a great day for David and Solomon and the people.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Deep must have been the feelings of David's heart as he presided for the last time over the assembly of people; and with mingled emotions they must have looked on the fragile form of him who had been so long identified with their national history, and on the intelligent countenance of the youth at his side who was so soon to add new luster to their renown.—[W. M. Taylor.

Solomon was the child of an old man and such children are usually precocious, self-conscious and old-fashioned. Very often they are early wise and overwise. Solomon seems to have taken his hereditary bodily qualities from David and his mental gifts and moral qualities from Bathsheba. It has been put in this way: From David Solomon took thoughtfulness, literary tastes, poetical genius and practical skill in ruling men. From Bathsheba Solomon took sagacity, quickness of judgment, judicial insight. —[Tuck.

This lesson suggests the dependence of the world on partnerships. A man's duty is not merely to do some work for God and the world, but to train some one who can carry it on after he is gone. And even while a man still lives, is he big enough to carry on a great work alone? The great works are done by the coöperation of many people. As we look about us, how few important businesses are managed by a single head. It was a great thing to get a house built for the worship of God by the people, and all the more because the Hebrews were not great builders. It took the working together not only of three kings, but of two generations. David must prepare, Hiram must cut timber, Solomon must build. —[Brand.

TRUTHS TO IMPRESS.

(2.) That what we build for God lasts.

(3.) That we must secure the coöperation of the strongest men in God's service.

(4.) That we can enlist others when we are first enlisted ourselves.

(5.) That we must conform to God's plans and not expect Him to conform to ours.

(6.) That a constant effort to know God will secure constant devotion to Him.

(7.) That all God's promises to us are conditional.

(8.) That the people as well as their leaders must be true.

Terse Comments on the Uniform Prayer-meeting Topic of the Christian Endeavor Societies, the Baptist Young People's Unions, etc., for November 29: "A Mission Study of India."—[Zach. viii, 1-7.

By William T. Ellis

India, although less than half the size of the United States, has a population three times as great. Two-thirds of the people are Hindus, and 60,000,000 are Mohammedans. Only about 1,000,000 are nominal Christians, and one-half of these are Roman Catholics. India is considered the strongest Mohammedan country in the world.

India is one of the earliest fields where Christian missions were planted. William Carey, often called "the father of modern missions," was the pioneer English missionary in India. The son of a weaver, and himself a cobbler, he became so imbued with missionary zeal that he overcame the obstacles of poverty and ignorance, fitting himself for his life work by studying as he worked at his bench. In 1793 he was assigned to India by the English Missionary Association as its first representative. After a few years' residence in India his knowledge of the native languages obtained for him a professorship in the college at Calcutta where he worked for thirty years. He translated the Bible into twenty-four of the dialects of India. For forty years, this "consecrated cobbler," as he had been called in ridicule, labored for the people of India.

Owing to the numerous invasions and migrations which have occurred in India, the people present a complexity of race and language which greatly magnifies the missionary problem. More than two hundred distinct dialects are spoken in the Indian empire.

The institution of caste, which is perhaps the greatest single influence in the life of India, is one of the most serious obstacles to the progress of Christianity there. To "break caste" requires genuine heroism. The convert who accepts Christianity is likely to be made an outcast from his family and from all his former business and social relations. The arbitrary social distinctions of caste separate the people into four classes—the Brahmans, the military and mercantile classes, and the Pariahs or outcasts. The life and person of a Brahman are protected by severe laws. The executive government is vested in the militia, while among the mercantile class is to be found the practical knowledge of the life and affairs of the country. By them trade is carried on, and the soil cultivated. Lowest of all, the Pariahs must serve the superior classes. The condition may never be improved, and their life is one of utter submission. Even the touch of a Pariah is supposed to bring pollution to one of high caste. By common consent among the missionaries, caste receives no recognition in the Christian church.

The condition of woman in India, among the lower classes, is but little better than that of a slave. Either as wife or widow, she is denied all right to liberty and happiness. Even among the high-caste families the position of the man is supreme, and woman is subject to his dictates. The life of the child widows and its awfulness is familiar to all reading persons.

The first missionaries sent out from America to India were the pioneers, Adoniram Judson and Samuel Newell. These were two of the six students of Williams College who formed the first missionary organization in America, holding their initial meeting under a haystack. There these young men dedicated their lives to missionary service. The outgrowth of this small beginning was the organization of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

During recent years India has suffered severely from the scourge of famine and plague, and the Christian nations of the world have manifested their Christianity by carrying substantial aid to the stricken and the starving people. Industrial schools for orphan children, hospitals and dispensaries, homes for the child widows and Y.M.C.A. work among the students and young men in the great cities are some of the modern practical forms of missionary effort.

SEEKING AND FINDING.

Comments on the Epworth League topic for November 29: "The Use of Prayer."—[Luke x. 2; Heb. iv, 16; James iv, 8; Col. i, 9.

When we ask for God's guidance we should be prepared to travel over strange and stony ways.

No one can truly pray for another's needs without himself helping to answer that petition.

Made Hash in Court.

Cora Johnson, a cook in the employ of Mrs. Margaret Cox of Montclair, N. J., was discharged a few days ago, and when her mistress refused to pay her a month's wages the girl brought suit to recover the amount in Justice Darlington's court.

Mrs. Cox declared in court that the girl could not make corned-beef hash. The girl replied that she could beat the world in making that dish.

"Well, Cora," said Justice Darlington, "I would like to see you prove your case."

FIGHT FOR VALUABLE KERN RIVER PROPERTY.

WILSON OIL COMPANY CALLS SECOND ROUND.

Standard Oil Company Closes Pipe Line Against Heavy Crude of Kern River—Active Operators of Fullerton Field Report Progress.

Through the office of Anderson & Anderson, attorneys, of this city, and Anderson & Kaye of Bakersfield, suits have been filed in behalf of the Wilson Oil Company of Los Angeles against the Kern River Mutual Oil Company. The plaintiff hopes to recover possession of certain property in the Kern River field now held by the defendant corporation.

These suits, two in all, are sequels to those which were brought some months ago and which were decided in favor of the defendants by the Superior Court. The new actions are, however, based upon more recent, alleged, violations of the lease contract.

These actions are interesting in that the property involved is producing territory in the heart of the Kern River field. It is situated in the southeast and southwest quarters of the northwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 4, 29, 28. The southwest quarter in the same section is held by the Famosa Oil Company and the southeast quarter by the Kern River Mutual Oil Company.

The hearing will be held at Bakersfield.

STANDARD PIPE LINE CLOSED.

An announcement has been made by the Standard Oil Company that will be of interest to Kern River oil producers. It is to the effect that the company is about to shut down its long line to Point Richmond, so far as the heavy crude is concerned.

The shutdown, however, will only be temporary and will effect the line from Bakersfield to Mendota south. It is the intention to use the line to ship Coalinga oil. At present the standard has ample heavy oil at Point Richmond, but is in need of the light product, such as can be obtained from the Coalinga district. As the expense of hauling from that field to the Point Richmond refinery is considerable, transportation costs can be greatly reduced by adopting the plan proposed.

ACTIVE WORKERS AT FULLERTON.

The Columbia Oil Company is erecting several large-size dwelling-houses on the property leased from the Union Oil Company, and a camp will be made on the properties as soon as possible, as considerable time is lost in going from one lease to the other.

The Santa Fé company has rig No. 42 almost completed and as soon as the necessary machinery is placed in position, drilling operations will begin. This rig is practically set in a brea bed and it will be watched with much interest to see what the results will be under such indications. Drilling is going on at No. 37, but not at a very rapid rate; it is anticipated that it will go better when at a greater depth. Considerable trouble was encountered on account of a few old wells that had had been drilled near by and in which several strings of casing were left when drilling operations were abandoned. Well No. 16 is drilling fairly well, and good indications are appearing every day in the sand strata, but little oil is apparent at the surface owing to the fact that considerable water is carried in the hole to counteract the oil and gas pressure. Drilling in the light-oil territory is gradually going on and one is expected to be put on the pump soon, oil in this section being about 35 gravity.

COOPERAGE PLANT BURNED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 27.—Late last night a fire at the Sunset oil field destroyed the cooperage plant of the Consolidated California Oil Fields Company's refinery. The loss is $6000. All the machinery and two carloads of material just received were destroyed.

POETRY.

William Watson.

FOR ENGLAND. By William Watson. John Lane, New York.

William Watson is one of the poets of whom Archer writes so charmingly in "The Poets of the Younger Generation." Of him the essayist says: "Pregnant, resonant, memorable lines flow inexhaustibly from his pen; and some of them, I venture to predict, will live with the language," and the critic continues, "while dignity, perspecialty and measure are still recognized among the high qualities of song, Mr. Watson's will be accounted a landmark of sense and style in an age 'so apt to go astray in labyrinths of eccentricity, obscurity and excess.'"

The present little collection of poems amply justifies the words that we have quoted and no one will deny that the work presented by Mr Watson has all the qualities that Mr. Archer ascribes to it. There will be not a few who will disagree with the views of our author for he upholds the pro-Boer—a term, though, which the poet repudiates—side of the South African controversy. Nevertheless the poems upon the subject of the Boer War that are given in the present volume will for one cause or another win the admiration of all lovers of verse. They will be held as mistaken in tone, in application, in their general premises. The anti-Boer partisans substitute other subjects for those of Mr. Watson and will read and appreciate the verses as amended. The pro-Boer will hold them as powerful arguments for the losing cause. We may, however, divest our mind of conflict of opinion and regard the poems not as arguments for or against the cause for which the Dutch in South Africa struggled but simply as specimens of verse of high quality. We will by so doing enjoy their many beauties of thought and form. The work begins with "The Enemy," one of the best of specimens of Watson's work. It runs:

"Unskilled in Letters, and in Arts unversed;
Ignorant of empire; bounded in their view
By the lone billowing veldt, where they upgrew
Amid great silences; as people nursed
Apart—the far-sown seed of them that erst
Not Alva's sword could tame; now blindly hurled

Crazed, if you will; demented, not to yield
Ere all be lost! And yet it seems to me
They fought as noblest Englishmen did use
To fight, for freedom; and no Briton he,
Who to such valor in a desperate field
A knightly salutation can refuse.

This poem is characteristic of Watson. We mark in its lines most of those elements that have won for his poetry the commendation of the judicious. The poem "Lenlency" that stands among a score as fine, is a worthy answer to the sanguinary verses of Kipling.

Too little havoc marks our path;

The unseated God of War requires."

Blind to all signs that ask men's gaze!
In vain by lips of foe or friend

Blind beyond cure! Despoil and burn;
And let the children's children learn
To hate us with the hate of hell.

From whatsoever taint remain
Of lingering justice in our heart,
Purge us; erase the poor last stain

And thrust the human spirit back
Into the night, into the night.

We find several quatrains which we much desire to quote, but we are forced to limit ourselves to one, but that is the best. It is entitled "The Tragic Change."

To follow Truth was yesterday
To England's heart the surest way,
Follow her now, and thou shalt share

A Literary Satire.

There are few things more irritating to the practiced reader than to find that his author has in some way gotten hold of a most admirable central idea and at the same time is utterly incapable of developing it. It is intensely provoking to read on, page after page, looking always for the ray of light which is to shine through the darkness, and which could be so brilliant, and yet to find always the darkness persisting. The writer who is unable to appreciate and develop the opportunity which has been offered him by fortune is far more wearisome to the spirit than he who has never had a glimpse of the possibility being interesting or brilliant.

This is the case with the book which lies before us, entitled "The Literary Guillotine." The author—doubtlessly justifiably in this case—has taken refuge from the anger of his victims in anonymity, though a guess might be made at his identity. The idea of the book is the formation of a literary tribunal before which are to be tried for various literary crimes many of the popular authors of the day, the trials being conducted in due form of law and the whole proceeding being carried on with a mock seriousness which lends itself to the best effects. This is a capital idea, and gives almost unending vista of excellent result; but the result is not there. The author brings before the tribunal such writers as Richard Harding Davis, Hall Caine, Marie Corelli, Winston Churchill, Irving Bacheller, John Kendrick Bangs, and equally well-known purveyors of so-called literature; but when he takes up his parable we find little else than stale puns and stained parody. Yet the opportunity for genuine satire was simply infinite; think, for example, what Dean Swift would have made of such a plan. But the author of "The Literary Guillotine" is no Dean Swift; and even if that be too much to expect from any writer of our day, it must still be said that the majority of the humorists whom he attempts to satirize could have written a far better book, given the central idea as coming to them. Even John Kendrick Bangs could have done better.

The one redeeming spot in the wilderness of dullness is the trial of Mary Baker G. Eddy on complaint of Henry James for having stolen the latter's patent of sententia obscura, or the formation of obscure sentences. Even here, where the opportunity in itself almost insured success, there is entirely too much cheap talk of souvenir spoons and "strictly cash" proceedings on the part of the "Mother;" but still the article is fairly readable, and some of the sentences cited are in themselves of excellent jest. But the rest of the book is terribly dreary; and that this must be said of a work whose central idea is one that in its own nature is almost compulsive of admirable result is witness how utterly the writer failed to appreciate his opportunity and how devoid he is of the qualities needed to make the best of it.

A good literary satire is a rare thing—in these days, almost an unknown thing; and the present book does not tend to prove the rule. But as we read it we could but mourn that the plan had not occurred to one capable of bringing it at least to the height easily gained by it. It is the more provoking that the writer of the "Literary Guillotine"—if our guess at his identity be not mistaken—has done capital work in this field; but his present book is the flattest of failures. And yet it wanted so little to be one of the brightest of successes!

FICTION.

An American Girl.

THE DOWAGER COUNTESS AND THE AMERICAN GIRL. By Lilian Bell. Harper & Bros., New York.

This is a clever little sketch; it really does not amount to more. We have read it with not a little interest and with occasional regret. But it is bright and sparkling from beginning to end. We believe that it would dramatise well. Perhaps we were guilty of an indiscretion in saying that. But there are so many scenes highly amusing from a dramatic point of view that it seems to have the stage as a forcibility in view. The malignity of the Countess Dowager and her friend and abettor, Lady Chatersea, has the true stage flavor. The catastrophe is highly melodramatic. The incidents are at times tragic, as the death of Mayhew, and then again highly comic as in the appearance of the young sisters-in-law of the heroine. The style is not very polished. There is a rough and readiness about it that does not attract for its own sake. There is a rather bitter spirit of Anglophobia running through it. Or perhaps we should say that the picture that is here given of English society represents such a minute fragment, if any part at all, of that little world, that it cannot be taken as representative. We think that at times the author in the exuberance of her fancy has allowed herself to lay on the color with what might be called a rather broad brush. The story never flags. The reader may be provoked at times at the lack of concealment of the termination. But for the effrontery of the author in her handling of her theme a good deal is pardoned. There is one very brilliant passage in the book, an encounter between the American girl, who, by the way, is a representative of the South, and a benevolent bishop of the Established church. The American, it is hardly necessary to say, is made to have the best of the argument. Her position is based to a large degree, we believe, upon misunderstanding misinformation and prejudice, but we cannot but concede that she holds a position better than that which her Rt. Rev. antagonist held. On the whole the book will be a pleasant traveling companion. But it is written with no serious purpose except to show that a very superior American girl is made in a finer mold than a very inferior class of British aristocrats. But this no one ever doubted, and would be admitted by any unprejudiced person. It would have been better to have taken representatives from the same class in both nations.

The Politician in Fiction.

THE BOSS. By Alfred Henry Lewis. A. S. Barnes & Co., New York.

A book purporting to give the inner life of some great political party must be interesting reading, especially when handled by an author who uses his materials as does Alfred Henry Lewis. It will interest but it will not surprise, as the public has made up its mind that corruption is to be found wherever a political party has a successful foothold.

The writer has handled his subject well, painting his pictures with the proper pigments—neither too vivid nor too somber, and they stand out well against the background.

The details of the primaries, the election, the franchise "grafts," make good reading, and bear evidence of fundamental facts as a basis. Cunning, diplomacy, bravado and brute force are held up to the reader as the tools the boss uses towards his ends.

The bold, resourceful character of the boss is well drawn. His masterful manner of meeting huge obstacles as matters of course and his utterly unscrupulous method of conquering them stand out in bold relief. He thunders out commands like an emperor and stoops like a conspirator and he—succeeds.

He is the typical political boss, photographed by a cunning hand and the picture is worth looking at, until we come to the end of his career when the question occurs to the reader, did it pay?

The other characters are worthy of the book. Big John Kennedy has his counterpart in many cities and some of his remarks are epigrammatic. "Never fight 'till you have to, and never fight for fun," and "Politics is like a street car, stay with it only while it goes your way," are rather disillusioning as to loyalty, but politically they are sound as is the remark "A great partisan can never be a great boss." Morton, the dapper, well-dressed franchise dealer, and Bronson, the zealous reformer, dazed when the immensity of his field is held up to him, are evidently life studies.

It is a book that will repay a careful reading and the quiet humor that runs through it gives a zest that cannot fail to add to the relish of the repast.

Riding Stories.

In nine cases out of ten—and the tenth is hard to discover—it is the height of folly to attempt to repeat an experiment which has succeeded, if such experiment be dependent for success upon personal qualities or abilities in the experimenter. If at your first shot you make a bull's eye, look modest but conscious, as if the thing were a matter of every-day occurrence, and steadfastly refuse to have another try; so shall your reputation as a peerless shot be great in the land. This, however, is a lesson that few writers learn, until too late to be of profit to them; and one of those who evidently did not learn it until the time of profiting thereby was past is David Gray, the author of "Gallops 2," which is with us for review. In the book called "Gallops" Mr. Gray made a decided hit. It was a small collection of short stories, all having to do with a certain "horsey" community, entitled by the bishop of the diocese "The Parish of S. Thomas Equinus." The stories were full of genuine humor and made exceedingly pleasant reading, especially for those learned in sporting matters, yet not fanatics thereanent. So Mr. Gray hit the bull's eye at his first attempt; but unfortunately he could not rest content with his success, and now he has made his second shot with a book in all ways—save one—similar to his former work, even retaining the name so as to connect the two books, and and having a cover which in color and design is exactly similar to that which adorned the first installment of the stories. But the exception which we note is one of exceeding importance, for it is that of humor. There is in "Gallops 2" one story, and only one, that is worthy as a companion to those contained in "Gallops 1," as we suppose the first book must now be called. "Isabella," the story to which we refer, is really a capital bit of foeling, but the rest of the sketches are rather dreary. It is entirely evident that "Gallops 1" was written with ease and pleasure, "Gallops 2" with toil and with the design of self-imitation; and the result is what might have been expected.

However, we do not mean to condemn the book, save by comparison. Measured by the standard of "Gallops 1" it is a flat failure; but taken upon its own merits it has some claim to praise. Not enthusiastic praise at the best; but still the book is above the average of such attempts. "Ting-a-ling," for instance, is a story that is rather pathetic in a way and is well told; the pathos may be a little cheap and not very original, but it is there. But throughout the book is visible strain; it is quite evident that the author, in his determination to repeat the success which he had made, deliberately set himself to be funny and pathetic, with the usual result. All is artificial; there is no spontaneity. In extenuation, it must be remembered that Mr. Gray had but a limited field, and one soon worked to barrenness, from which to glean; but it was his error that he did not recognise this fact and be content to have garnered the best that was possible in the field and not so avid of further success as to be blinded to the difference between corn and chaff.

So we cannot commend the book, except for the sake of the one story which we have praised; yet we can say of it that it may appeal to some lovers of the horse and at least set them to reading its predecessor. If it does this, it will have been of some service in the giving of pleasure, of which its own meed is but small.

A Clever Romance.

BLOUNT OF BRECKENHOW. By Beulah Marie Dix. Macmillan Co., New York.

In "Blount of Breckenhow," the latest story from the pen of Beulah Marie Dix, published by the Macmillan Company, we have another of those historical romances, which may count among its ancestry the names of Weyman, Castle, Churchill and Major, and this is in no sense an accusation of lack of originality on the part of the author, merely an indication of the school of fiction to which "Blount of Breckenhow" belongs. There is far less "clash of sword and ring of steel" than might be expected, considering the fact that the story is laid in the seventeenth century, and moves across a background of the "Great Rebellion." There is a plentiful lack of adventure, but, then, the story does not purport to be anything more than "the domestic chronicle of a Yorktown family, who are far more interested in their own doings, than in the course of national affairs." It is told entirely in the form of letters, medium beloved of authors since the days of "Humphrey Clinker" and the great "Sir Charles."

It is always a rather difficult task to present convincingly a character by means of his letters, and, in this, it seems to us, Miss Dix has in a great measure succeeded.

"Blount of Breckenhow" is the pathetic love story of a gentleman of old family, who has fallen upon evil fortunes and who enlists as a common soldier in the troop of one Rowlestone, an officer in the King's army. His love for the good and beautiful wife of his captain, his silent devotion to her and the final sacrifice of his own good name to save the honor of the unworthy Rowlestone, is the motif of the story.

It ends happily or not, as the reader chooses to think, and in the telling of the tale Miss Dix has given an excellent picture of family life in those troublous times. She has succeeded admirably in reproducing the tone of thought and the language of the day in these letters of the Rowlestone family, so that we do not feel the story they tell is merely "love in old clothes," or a modern love story translated into old English.

The Gibson book this year suffers somewhat in comparison with that of last autumn, which contained some of the cleverest and most characteristic work that Mr. Gibson has done. Still, the volume shows some delightful sketches, including "The Weaker Sex" series, which has proved a great favorite. There are some other fine studies in love, perhaps the best of which is the drawing of the luckless youth who is seated at table between two pairs of lovers and in consequence reduced to crumbling the bread for amusement. "The Greatest Game in the World," the automobile accident—"All Broken Up"—and "Her Face and Her Fortune," are among the others. Some of the best of Mr. Gibson's work are his studies of older faces, of which a number of excellent illustrations may be found in this volume.

A very handsome gift for musical people is the two-volume collection of the love stories of famous composers. The books are well written and should be interesting to the general reader; while as a psychological study they are distinctly of scientific value.

Hamilton Wright Mabies's "Backgrounds of Literature" is one of the choicest of the Christmas publications. The "backgrounds" described and pictured are seven, the Lake country of Wordsworth, Emerson's Concord, the Washington Irving Country," Weimar, which is studied as the scene of much of Goethe's works, "The Land of Lorna Doone," "Whitman's America" and "The Land of Scott." These backgrounds are studied by Mr. Mabie not merely as figuring in the literary writers, but as personal environments, playing an important part in the unfolding of their genius. The book is beautifully written, and the publishers have put it in handsome print and binding. The illustrations, too, are exceptionally fine.

A companion volume to the last, in subject, is Mr. Harkins's second series of "Little Journeys Among the Men Who Have Written Famous Books." From a literary point of view, however, it is on quite another plane from that of Mr. Mabie's book; it resembles, rather, the work of the newspaper interviewer—while you become, through it, measurably well acquainted with the personality of the people described, the descriptions cannot themselves rank as ..erature.

An excellent gift book for one who has, as yet, no volume of general poetical selections is Revell's collection of "Poems You Ought to Know." While comparatively small (the book contains 233 pages) the selection made by Mrs. Beattie is excellent, and the price very moderate. The book is tastefully illustrated.

Of somewhat similar import is Charles Josselyn's "My Private Bookshelf"—a volume of short selections from favorite prose writers. The quotations range from Addison, Goldsmith, Bacon, Pascal and Rousseau to such moderns as Huxley, Tyndall and David Starr Jordan. The book is an artistic piece of work typographically.

Miscellaneous Books.

THE ROMANCE OF OLD NEW ENGLAND CHURCHES. By Mary C. Crawford. L. C. Page & Co., Boston. (Price $1.50 net. For sale by C. C. Parker, Los Angeles.)

GARDENS OF THE CARIBBEES. By Ida M. H. Starr. L. C. Page & Co., Boston. (For sale by C. C. Parker, Los Angeles.)

PLAYS I HAVE SEEN. Dodd, Mead & Co., Boston. (Price $1.50 net. For sale by C. C. Parker, Los Angeles.)

A beautiful book of serious import is Hugh Black's "volume on the religion, the responsibility, the beauty, and the recompense of work." Mr. Black takes for his mottoes the verse of the Talmud, "Not thine to complete the work; yet neither art thou free to lay it down;" and Ruskin's words, "There is a working class—strong and happy—among both rich and poor; there is an idle class—weak, wicked and miserable—among both rich and poor." The book is one of scholarly workmanship and high ideals, and the publishers have given it an appropriate, severe but handsome, cover and beautiful typographical form.

Of the "Little Journeys" series, and uniform in size and cover design with the "Little Journeys to the Homes of Men Who Have Written Famous Books," is Mary C. Crawford's "Romance of Old New England Churches."

As a piece of literary work, however, the book will stand much higher than the other. The author has searched the records and made excellent selection of interesting material from the early days of New England, when family and church ties were strongly interwoven; and her stories are told with sympathy and graphic force.

Ida M. H. Starr's two-volume history of her travels in the West Indies ("Gardens of the Caribbees") is a fairly-interesting piece of work, containing some good sketches of native life. Like too many others of the books of travel, however, it gives far too much space to inconsiderable, unimportant doings of the author and her friends, which the general public is likely to find wearisome.

Dodd, Mead & Co. have carried out an excellent idea in their "Plays I Have Seen"—a book arranged for memoranda of the theater. The pages have blank spaces for title, author, theater and date of the play, the names of the persons in company, with whom it was seen, the noted persons who were present, and the general attendance; with larger spaces for entry of plot, songs, hits and general comment. The book is bound in green silk.

For Young People.

TROUBADOUR TALES. By Evaleen Stein. The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis.

This book would make an admirable gift for children of musical talent, 10 to 15 years old. The stories are four in number—tales of heart and imagination, simply and naturally told. They are stories breathing high moral ideals and artistic devotion.

THE NEW WIZARD OF OZ. By L. Frank Baum. The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis.

THE MAGICAL MONARCH OF MO. By L. Frank Baum. The Bobbs-Merrill Company, Indianapolis.

THE GOLDENROD FAIRY BOOK. By Esther Singleton. Dodd, Mead & Co., New York. (Price $2.00 net. For sale by C. C. Parker.)

Walt McDougall has made a unique place for himself in child literature. It chanced that one day Mr. McDougall, as artist of the Philadelphia North American, accompanied one of the paper's summer excursions for children of the poor to the seashore, and there, for the entertainment of the little ones, gave rein to his imagination in a wonderful, whimsical tale of a remarkable beast whose image he drew to the awed and fearful delight of his auditors. The tale, with the illustration, was published in the North American, and great was its success—so great that Mr. McDougall was asked to write another story of the same sort; and then another; and soon found it to his profit to devote his entire attention to this kind of work. His "Rambilicus Book" is a collection of these tales. His animals are much more interesting than those of orthodox zoology, and the adventures of his small heroes and heroines are of absorbing interest to the little people and vastly amusing to older people. Mr. McDougall believes that an imagination was made for use and that one should have the courage of it; i. e., if one is to depart from the cold, unsatisfactory region of fact into that of pleasant fiction, there is no logical reason for setting any bounds whatever to creative genius, but, on the contrary, one might as well appropriate the entire universe and reconstruct it to one's liking. His work would completely satisfy those readers who demand that all stories shall have a pleasant ending; and withal, it is full of excellent morals, full of humor and pathos between the lines, and of deep observation of human nature in general and child nature in particular. "The Rambilicus Book" for Christmas will delight any child.

L. Frank Baum's "Wonderful Wizard of Oz," which proved a well-selling book last Christmas season, is reprinted, this season, under the title "The New Wizard of Oz," with additional illustrations. Mr. Baum has also two new books of fairy tales on the market—"The Magical Monarch of Mo" and "The Enchanted Island of Yew." The new stories are better than those of the earlier book, and have a pretty fancy and whimsical humor.

The Outlook Fairy Book is a collection of wholesome and pretty tales selected from the best German and French sources, with one Italian and one Spanish tale, an Irish legend and a Scotch ballad. The selection is excellent, and the form the publishers have given the book very attractive. There is no better Christmas gift book of the kind.

A similar book, in still handsomer dress, is "The Goldenrod Fairy Book." In this the selections are from a wide field—including Hindu, Polish, Danish, Russian and Bohemian, as well as German, French, Spanish and Italian tales.

Artistic Work.

LAUREL LEAVES FOR LITTLE FOLK. Edited, illustrated and decorated by Mary E. Phillips. Lee & Shepard, Boston.

CHATTERBOX. Dana Estes & Co., Boston.

In one of the most beautiful of the Christmas books for children the entire art work is by Miss Mary E. Phillips, who is well known in California and Los Angeles, and who has also illustrated such books as Rand & McNally's editions of "Water Babies," "Romola" and "Lorna Doone." The book is a collection of choice selections, prose and verse, with portraits of authors, and bits of biography. The illustrations and decorations are very artistic, and the book, as a whole, makes a beautiful gift.

"The Songs of the Trees" is a collection of songs about the trees, with short readings in prose on the same subject. The book is prettily published.

The bound volume of "Chatterbox" remains a pleasing gift for the young people. Lovers of nature will appreciate some of the animal stories and studies of plant and animal life that this year's issue contains.

SCIENCE.

REPORT OF THE U. S. NATIONAL MUSEUM, under the direction of the Smithsonian Institution, for the year ending June 30, 1901. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

Perhaps of especial interest to this section of the country is, in this volume, the elaborately illustrated report of archeological work in Arizona, by Walter Hough, assistant curator of the department of anthropology. The report is very thorough and valuable. A large part of the volume is given up to anthropology. William Henry Holmes, head curator of the department, contributing an important paper on flint implements and fossil remains found in a sulphur spring at Afton, I. T., and a second paper giving a scheme for an arrangement of an anthropological museum—a scheme which is being put in operation at the National Museum. Joseph Beal Steere gives an account of a visit to the Indian tribes of the Perus River, in Brazil, and the rest of the volume is taken up with an account of the exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, and with reports of additions to collections, work done, etc. There is a bibliography covering over twenty pages.

NATURE.

By Rev. William Long.

A LITTLE BROTHER TO THE BEAR. By William J. Long. Illustrated by Charles Copeland. Ginn & Co., Boston. (Price, $1.50 net.)

Rev. William J. Long begins his new book with a characteristic story of a bear killed in a deadfall, whose mate was found rocking the dead body to and fro in his paws and moaning. Mr. Long reports the story as told him by an Indian, it is true, but unless he feels that it is probably true, it has no claim to a place in his book. This is the sort of story that John Burroughs has so vigorously criticised—with every apparent reason, and there are other stories equally improbable in the book. But without regard to the rank of Mr. Long's stories as supposed records of fact, the average reader who is himself a lover of animals, will make another criticism—that Mr. Long's books do not read true in their feeling. His sympathy for animals, strongly expressed as it often is, impresses one about as does the attempted merry laugh of the amateur actor; it is so amazingly studied and forced that one is filled with a horrified wonder that its author cannot himself distinguish the falseness of its tones. It is impossible to commend Mr. Long's book.

MISCELLANEOUS BOOKS.

PONKAPOG PAPERS. By Thomas Bailey Aldrich. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Boston. (Price $1.00 net. For sale by Stoll & Thayer, Los Angeles.)

In this latest volume, Mr. Aldrich has collected a variety of matter—short notes, a number of short essays and a longer paper on Robert Herrick. The notes and essays are witty and delightful; polished and charming work that will bear much quotation. The lover of fine literary workmanship and especially the student of men as well as books, will not wish to miss this little volume.

Of a Humorous Turn.

TEA TABLE TALK. By Jerome K. Jerome. Dodd, Mead & Co., New York. (Price $1.50. For sale by C. C. Parker, Los Angeles.)

Of an entirely different character is Jerome K. Jerome's "Tea Table Talk." This is supposedly humorous matter, and it will undoubtedly please some tastes, as have other books of Mr. Jerome's; but its humor is of a crude sort, and where it attempts to be witty it is, for the most part, deadly dull. It consists of imaginary conversations in which a Minor Poet, a Woman of the World, a Girton Girl, a Philosopher (no symposium of the kind would be complete without a Philosopher, capitalized) and an Old Maid. The epigrams contained are of a drawing-room order, and need a circle of determined feminine admirers for their appreciation.

Talks to Young Men.

GETTING ONE'S BEARINGS. By Alexander McKenzie, D.D. Fleming H. Revell Company, Chicago. (Price $1.25 net. For sale by Fowler Bros., Los Angeles.)

This is a book not strictly religious, but rather practically ethical, a book of strong, serious, commonsense advice to college men—and young men in general. It is a book of deep religious purpose, at root, but of broad outlook, scholarly in tone, one of the best books of morals from a religious point of view that the year has produced.

Much for Little.

THE UNIT BOOKS. Howard Willford Bell. New York.

A New York publishing house has taken up a new way plan of publishing literary classics. The books are printed in broad-faced type on fairly good paper, bound in stiff green paper-linen, or in leather of the same shade, with gilt top, and sold at a comparatively low price, the cost, per volume depending on the thickness of the book—the number of "units" it contains. A book of one unit containg twenty-five pages and costs 1 cent in paper binding; a book of 250 pages costs 10 cents one of 400 pages 16 cents, and so on. The cloth cover costs 20 cents additional, the leather cover, with gilt top, 50 cents extra. The publishers promise that they will respect copyright laws, but will reprint standard works from all languages, in translation. By arrangement with authors, some copyright books will be included in the list, but, as is evident from the price, the greater number of volumes will be those works of famous authors on which the term of copyright has expired. The editions are certainly exceptionally cheap, and they are very good for the price—fairly good by absolute standard.

The pictures in the versified version of Æsop are of the striking outlines and strong contrasts of light and shade that attract children. The verse can hardly be as highly recommended, as it is poor even in rhythm—a feature in which the ear of childhood is more critical than in any other particular. "In Babyland," also in verse, illustrated in colors, is superior to the other book in every way. The poems are many of them pretty, their rhythm is for the most part good, and their subjects are not only such as please children, but also in a measure educative; some of them are nature lessons, and others help train the imagination and the power of observation. The illustrations, in color, are very good. The "Wee Folks' Alphabet" is a book of twenty-four pictures, half in colors, each accompanied by a line in large letters, the first word of which begins with a letter of the alphabet.

Full of Humor.

THE ADVENTURES OF DOROTHY. By Jocelyn Lewis. The Outlook Company, New York. (Price $1.50 net.)

Good sense has now relieved literature of the ultra-good little boy who died young—to the ultimate good of society and the relief of the reader—and has even begun to rebel against the prunes-and-prisms, ultra-good but most unnatural little girl who is always unselfish and never gets into serious mischief. A delightful new book tells of the humorius experiences of a child of quite another sort, during a eventful summer on a farm. Dorothy is not a naughty girl exactly—not a willfully naughty girl, but a bright, high-spirited, venturesome and curious child, who, in an entirely new environment, falls into a great deal of mischief. The book will amuse grown people, as well as children.

VERNMENT WANTS HAY. The t for corn is dull, with the prices y declining; Egyptian varieties weak as well as California and rn. Oats are easing off under a demand. Hay holds steady with ages reported. The government s the market for 4320 tons of oats 655 tons of hay; delivery at Coast ng points, bids to be opened De- er 21.—[San Francisco Commer- News.

ANGE UP NORTH. A northern Journal says: "The market has e considerable improvement dur- the past week. Pinks and Large ans are in specially good demand es are sharply advanced, while Reds Blackeyes are reported firm. Li- are holding steady, though not active."

RIED FRUITS. The Commercial s, San Francisco, says that the d fruit market is quiet.

ers have about completed their business and do not look for demand until after the first of ear; stocks are pretty well ed out of growers' hands. Prunes, the exception of small sizes, are d hard to dispose of, although s are not disposed to force them market; 90s to 110s are scarce demand, with holders firm.

PARAGUS RUST. According to American Grocer further advices California confirm previous re- atives to the deplorable con- of the asparagus beds. In the nte Valley the beds are ed with annihilation. On Island the condition keeps worse, and it now looks as if could save the old beds. Pos- new beds will resist the disease making such havoc with the rnia asparagus industry, but up time no remedy has been found the evil. The outlook is far from ging for a continued supply of asparagus at prices that will stimulate consumption.

RUIT IN ENGLAND. The s for an increased sale of Amer- fruit on this market in 1903 is ly promising, owing to the short of European fruit of all de- ions and the absolute failure of British fruit crop. Last season's ts (1902-03) of American and Ca- nadian apples into Liverpool were the largest since the year 1896-97, the total being 1,336,420 barrels and 74,691 boxes yet the imports so far during the present season which opened early in August, 1903, are 111,500 barrels, against 89,500 barrels for the same period last season. On the whole, the condition and quality of the fruit from the United States is satisfacory, but there were instances where the packing was very bad—in fact, some in the trade describe it as dishonest packing. Great satisfaction is expressed at the result of the action taken by the Canadian government to prevent fraudulent packing, for by it irresponsible shippers are prevented from operating.

The total import of apples into the United Kingdom for last season (1902-03) was 2,506,192 barrels, of which 1,970,719 barrels came from the United States and 637,474 barrels from Canada. Already large shipments of apples have come in from Canada. Canadian shippers have been quick to avail themselves of the failure of the fruit crop generally and particularly the apple crop, in England. A great many plums have arrived in England this summer from Germany, but there have been many complaints as to their quality.—[James Boyle, Consul, Liverpool, England.

STATE OF TRADE.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say that seasonable temperature and holiday purchases still helps trade, making results more satisfactory during the past week than at any recent date. Improvement was most conspicuous in heavy wearing apparel and kindred lines. Another encouraging feature was the resumption of work at the New York mills, although there is still much idle machinery, especially in the lighter and iron industries, in view of the numerous wage reductions, there is noteworthy harmony between employees and workers. Grain shipments increased with the approaching close of navigation on the lakes, and transcontinental traffic was subjected to the greatest pressure of the season. Railway earnings for three weeks of November ranged 5.2 per cent. larger than last year. It is at last possible to perceive real improvement in the demand for pig iron, due to the exhaustion of supplies by consumers, the extensive reduction in output and absence of further price concessions. Failures this week numbered 252 in the United States against 253 last week.

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say that continued cold weather has offered a needed stimulus to retail trade in all seasonable lines, but particularly clothing and wearing apparel, in wholesale trade, textures are the rather strongest tone of cotton goods, which are held more firmly by agents and a little better feeling in woolen goods. The agricultural interests and those interested in distributive trade seem at present to be having their innings, and appear well situated, whereas the manufacturing and industrial branches send forth nearly all of the unsatisfactory reports. The prosperity of the grain and food-producing populations, North and West, and of the cotton, lumber and naval stores interests at the South is, in fact, the chief basis for the conservative confidence in the general business outlook expressed by many observers. Although iron and steel production is limited and shutdowns are numerous, there is a rather better tone, particularly to crude iron, due to the growth of the feeling that prices are now grounding on the bottom. Lumber is quiet for domestic trade, but export demand is active. Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending November 26, aggregate 2,871,767 bushels, against 2,974,277 last week, and 4,179,635 this week last year. Corn exports for the week aggregate 1,520,947 bushels, against 1,281,425 last week and 255,174 a year ago. Business failures in the United States for the week (five days) ending with November 26, number 257, against 231 last week, and 192 in the like week of 1902.

NEW YORK MARKET.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—There was very little stirring in stocks today. The end-week remnant after the holiday offered small inducement to members to return to the Stock Exchange from their Thanksgiving outing before Monday, and there was a small attendance and languid trading in consequence. The changing fluctuations of prices showed the uncertain mood of the professional traders, whose business made up what was estimated at nine-tenths of the total. The market started off with a bullish demonstration in Southern Pacific, in continuation of the recent recovery in that stock. The announced opening of the Salt Lake cut-off of the road was made the occasion of conjectural estimates as to the increased net earnings to result. Union Pacific came into the movement with even greater effect, owing to the showing in its annual report of the heavy indebtedness to it of the subsidiary companies, on account of advances for betterment work. The movement was interrupted by the heavy selling of Pennsylvania and Reading, which was unexplained in the current news. The Erie stocks did not share in the weakness of Reading and Pennsylvania. Neither did Atchison share fully in the strength of the Pacifics, its extreme advance being limited to ¾, notwithstanding its showing of an increase in net earnings for October of $235,000, or rather more than half of the increase of $462,000 in the gross earnings. The mining industrials were decidedly irregular. Some of these, which suffered most early in the week were in closer demand in the late crowd, where they commanded a premium, while shorts bought to cover its recent contracts. The effect was especially notable in Locomotive Steel, Republic Steel preferred, on the other hand, was forced down an additional three points on renewed doubts over the maintenance of the preferred dividend. The stock more than recovered its loss at the close. The tone of strength developed in the whole market late in the day was due to the forecast of a favorable bank statement tomorrow. The usual comollers are agreed that the regular inter-currency movement has been in favor of New York to the extent of between one and two million dollars, while the subtreasury operations and the foreign gold reserves have contributed over $1,100,000. The quiet tone of the call-money market today indicates that the week's gain in cash, most of its having come early in the week, will figure in tomorrow's bank statement for the full effect of the weekly average. Sterling exchange developed some strength this morning, but broke sharply again and closed weak. Unsubstantiated rumors were current of additional gold engagements in London.

The report of grain exports for the week shows an increase of upwards of a million bushels of wheat and corn over last week. The bond market was dull and rather irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,782,000. United States bonds were unchanged on the last call.

FIRE CHIEF IS DEAD IN SAN BERNARDINO.

CHARLES E. HACKNEY A VICTIM OF BLOOD POISONING.

Supposed to be Recovering When Reports of Sudden Passing Come—Going Into Death Valley After a Supposed Golden Treasure.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 27.—Charles E. Hackney, chief of the city fire department, died this morning at the Marlborough Hospital after an illness of two weeks. Death was directly due to blood poisoning from an operation performed two weeks ago for appendicitis. His demise came as as a shock to the community, as it was supposed that he was on the road to recovery, reports emanating from the hospital the past four days having been of the most favorable nature. Last evening the patient began sinking, and becoming delerious, remained unconscious until the end. The funeral service will be held Sunday at the late residence, No. 624 Fourth street, the members of the fire department; civic bodies and lodges attending.

Mr. Hackney was born in San Luis Obispo thirty-two years ago. Fourteen years ago he was married to Miss May Berdew of Grapeland, this county, who with three children, two sons and a daughter, survive him. His youngest child is but five months of ago old. He was a member of the Native Sons, Foresters, and other organizations, and since June was head of the fire department, having been instramental in the adoption of many improvements in the service.

BERDOO DOINGS.

An amended complaint has been filed in the foreclosure suit brought by L. W. French, against the Golden Fruit Land and Water Company of Rialto to collect $15,533.23.

Henry Morse left this morning for Death Valley with several companions, expecting to develop a gold-bearing property he located last winter in Furnace Creek. The property is supposed to be very rich, though how extensive remains to be seen.

Kid Dewey, a negro prize fighter, was defendant in Justice Thomas's court this afternoon, charged by W. T. Leedom with cruelty to a horse. The case was dismissed, the offense not having been proven.

The Santa Fé baseball team was defeated by the Apex team of Los Angeles yesterday in Association Park, the score being 7 to 4.

COLTON.

"SOMETHING DOING" IN GAS.

COLTON, Nov. 27.—Work was today commenced on the new gas plant, and a large force will push the undertaking to completion. This enterprise means much for Colton in many ways. It is almost assured that another company will enter the field, thus resulting in a much lower rate. The company which is backing the plant now being built is composed of Redlands capitalists. They propose putting in an outfit which will have a capacity of 10,000 cubic feet, which is regarded as sufficient for three years' supply of the town, and they will lay four miles of pipe lineat once. Already the machinery is on the field and it is expected that the plant will be in operation in the course of a month or six weeks. The work will progress very rapidly, for the thoroughfares are all graded and in excellent shape for such operation.

The competition will come from San Bernardino, and when it does come, there will evidently be "something doing," both here and at the county seat, for the Redlands men say they will stand for no foolishness, and that if the other people enter the field they will at once start another plant at San Bernardino. The price of gas here, to start with, will be $2 per thousand, the same as the consumers at Redlands are paying, but the San Berdoo people are getting a rate of $1.75, and it is hinted that if they come here there will be a gas war, which will result in the patrons getting fuel and light at an unheard-of rate. Of course, the residents of this growing town hail the prospective fight with pleasure and they feel that it means much for future growth and development.

GUN CLUB COMPLAINS AGAINST FARMERS.

BOLSA CHICA TROUBLES TAKEN INTO THE COURTS.

Westminster Ranchmen Accused of Raiding the Preserves and Injunction Issued—Hope for Legal Termination of the Squabbles Long Carried on.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 27.—What promises to be a long and bitterly fought suit over the contested privileges in connection with the Bolsa Chica Gun Club's holdings in the peat lands district, has been commenced in the local courts by the filing of a lengthy complaint by the club against a number of prominent Westminster farmers for alleged trespass on the game preserves and for other alleged infringements of the rights of the club. The complaint is sworn to by Count Jaro Von Schmidt, president of the gun club, and specifically charges Will Burdick, W. W. Barton, John Blaylock, F. R. Hazard, Jeff Lewis, William Keeseman, Fred Mallett, Arthur Miller, Dennis McGirth, M. Miller, Charles Davis, John McMillan, Joseph Perkins, Frank Martin, Frank Ward, John Pope and a number of John Does with entering the premises of the club, threatening to shoot employés, shooting and frightening away ducks and other birds on the preserves, and threatening to burn and destroy the club buildings. On November 21 and 22, the complaint alleges, the farmers entered the grounds in force and after shooting ducks to their satisfaction, told the keepers that they would return again as soon as they wished. A temporary injunction has been issued by Judge West, in view of the further complaint lodged by the gun club attorneys that the ranchers were contemplating more raids in the immediate future.

The defendants retained F. O. Daniel of this city as attorney, and state that the action of the gun club in taking the matter to the courts is just what they wish in order to bring the whole dispute to a legal settlement. The contest is the outgrowth of a series of bickerings back and forth between farmers and club employés, and the hope is very generally expressed that this will terminate the dispute.

"Come all ye that are heavy laden"—put a "Liner" in The Times and the burden will be gone. Telephone your wants to Red 521 and our Santa Ana agency will take your ad. and send it to the main office.

ORANGE.

THREE MEN'S FALL.

ORANGE, Nov. 27.—L. D. Beard, C. H. Laylock and Lon Adams were thrown eighteen feet to the ground by the breaking of a scaffolding while painting the German Lutheran Church. All were severely bruised, Mr. Beard being injured so that he had to be removed to his home.

One hundred sacks of green peas and beans are shipped daily from local depots. Six cars of oranges were sent east this week.

Perkins Brothers, the rose growers, estimate that they will make shipments this year aggregating 250,000 plants.

ANAHEIM.

WATER RESOLUTIONS.

ANAHEIM, Nov. 27.—The directors of the Anaheim Union Water Company have adopted a resolution declaring that "By the refusal of Mrs. Bixby to permit the water of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company to be taken from the channel of the river, the proposed joint canal from the headgate down has become impracticable; in the opinion of this board the above fact should not prevent or delay joint action on the proposed extension to Scully's Point, and the acquirement of the Irvine riparian rights; and be it resolved the Litigation Committee is hereby instructed to at once definitely ascertain whether the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation Company will proceed with joint action in this matter."

The Anaheim Prohibition Alliance has arranged to give a course of five entertainments this winter. The first two will be given by Prof. and Mrs. A. A. Hopkins, the third will be a concert given by Mr. and Mrs. Horace Simmons of Riverside and Miss Gladys DeWitt of Los Angeles, the fourth will be an illustrated lecture by Howard Carleton Tripp.

August Baum has returned from a ten months' sojourn in Humboldt county.

Mrs. Maude Ryan of San Francisco is here to visit her mother a month.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P. M.]

BANNING, Nov. 27.—A man was found murdered about nine miles east of here this morning. He was about 37 years of age, 5 feet 10 inches in height, fair complexion. He was evidently killed with rocks on the Southern Pacific Railroad about daylight this morning, the body dragged 100 feet from the track and hidden behind bushes. There was nothing on the body by which to identify it, as it had been rifled of everything except a picture of a man and woman together.

RIVERSIDE.

LAST INTERSCHOLASTIC GAME.

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 27.—Tomorrow the Riverside and Pomona High School football teams will play the last game of the series scheduled by the interscholastic league on the grounds at Pomona. A special train will take over the local team and many interested spectators. For the past few years the contest for the championship in this league has narrowed down to these two teams, but each time Pomona has carried off the honors. Tomorrow the tide may change, for thus far this season the local club has made an exceptionally fine record. The scores of the games played have been: With San Bernardino, 6-0; Ontario, 11-0; Redlands, 6-6, and Ontario, 6-0, Riverside winning all but one, and tieing in that. If they win tomorrow, the recently-contested game with Redlands will be played over, and the indications are that the cup this year will come to the Riverside High School.

Long and short-felt wants, or any old wants promptly filled by putting a "Liner" in The Times. Rate 1 cent a word each insertion. Telephone your wants to Red 661 and our Riverside agency will take your ad. and send it to the main office.

Why Cleveland Didn't Go.

President Cleveland was subject to much criticism because he did not attend the funeral of Vice-President Hendricks. It was asserted by his critics that the President was jealous of his colleague and that he had been indifferent to Vice-President Hendricks to the point of almost discourtesy. The facts, however, were these: Neither the United States Senate nor the House of Representatives had yet organized; there was no president pro tem. of the Senate and no Speaker of the House; therefore, upon the death of the Vice-President, only the life of President Cleveland stood between the country and a dangerous interregnum without any executive authority in sight. It was feared that some crank might seek notoriety by assassinating the President at the Vice-President's funeral. President Cleveland was advised to stay away by some of the most eminent public men of the time and no doubt he acted wisely, disinterestedly and for the public welfare. It may be added that the situation thus presented so acutely was the immediate cause of the passage of the so-called act of Presidential succession, which provides in the event of the death of the President and Vice-President that the Presidency shall fall to the members of the Cabinet, thereby precluding any future possibility of an interregnum. The passage of such an act of legislation had been seriously discussed at the time of President Garfield's assassination, four years before; but it required a second serious danger to make Congress stop talking and act.—[Leslie's Weekly.

DR. O. C. JOSLEN. The Leading Specialist

LARGEST PRACTICE IN THE WEST

My practice has grown to its present proportions because I have positively cured the diseases that I claim to cure, and because I have exercised the utmost consideration and fairness in my dealings with patients.

WEAKNESS

Forms of treatment based upon mere supposition and not upon fact usually fail. Because doctors have supposed "weakness" a real lack of nervous energy, tonic systems of treatment, have failed. "Weakness" is merely a symptom of prostatic disorder, usually a chronically inflamed condition resulting from early dissipation or contracted diseases, and is curable by my method of local treatment, which cannot fail to restore the most vital center of the organic system to its normal state. I have treated thousands of cases with complete success, and am confident that by no other method can permanent cures be effected.

My pamphlet, "Live All Your Years a Man," mailed free. Consultation free at office or by mail.

DR. O. C. JOSLEN,

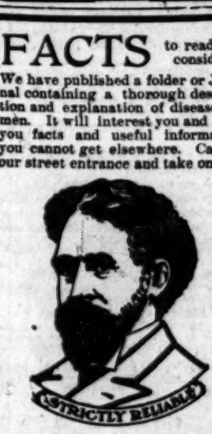
FACTS to read and consider.

We have published a folder or Journal containing a thorough description and explanation of diseases of men. It will interest you and give you facts and useful information you cannot get elsewhere. Call at our street entrance and take one.



The treatments Dr. Harrison & Co. give are so thorough that they have proven more uniformly effective than all other treatments. Their improved methods are far in advance of the usual routine methods, and the phenomenal success attending our treatments are satisfactory evidence and positive proof of their correctness.

Varicocele

In our daily talks to the people regarding this trouble we have stated plainly what we can do. We can put it in no stronger language. Any man suffering with varicocele can be convinced by calling on us that he can be cured. We show him positive proof by introducing him to many business men here in Los Angeles whom we have cured. Our treatment is painless, safe and sure. The cure permanent.

Weakness

This trouble—the bane of men of all ages—we cure. Our treatment is direct, effective, and the cure sure and lasting. We take pleasure in making clear to every man who calls for consultation the cause, the course and the outcome of his particular case. There is no charge for consultation.

Contracted Diseases and Blood Poison

These troubles are thoroughly understood by Dr. Harrison and his associates. For over 21 years they have successfully treated this class of troubles. Experience founded on a thorough medical education, has brought to them perfect methods by which they can positively promise a cure.

The Most Reliable Men's Specialist

You cannot afford to be unmanly, weak and debilitated when you can get positive strength, health and vigor from Dr. Gross. Not a Dollar Until Cured.

Dr Gross has such confidence in his ability that if he takes your case he is willing to wait for his pay until after you are cured.

Use Good Common Sense in the Selection of Your Physician.

While you would not go with your watch to a blacksmith, neither should you go with a complicated or special ailment to the general practitioner. We treat thousands of these cases each year while he treats but few, and the strongest argument we have that the general practitioner should not treat such cases is that when they themselves are afflicted with special or chronic ailments, they seek the aid of the specialist.

[NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.]

SPEED IN PASADENA A LEADING QUESTION.

MOVE TO REGULATE STREET CARS SAME AS AUTOS.

Many Chauffeurs Fined for Going Too Fast in Heart of Town and Persecution Alleged by Some — Police Are Supported.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 36 South Raymond Avenue, Nov. 28.—The question at issue in Pasadena today is street cars vs. automobiles. The controversy has been occasioned by the large number of arrests of owners of the latter for speeding their machines faster than the law allows within the city limits, and the result is that a movement is on foot for the framing of an ordinance regulating the speed of the street cars.

A. P. Worthington, manager of the Bell Station agency, took occasion yesterday to mildly roast the police department for what he asserted was persecution of the owners of automobiles. Worthington's chauffeur, Wilbur Schroder, was fined $15 for violation of the city ordinance relative to automobiles, and the proprietor sailed into the Bluecoats as follows: "You allow bicycles to ride at night without any light; an auto is more easily controlled than a horse, beyond a doubt, and I have not heard of your arresting any horsemen; you allow street cars to run in your city at the rate of twenty-five to thirty miles an hour, and seem to be taking particular spite at the owners of automobiles. In Cleveland, Baltimore and other cities I have resided in, the limit has never been less than twelve miles an hour, and in most places it is fifteen. The city machines can hardly be geared to such a rate of speed as eight miles an hour." Worthington is said to be voicing the sentiment of a good many automobilists in the city.

"All this howl is simply playing to the galleries," said Chief of Police Lukens last night. "The drivers of automobiles, to a man, in this city, clearly understand the situation. They know that within a reasonable distance from the center of the business district we are not going to jump them if they run their machines at a speed of twelve or fifteen miles an hour, but when they undertake to continue the same speed down in the heart of the city we are going to pull them in just as fast as they can be captured. No one has been arrested so far who was not going at least twenty miles an hour, and yet in some fellows will come in here saying that they were going only ten miles. Their assertions are useless, as we have held watches on all of them and know almost exactly at what speed they were going. Furthermore, they do not give warning at crossings, and if this portion of the ordinance is not observed by the drivers they will get jumped on for that. There is no persecution whatever. It is simply done in the interest of public safety, and because the ordinance is on hand and must be obeyed. I believe that we have accomplished our purpose in that there will be fewer violations in the future."

In answer to a question as to the speed of the cars, the Chief continued: "I believe that an ordinance should be framed which would cut down the speed of the cars. It is true that many of them go twenty-five miles an hour, and that there is great danger to citizens. The present ordinance does not cover the cars, but I understand that such an ordinance is considered."

Attorney Gaylord of the Pasadena Electric Company said: "The ordinance is all right and should be lived up to in the most near the center of the city. Further out, the speed of twelve or fifteen miles an hour will not endanger anybody if the driver attends to his business and I do not believe that the police officers are unreasonable about the matter.

"I believe that the ordinance is badly violated by many drivers, and I do not question but that all the arrests which have been made were justified," said Dr. M. Dobbins, who is an expert driver of the horseless carriage. "The ordinance could not very well be done away with, and I believe that its present provision is fair if officers use discretion in the matter of location. The outskirts of the city they should be lenient. But what I do believe is that the street cars should be made to run with a uniform speed with the rate allowed automobiles. The rate at which they run at present in many parts of the city will surely lead to trouble sooner or later. There is no excuse for the work on the part of the police in the case of automobiles."

Garnett Evans, president of the Automobile Club of Pasadena, emphatically declared that the ordinance is fair as it stands, if leniency is given by the police where it is reasonable that it should be given. Instead of driving automobilists away from the city if arrests are continued, as has been hinted by some, it will have the tendency to bring automobiles here, it is known that there is less danger of arrest here than other places, he claims.

PRODUCE AND BIRDS.

Perhaps the most thoroughly practical and interesting meeting ever held by the Farmers' Club was that yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Butterworth on South El Molino avenue. The attendance was large and the remarks pointed and instructive. "What crop raised on one piece of ground will produce the greatest financial result?" was the question discussed.

Many spoke on watermelons in the absence of her husband, who was unable to attend the meeting because of the presence of red spiders which is infesting the grove. This spider is causing much trouble in the southeast part of the city. It thrives best in warm weather, and the past few days have destroyed them out in large quantities. It attacks the stem of the orange and the fruit generally falls to the ground. Its ravages also damage the fruit the next year by making the trees fall off. Several farmers spoke at length away from the meeting on the subject of the work of this spider. Mrs. Hays stated that her husband had raised between 6000 and 7000 watermelons this year on about nine acres of land, from which he had realized about $600. Prices have been poor.

Mrs. McAdam claimed $300 as the profit of one acre of watermelons, but stated that his crop from door to door brought good prices. Joseph Thornburgh spoke about pumpkins and corn. The latter, he said, did not pay well this year, he asthused over the former, which will run ten to twenty-five tons per acre, and bring as high as $4 a ton. The small amount of care which the latter need is a point in their favor. Mr. Coolidge of the Board of Trade has a hobby, grapes. He has been experimenting with them for several years, and claims $300 an acre as the net income of certain varieties. Mr. Foster of Sierra Madre gave a glowing description of the shipping properties of Valencia oranges, stating that it was practically decided at a meeting that this fruit would bring the best profit. The Valencia is the latest orange of the season, and is shipped East as late as September, and commands a good price. W. Scott Way introduced a resolution advocating that the Farmers' Club take a stand against the poisoning of birds. A warm discussion followed, in which Way was opposed by Horticultural Inspector Day. The resolution was referred back to Way by an almost unanimous vote of those present, and the discussion turned to the more humorous subjects of cats and old maids.

SHOT FOR DINNER.

Twenty-eight men shot for their Thanksgiving dinner at the Pasadena Country Club Thursday and five of them went home with turkeys. This turkey shoot is an annual day of torture at the popular club of Pasadena society people, that is, it is torture for the poor birds. They are decorated with fine blue, red, white and other colored ribbons about their necks and are staked out with only about three feet of tether, within twenty-five yards of the range. All day long they stand there and here the guns go pop, pop. The result of the shoot was as follows: Dr. H. J. Macomber, first; Dr. E. R. Chadbourn, second; L. R. Macy, third; C. G. Guyer, fourth; H. T. Kendall and W. C. Burns, tie for the fifth bird.

SIDE TIPS.

No notices have been sent out announcing the meeting of the Americus Club for the annual election of officers. The members are directed to meet at the City Hall next Tuesday night at 7:45 sharp. The election will take place in the council chamber, after which the company will go to McCord's on West Colorado street for a supper. There will be short speeches.

A man narrowly escaped death at the Monrovia junction on the short line to Los Angeles yesterday afternoon by being knocked senseless by car No. 285, north bound. It is reported that he stepped off a south-bound Pasadena car and walked directly in front of the north-bound car. The motorman saved the man's life by stopping with a jolt that sent the passengers heading toward the front of the car. The injured man regained consciousness shortly and got on a Monrovia car.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Hertel have gone to San Francisco, having been suddenly called by the death of Louis Westerfield, who was Mrs. Hertel's father.

A woman who called at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Ingrahm on Hill avenue at a late hour Thursday night and asked for lodging was offered hospitality. The next morning it was discovered that she had left during the night with a gold watch belonging to Mrs. Ingrahm.

Mrs. Stephania Opid, 27 years old, wife of Louis Opid, a well-known musician, died yesterday morning at the family residence, No. 136 South Oakland avenue. She was a niece of Mme. Modjeska, who was visiting Pasadena on account of the sickness of Mrs. Opid. The funeral will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday at St. Andrews Church. Interment will be in Mountain View Cemetery.

K. G. Malcolmson has opened temporary quarters in rear of 537 South Orange Grove avenue, with good saddle horses and new saddlery. Mr. Malcolmson has secured the services of E. L. Hildebrand for the season.

MONROVIA, Nov. 27.—Alexander Mackenzie has purchased two lots, 106 feet frontage on Myrtle avenue, and 138 feet on Olive avenue, alongside the Pacific Electric Railway, for $4500. He has decided to build a block, to be made of brick, with a granite front. The building will be designed for a hotel, with stores on Myrtle and Olive avenues, and will cost $20,000. The corner is opposite where the Pacific Electric depot will be built, and is vacant, with the exception of the small cigar stand of W. A. Baxter. Mr. Mackenzie is a retired merchant from Glasgow, and is the owner of a valuable foothill orange ranch in Duarte. Mr. Mackenzie also this week purchased the corner immediately south of the one on which he will build.

FALLS FROM HIGH POLE.

This morning David Thomas fell from a high telephone pole at Myrtle and Orange avenues, and by a seeming miracle escaped death. The pole had been burned during the previous night's fire, and Thomas was cutting away the burned part with a drawing knife. The knife slipped, and the safety strap which held him to the pole was cut. Thomas fell backward, and would undoubtedly have struck on his head but for a group of wires below him. These broke his fall, and he alighted on the ground on his side. He was severely jarred and bruised.

LOSSES EXCEED INSURANCE.

The burning of the Badeau Block last night was a serious loss to the owner, as well as to the tenants, as in each case the insurance carried will not nearly cover the losses: Badeau's loss on building was $7500, insurance, $1500; Renaker, loss $2000 on furniture, insurance, $800; Case, loss $1000, insurance, $450; Frey, loss $200, no insurance; Juvinal Telephone Company, loss $500; Edison Electric Company, loss $100. The total loss was $11,300, besides the personal effects of a number of the lodgers in the building. Badeau contemplates building a two-story brick block on the property. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

Rev. T. N. Lord of Alhambra will exchange pulpits Sunday with Rev. A. L. Wadsworth.

SCHOOL THANKSGIVING.

SAN DIMAS, Nov. 27.—Special Thanksgiving services were held yesterday by the pupils of the San Dimas public schools, the pupils bringing contributions of good things which were presented to the Pomona Fruit and Flower Mission for them to distribute. The songs and recitations by the scholars were applauded, and the original poem of Edith Anderson, a twelve-year-old pupil, on "The Mission Girl," was highly commended.

CLAREMONT.

UNIQUE SERVICE.

CLAREMONT, Nov. 27.—Unique among the hamlets and cities of Southern California is the Thanksgiving custom of the Claremont Congregational Church's four "principal" speakers, each presenting some special sphere of blessings. Norton, the college; and Rev. Charles S. Rich, the personal.

GYMNASIUM FOR BOYS OF LONG BEACH.

GOOD PROJECT GOING THROUGH IN FINE SHAPE.

Building Begun, With Money Enough on Hand to Complete It, and Half Enough to Equip—Society and Other News.

LONG BEACH, Nov. 27.—Ground was broken this morning for the new gymnasium which generous citizens of Long Beach will build for the boys. It will be located immediately north of the Episcopal Church near Fifth street and Locust avenue. When Rev. Charles T. Murphy and those associated with him first began to organize the boys' brigade they had a gymnasium in mind, but so generous has been the response to their appeals that they have revised their original plans and are starting in on a building 40x80 feet in size. Already nearly money enough has been pledged to put up the building and about half enough for its equipment. They feel greatly pleased and encouraged over what has been done and are confident that all the money needed may be had for the asking. If nothing happens to prevent the boys will be in their new home by Christmas.

METROPOLITAN RECEPTION.

A reception was given yesterday afternoon by the officers and members of the Metropolitan Club to their lady friends. A large number responded to the invitations, and they were practically in charge of the affairs of the club from 2 to 10 p.m. Billiards and pool and whist were their favorite amusements and many developed rare skill at them. An informal musical programme was presented and delicious refreshments served. It proved to be a most happy supplement to the opening reception to the business men Monday night.

BAPTIST SOCIAL.

The largest and most enjoyable social ever held in the local Baptist Church was given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society last night. Special attention had been paid to the decorations, and the church was a veritable bower of flowers and evergreens. George E. Binson presided and under his direction the following programme was presented: Music, Baptist Sunday-school orchestra; vocal solo, Miss Alice Smale; piano solo, Miss Octavia Hingley; cornet solo, Miss Inez Dudley; banjo solo, Leo Smith; violins and piano, Anna, Margaret and Malcolm Lyon; selection, M. E. orchestra, and an address by Rev. Frank L. Norton. Cake, coffee and sociability closed out the evening.

SEASIDE RIPPLINGS.

A profitable meeting of the Ebell Club, civic section, was held at the "Colonial" Tuesday night. Interesting talks were given on "National Affairs as They Stand Today," "The Panama Question" and "The American League for Civic Improvement." A report was made showing the city officials to be in hearty sympathy with the purposes of the section. Arbor Day will be the topic for the next meeting, which will be with Mrs. Edward Kindall, No. 221 Fourth street, on the evening of December 8.

There will be two games on the local High School grounds tomorrow afternoon. The Pasadena High School football team will engage the home team early and there will be a baseball contest with Downey immediately after.

Rev. J. B. Holly has sold his launch Ivy to George F. Peters of Los Angeles. It will be retained in the local fleet.

Yesterday's game of basket ball at Ontario resulted in a victory for Long Beach, the score standing 17 to 8. At the end of the first half the score was 6 to 2 the other way, but Long Beach captured fifteen points in the second half and held their opponents down to 2. After the game the visitors were entertained to turkey dinner by the young people of the Ontario High School.

Mrs. R. J. King, Mrs. M. D. Edmonds and her two daughters, the Misses Ida and Lydia, all of Cambridge, Ill., are here to spend the winter.

STRIKE DIDN'T WORK.

Union Carpenters "Walk Out" on Contractor Kronnirk, But are Denied the Privilege of "Walking In" Again.

Fifteen union carpenters who might and should have been thankful two days ago for steady employment and top wages are today wondering if unionism is to be enumerated among their seasonable blessings.

These men were in the employ of Contractor B. D. Kronnick in the construction of a building at No. 314 West First street. From the laying of the foundation, to the present—and the building is nearly completed—Mr. Kronnick has been subjected to continual annoyance from his union gang. The immediate cause of trouble was a workman who, in union parlance, is designated as the steward of the crew. His especial care is to watch over his union brethren and see that they do not overwork, or push the job too rapidly. To him is given the duty of determining just how many joints shall be made, the number of nails to be driven in a specified time, and to punish or warn the offender making a spurt with a record in view.

Early in the week this "steward" became so offensive in his conduct that Mr. Kronnick felt forced to dismiss him or sacrifice self-respect. So the "steward" was let out. But Mr. Kronnick had neglected to consult the carpenters' union and when his action was reported there was a howl for his scalp. The temerity exhibited in discharging a union employé without securing the permission of the union called for prompt retaliatory action. Consequently the entire union gang was "called out" and Mr. Kronnick was left without a carpenter.

For months Contractor Kronnick has endeavored to harmonize with union employés, in the hope of avoiding trouble, but this walk-out, based upon the exercise of an employers' privilege was the last straw. With thanksgiving he saw them depart, and in twenty-four hours he had every man replaced by non-union workmen, at the same wages.

Yesterday morning the gang that had deserted on "principle," so called, were hanging about the scene of their former employment, and their faces expressed surprise and chagrin.

Only Guaranteed Catarrh Cure

Hyomei Costs You Nothing If It Fails Says Dean's Drug Store.

Among the many medicines upon the market that claim to cure catarrh, none but Hyomei has enough faith in its own merit to be willing to refund the money if it does not cure.

This remarkable remedy for catarrh kills the microbes and the germs of the disease and from its introduction has been sold under a positive guarantee to return the money to all dissatisfied customers.

Dean's Drug Store have sold a great many Hyomei outfits in the last few years, and they stand ready today to refund the price to any one who has not been helped by Hyomei.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs $1 and comprises an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei and a dropper. The inhaler will last a lifetime; and additional bottles of Hyomei can be obtained for 50c.

Breathe Hyomei for a few minutes four times a day, and your catarrh will grow better from the first day's use, and will be completely cured in a short time.

Will It Ever Stop?

Will the never-ceasing aches of the back ever stop? Many a sufferer mentally asks this question after vain efforts to find relief and cure for backache. There is a cure, but you can't expect to find it unless you know the cause of "that bad back." Most backache pains come from the kidneys, and the seat of the trouble must be attacked. Plasters, liniments and lotions may relieve the ache, but will not cure, as they fail to reach the cause—the kidneys.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Cure bad back and every kidney ill—rheumatic pains, sleeplessness, nervous conditions, diabetes, dropsy, gravel and all complaints of the kidneys and bladder down to that dread destroyer, Bright's disease. A safe and sure remedy, indorsed by friends and neighbors.
